The right-first-time antibiotic for Urinary Tract Infections

Penbritin is right because it is active against the three principal urinary pathogens – E. coli., Proteus mirabilis and Strep. faecalis. This contrasts with the antibacterials and sulphonamides. Penbritin also minimises the risk of relapse, since it destroys bacteria rather than merely inhibiting them.

Penbritin is right because its safety is well proven. Penbritin can be confidently prescribed where safety must be a prime consideration – in pregnancy, women of child-bearing age, and patients with impaired renal function. This contrasts with the trimethoprim/sulphamethoxazole combinations.

The wide range of presentations – capsules, tablets, syrups, and injectables enables you to prescribe Penbritin in the right form for any patient. Following the recent price reduction the average daily cost of treating a urinary tract infection with Penbritin is just 18p.

Penbritin is right because it is clinically proven. Seventy-three papers reporting 1,200 patients, show overall success rates of 82% in acute and 65% in chronic infections. These figures confirm Penbritin as the right-first-time antibiotic.

Adult dosage: 500 mg t.d.s. ½ – 1 hour a.c.
Contra-indications: Penicillin hypersensitivity
Side-effects: as with other penicillins

Road Accidents and the Family Doctor

Road accidents are now acknowledged to be one of the major epidemics of our time. It has been estimated that many accident deaths could be saved by skilled treatment at the site of the accident, and recently doctors in Britain and abroad have been playing an increasingly active part in this. This booklet, which reprints a series of articles which appeared in the B.M.J., contains contributions on organization and medical equipment, the management of soft-tissue injuries, resuscitation, fractures of the spine, and extrication of persons trapped in a vehicle. The introduction is written by Mr. Norman Capener, Chairman of the Medical Commission on Accident Prevention.

ANTIBIOTICS AND THE INTESTINAL FLORA

Treatment with broad spectrum antibiotics suppresses the normal flora, which may be replaced by abnormal resistant organisms causing diarrhoea.

This change can be prevented or reversed by the implantation of Lactobacillus acidophilus which has been rendered antibiotic-resistant, and is thus able to multiply freely under these abnormal conditions. The products of growth of the organism are inimical to that of many other bacteria[1 2] and thus contribute to its rapid preponderance over other species.

Oral treatment with antibiotic-resistant L. acidophilus in the form of ENPAC has been shown to eliminate Candida from the faeces of infants with antibiotic-induced diarrhoea, with relief of symptoms succeeded by rapid gain in weight[3 4] and greatly to reduce the numbers of staphylococci in the faeces of patients treated with tetracyclines.[5]

a significant improvement in antidepressant therapy

Amitriptyline is one of the most widely-prescribed of all psychotropic agents. But like any drug, it works properly only when taken as prescribed. And published work[1] clearly shows that as many as 48% of outpatients default in taking tranquillisers and antidepressants. Even among inpatients, some 19% default in this way[2]. A recent study reported in the Practitioner[3], indicates that a once-daily dosage regimen is less likely to be abused.

Lentizol: simplifying dosage to reduce patient default

Lentizol is a sustained-release form of amitriptyline designed to be taken once daily, at bedtime. Thus Lentizol offers a new simplicity of dosage to reduce patient default. Instead of having the trouble – and possible embarrassment – of taking three doses during each day, the patient simply takes one dose at bedtime.

Often lessens the incidence of daytime drowsiness

Lentizol has a sedative effect within a short time after the daily dose is taken. This can be very helpful to those depressed patients who have difficulty in getting off to sleep. Its sleep-enhancing effect is spread over the early hours of the morning, too, so that Lentizol also benefits patients whose condition causes early-morning waking. By daytime, Lentizol will continue to provide symptom relief until the next daily dose is taken, with less risk of drowsiness.

No increase in treatment cost

One Lentizol 50 mg. capsule at bedtime will replace treatment by one 25 mg. amitriptyline tablet t.d.s. This means that the daily cost of Lentizol is equivalent to the daily cost of standard amitriptyline.

