

Ear, Nose and Throat Infections

Prescribe Penbritin with Confidence for infections in children

Confidence is born of experience. And experience with Penbritin in the treatment of ear, nose and throat infections has established an outstanding record of safety and effectiveness.

Penbritin gives you broader cover than penicillin V—yet retains all the benefits of penicillin safety.

And Penbritin has none of the tooth-staining problems associated with the use of tetracyclines in young children.

Women doctors following general

It may surprise you to learn the Army wants women doctors.

But when you think about it, why shouldn't they?

The ability to heal depends on a person's skills, not on whether they're male or female.

But why should a woman doctor want the Army?

To start with, it's a way of life that's different from ordinary general practice.

The role of an Army doctor is a demanding and varied one.

You've the choice of studying and working in specialist areas, engaging yourself in research or continuing in general practice in none too general surroundings.

Whichever one you choose you'll be working closely alongside medical professionals in a way rarely found elsewhere.

Another of the Army's attractions is that you'll have equal footing with men in a man's world.

On top of your responsibilities as a doctor, you'll have to shoulder those of an officer.

When you join you'll have the rank of Captain.

If you've already a few years of medical practice behind you, you'll step into the Army as a Major.

Then there's the money. Even if you've only recently qualified we'd start you off at around £4,000 a year.

Naturally, for those already in general practice it's considerably more.

And when your Short Service Commission ends you get a handsome gratuity.

For three years service it's £1,500, for five it's £3,000. And it's tax free.

In addition you'll have a comradeship that's second to none.

And think of the opportunities for travel.

We've listed some here to give you an idea of where you may get to as a doctor in the Army.

Hong Kong.

You'll be working and living on the island or on the mainland. Your job will be helping to staff clinics for British and Gurkha troops and their families stationed here.

You have full back up of the British Military Hospital and all their specialists.

The hospital may be the farthest from home but it is one of our largest units.

It's fully staffed with Senior House Officers, Registrars, Senior Registrars and Consultants.

In all, 22 doctors and 118 nurses.

If you should feel a little homesick this far away, you have 6 weeks holiday each year to look forward to.

If you're not homesick, explore Bangkok, Malaysia, Japan or Macao.

They're right on your doorstep.

W.Germany.

Here you could be stationed anywhere from the Dutch border to the East German one, and from near Hamburg in the north to the Eifel mountains in the south.

You'll be working in small family group practices dotted throughout the area.

They all work with close support from one of the four British Military Hospitals in Iserlohn, Munster, Hannover and Rinteln.

While you're serving with the Army there's a fair chance you'll specialise.

About 40% of our regular officers do, and naturally if you become a regular officer, you'll have the same opportunities.

The range of subjects open to you in Germany is as wide as it is in this country.

However, you may prefer to join in some research that's under way.

At the moment it's the problem of prematurity and neo-natal mortality that's under investigation.

There's plenty to fill your free time too.

Besides every facility for sport and recreation, there's all N. Europe and the beautiful Rhine Valley to discover.

And some of the best mountains for skiing are only a drive away.

Singapore.

A favourite posting.

If you've ever seen the beaches you'll know why.

Besides picking up a sun tan, Singapore is just the spot to come across tropical diseases.

But what you learn in your initial 14 week Medical Officers course in London, will stand you in good stead.

You'll be working in small family medical centres mainly in residential areas.

are required for the practices.

You'll be attached to, and helping to look after, the joint ANZUK force that's stationed here, so chances are you'll make a lot of Commonwealth friends.

Nepal.

If you've taken a specialist's course you could well find yourself in Nepal.

Here, we've vacancies in anaesthetics, obstetrics, medicine and surgery.

The hospital you'd be based at is the British Military Hospital at Dharan, in the foothills of the Himalayas.

You'll be caring mainly for the Gurkhas and their families.

But as the British Military Hospital is the only one in East Nepal, you'll be helping to care for the Gaijers as well.

Be warned, it could be quite a task.

You'll be expected to deal with everything from leprosy and smallpox to bear bites and cut fingers.

Berlin.

In Berlin we've got a large medical practice to look after 3 battalions of infantrymen and their families.

This is not always quite so easy as it sounds.

You will be dealing with wives and children who are away from both their homes and the usual protective comfort of family ties.

As you'll realise, the job calls for tact and care, especially in psychiatric areas.

However, you're not expected to tackle the job entirely on your own.

Once again you're backed up by a modern and well equipped British Military Hospital.

In this case it's staffed by 6 doctors and 34 nurses. That's large enough to provide for every eventuality, but small enough for you to know everyone personally.