Clinical assessment in progress

Clinical appraisals of Lentizol are being carried out by a number of investigators throughout the United Kingdom. Early results[4] indicate that Lentizol produces an improvement in patients who would be expected to respond to amitriptyline. Lentizol is widely preferred because of the simple, convenient dosage regimen. Also some workers have found it possible to discontinue night-time sedatives.

Lentizol is supplied as capsules of 50 mg. and 25 mg. amitriptyline in a sustained release formulation, each strength in packs of 50 and 250. Further information is available on request.

PRACTICAL PSYCHIATRY

from the British Medical Journal

Most doctors who have been qualified for more than ten years received very little training in psychiatry as medical students. Yet psychiatric problems confront all those practising clinical medicine. The articles collected together in this book were written for the B.M.J. to give practical advice to general practitioners and others on how to recognize and cope with the more common forms of mental disorder. Many patients are anxious or depressed; when should the doctor try to do something about it? This is the sort of question the authors set out to answer. As far as possible they have avoided the use of psychiatric jargon, and case histories have been used freely to illustrate the points made. Any doctor who feels ignorant about psychological medicine will find here a readable introduction to the practical aspects of clinical psychiatry.

Found effective in 90% of patients

In recent G.P. studies, Integrin was found effective in 9 out of 10 cases. In a double-blind comparison Integrin gave relief to 9% more patients than did chlordiazepoxide.

Gives more profound relief from anxiety

Seventy eight patients, most of whom were already on tranquillo-sedatives, were switched to Integrin. Their average anxiety-rating dropped to less than a third of its previous level!
In another trial Integrin gave complete, as opposed to partial, relief of anxiety to 35% of patients; chlordiazepoxide to only 20%.

Lifts any depressive overlay

In contrast to the tranquillo-sedatives, Integrin actually enhances mood and restores a normal sense of well-being.

Clinical trials report that up to 90% of patients obtain relief from anxiety within the first week of treatment.

Angina Pectoris. There's no need to give up.

There is a stage in the development of angina when the patient is suffering more and more attacks and is consuming an ever increasing amount of trinitrin.

But there is still no need for the patient – or his doctor – to give up.

It is in just this situation that 'Inderal' can be so helpful.

'Inderal' gives the heart continuous protection against the effects of physical or emotional stress.

Because the heart has less unproductive work to perform, it needs less oxygen.

The balance between myocardial oxygen demand and the supply from diseased coronary arteries becomes more favourable.

Attacks are fewer, capacity for exercise is substantially improved and lost confidence is regained.

Even in severe angina there is no need to give up.

There is irrefutable evidence from 21 double-blind trials to show that 'Inderal' helps make life worth living again.

Detailed information, available on request, should be consulted before prescribing.

Day after day of freedom from asthmatic attack

The unique mode of action of disodium cromoglycate offers the asthmatic patient outstanding benefits. A prophylactic treatment, it prevents the onset of asthmatic episodes – thus minimising long-term damage to lung tissue. Freedom from asthma attacks permits a happier, more normal life for the asthmatic patient.

Published clinical reports confirm that with INTAL COMPOUND, the incidence and severity of acute attacks is considerably reduced – even in patients on conventional therapy such as bronchodilators, antihistamines and corticosteroids. Less time is lost from work or school, exercise tolerance is improved and a consistent clinical comment on disodium cromoglycate has been the total absence of serious side effects.

INTAL COMPOUND – supplied in SPINCAPS (each containing 20 mg disodium cromoglycate, and 0·1 mg Isoprenaline Sulphate BP in powder form, together with an inert carrier). For use in a special insufflator – SPINHALER.