Cyprus.

It's known as "The Scented Isle" for its sweet smelling pines, its mimosa and flowering jasmins.

And as few countries can boast more sun, you can imagine it's another popular posting.

Here, you could be working in either a general practice or the hospital itself.

With only 10 doctors and 57 nurses the hospital at Dhekelia is on a smaller scale than say our German ones.

There's still a chance to specialise though. And the opportunity to study for further qualifications.

Although with so much water skiing, skin-diving and museums full of Byzantine art, you might be hard pressed to find the time for study.

United Kingdom.

There are plenty of opportunities to see this country too.

The Army's spread the length and breadth of it. And you might be serving anywhere from the centre of London to Edinburgh.

Or, if you're a specialist, you could be working in the military wing at the civilian hospital in Belfast.

The advantage of working in this country however, is it's the best place for specialisation and post-graduate training.

A Short Service Commission Officer can take the Diploma in Obstetrics whilst Regular Commission Officers can obtain their membership of the Royal College of General Practitioners and the Diploma of Child Health.

We've tried to give you some idea of the kind of life you could lead in the Army.

Obviously, chatting to a doctor already serving with the Army would give you a much better impression.

This can easily be arranged by writing to Colonel A.R. Worthington, MB, MFCM, DTM&H, RAMC.

He'll organise a visit to an Army medical establishment and let you have more details about the opportunities the Army offers doctors.

His address is Ministry of Defence (AMD2), Department WD4, Lansdowne House, Berkeley Square, London W1X 6AA.

A letter to him could change your whole way of life.

A MULTI-PURPOSE DIURETIC

that helps to conserve the body's natural potassium

'Moduretic' owes its versatility to the complementary actions of its active constituents:
 Hydrochlorothiazide—the well-established thiazide diuretic.
 Amiloride hydrochloride—a potassium-conserving agent.

Besides moderating the kaliuretic effect of hydrochlorothiazide, amiloride has an additive diuretic effect; the results of some studies reflect a synergistic effect on sodium excretion.

Nobrium is the most recent product of the vast Roche international research programme into anxiety. It has a precise action which curbs anxiety at the source—the amygdala in the limbic system of the brain. ¹ Nobrium also damps the transmission of anxiety into the body by its action on the hypothalamus. As other brain structures are virtually unaffected, ¹ the incidence of side-effects is remarkably low.

This precise action is highly effective in anxiety and the many conditions caused by or associated with it. In clinical trials Nobrium has consistently produced success rates of between 80 and 90% in a wide range of conditions including psychosomatic disorders of the gut, heart or lungs; organic disease complicated by anxiety; phobias; menopausal syndrome; and alcoholism.

But what about the late-onset patient – the patient who wakes up in the early hours wheezing?

Can Intal help her?

Clinical studies^{1,2} show that a surprisingly high proportion of patients over 40 also benefit from Intal, even where there is no clearly defined allergic component.

The Medical Examination of (Sub-normal Children) Regulations, 1959

The course consists of 10 blocks of four days duration commencing in October, 1973 until 28th June, 1974. It will cover normal and abnormal child development, child psychology and psychiatry, sub-normality, and handicapping conditions.

The course is recognized by the Department of Education and Science to provide doctors with the necessary qualification to examine educationally sub-normal children.

The number that can be accepted for the course is limited. Application forms and further details obtainable from Professor O. P. Gray, Department of Child Health, Welsh National School of Medicine, Heath Park, Cardiff. (26844) 4

THE UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS DEPARTMENTS OF PAEDIATRICS AND CHILD HEALTH AND PREVENTIVE MEDICINE

COURSE ON DEVELOPMENTAL PAEDIATRICS

It is proposed to hold a further course for the academic year 1973/74 in association with the personnel of the Health Departments of the City of Leeds and the West Riding County Council.

The course will consist of three terms, commencing on 1st October, 1973. The first two terms begin with a full week's introduction to the main theme for the term followed by one day per week on Wednesdays at the postgraduate centre at Seacroft Hospital, Leeds. The final term is on a day per week basis except for the last week when a written and clinical examination will take place together with the presentation of a dissertation. Successful candidates will be awarded an appropriate certificate.

The first week, 1st-5th October, 1973, is a self-contained introductory course to Developmental Paediatrics, including demonstrations of practical tests. Applications are invited for attendance for this week only. Fee £20.

The outline of the syllabus is as follows:—

Term I: Developmental Paediatrics.

Term II: The Child with Physical Handicaps.

Term III: The Child with Emotional and Educational Problems.