If the patient who has started on new therapy is to co-operate fully, maintain his composure and increase his confidence, early effective control of blood pressure must also be accompanied by the lowest possible risk of distressing side-effects. Because ESBATAL* meets these criteria it is of special value for the new hypertensive patient and also for those patients who are uncomfortable or uncontrolled on other therapy. Individual dosage is rapidly and reliably achieved, and dose response is soon predictable in a particular patient. JOINT APPOINTMENT BY UNIVERSITY OF LIVERPOOL AND EXECUTIVE COUNCIL FOR THE COUNTY PSLATINE OF CHESTER

Applications are invited from experienced general medical practitioners to be the first doctor to be appointed to a new Health Centre situation in Runcorn New Town.

The successful applicant will be appointed to the staff of the Faculty of Medicine at Liverpool University, as Senior Lecturer and Director of Studies in General Practice and the appointment will be subject to the normal review after the third year. The initial minimum time commitment to the Faculty is two half days per week, which arrangement will allow concentration on the task of building up a Health Centre group of doctors to provide general medical services for the residents and to form a University Teaching Practice responsible for the organisation of under-graduate teaching in general practice and advising the Faculty on matters relating to Postgraduate General Practice training.

The Health Centre will be near the centre of the New Town and adjacent to a new District General Hospital, the first phase of which will be completed in 1974. In addition there will be peripheral groups in Health Centres, one of which is nearing completion and will be in use by the Autumn of this year.

The rate of growth of the population to be served by the Centre to which this notice refers is estimated to be 5,500 by March, 1973 rising steadily to 14,000 by March, 1976 with a final population of about 20,000. Remuneration initially will be assessed by the Executive Council and the University on the Type D Initial Practice Allowance which, subject to certain conditions, guarantees the successful applicant an amount not less favourable than his previous year's net professional remuneration subject to a maximum of £5,290 per annum.

Applicants should have been qualified for about ten years and have had at least five years experience in general practice based on a sound hospital background. Enthusiasm for a project which is breaking new ground in the area and the ability to attract others to work with them in building up a Centre which will express the concern of the University in general practice is particularly sought. The successful applicant will be required to take up his duties not later than 1st January, 1972 and the closing date for the receipt of applications is 24th July, 1971.

Application forms and further details of the area of Runcorn, the University appointment and Executive Council requirements may be obtained from the undersigned. Frederick Hayter, Clerk of the Executive Council, 28 Nicholas Street, Chester. (H5853) 3

"All the coal-cellar stairs in one go— for the first time in 5 years"

A simple achievement. Yet a tremendous one for the angina patient. Because without Trasicor he could only manage five stairs before pain stopped him.

Trasicor gives the angina patient a new lease of life. Protects his heart from the effects of excessive sympathetic stimulation due to physical and emotional stress.

But Trasicor does more than just relieve anginal pain. It exerts a continual beneficial action on the heart, even at rest, producing a fundamental improvement in the heart's efficiency. Moreover, because Trasicor is less likely to provoke heart failure than previous beta-blockers it can be used earlier and more widely in angina.

Tablets
40mg (for angina)
20mg (for arrhythmias)
in 100's and 500's.
Also ampoules 2mg.

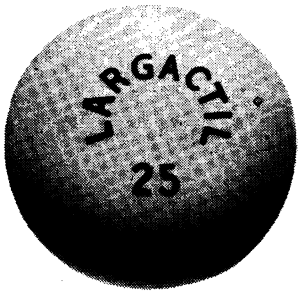
A name to conjure with.

'Largactil' has been a name to conjure with in psychiatric medicine for over sixteen years. An influence of such magnitude and long duration can be explained by examining this legendary name.

'Largactil' was so named because of its LARGe variety of ACTIons; apart from being the first major tranquillizer, it acts in two other pharmacologically distinct ways – as a potentiator of central nervous depressants, including analgesics, narcotics and sedatives, and as an anti-emetic.

'Largactil' has achieved success in the fields of psychiatry, general medicine and anaesthetics in an ever-widening range of indications. These include major and minor psychoses; as an adjuvant to E.C.T.; drug withdrawal; senile dementia; the control of terminal pain and nausea and vomiting.



Alone, or as an adjuvant – are you making FULL use of 'Largactil'?