The course is recognized by the Department of Education and Science for the purpose of the Medical Examinations (Subnormal Children) Regulations 1959 and provides valuable in-service training for medical officers wishing to remain in the clinical field of community child health.

Whole course fee: £150.

Further particulars may be obtained from Professor R. W. Smithells, Department of Paediatrics and Child Health, 27 Blundell Street, Leeds LS1 3ET. (26861) 4

GENERAL PRACTICE TRAINING POSTS

THE MIDDLESEX HOSPITAL London, W.1 and Chase Farm Hospital Enfield, Middlesex

VOCATIONAL TRAINING SCHEME FOR GENERAL PRACTICE

Applications are invited for a 3 year appointment (S.H.O.) grade in a new Vocational Training Scheme for General Practice commencing September, 1973. The programme will include an initial month and the final year in an approved training practice in the Enfield area. The first year of the hospital programme will be spent at Chase Farm Hospital, Enfield, to include 6 months in general medicine and 6 months in either accident and emergency, obstetrics and gynaecology or paediatrics. The second year will be at the Middlesex Hospital, London, W.1, and will include dermatology, geriatrics, psychiatry, E.N.T. and ophthalmology. Throughout the three year course a half-day release scheme will operate to enable trainees to attend courses of lectures in General Practice. Married and single accommodation will be available, and the successful applicant will be required to be resident when on duty. It is anticipated that the scheme will shortly be approved by the Royal College of General Practitioners. Applications, together with copies of two recent testimonials, should be sent to the Hospital Secretary at Chase Farm Hospital, Enfield, as soon as possible. Please quote reference 'M'. (53972) 22

B.M.A. DEPUTISING SERVICES

Applications are invited from Doctors interested in becoming Full-time or Part-time Deputies in the Blackpool area. Full-time or Part-time positions are offered on either a short or long term basis and subject to a suitable probationary period. Successful applicants will have security, both financially and in terms of tenure. The pay structure is complex and takes into account the area, the efficiency of the Deputy and the nature of the hours he works. The average full-time Deputy at the present time earns well over £4,500 per annum. Deputies who opt to work less hours than this are paid on a pro rata basis.

Applications to be sent to:

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL VOCATIONAL TRAINING FOR GENERAL PRACTICE

Applications are invited for a three year traineeship in Vocational Training for General Practice, consisting of two years hospital and elective training and one year traineeship in and approved practice.

After a short period of orientation of not more than three months in the training practice, trainees will start hospital appointments at Senior House Officer level in a Bristol hospital: six months each in Medicine and Obstetrics with Gynaecology are offered, followed by two three-month periods in Paediatrics and Geriatrics. The remaining one month period in hospital will be partly or wholly elective, when opportunities will be given to gain experience in special hospital, and other, departments. The trainees will complete the year in practice before or after this elective period. There will be a half-day release course during University term time throughout the three years, which will contain a special extended course in Psychiatry.

The period of orientation should start in December 1973 and the first hospital appointments will start on 1st February, 1974. Applications from suitably qualified practitioners should give details of previous experience, the names and addresses of two referees, and quote a date when they would anticipate being able to start the preliminary orientation period in practice. Applications should be sent before 31st August, 1973.

It may be possible also to assist practitioners wishing to complete requirements for vocational training, who have already fulfilled the necessary criteria. The course is recognized for the Vocational Training Allowance and by the R.C.G.P. for their membership examination.

Applications and requests for further information should be sent to: The Adviser in General Practice, Medical Postgraduate Department, 21 Woodland Road, Bristol BS8 1TE. (26836) 22

Recognized F.R.C.S.

SENIOR HOUSE OFFICER

required for either immediately or within a reasonable period. Resident or non-resident. The Department is in the charge of a full-time Consultant Surgeon, has five Senior House Officers and all emergency cases are admitted through the Department which is responsible for initial resuscitation. The Department is equipped with apparatus for cardiac monitoring, positive pressure ventilation, as well as x-ray intensifiers and a Berman F. B. Locator.

The hospital is the base hospital for the Group and therefore has a large volume of acute cases in all specialties. It is being extensively redeveloped by a major capital building programme. An intensive care unit is situated at the hospital.

There is a close connection with the teaching hospital at Cardiff, 10 miles to the west and there is an extensive postgraduate education programme with a very good library. A postgraduate Centre is situated at the hospital. The appointment gives ample opportunity to the holder to avail himself of these facilities.

The successful candidate will be expected to be resident on the nights on which he is on first call, which will on average be one night in five.

SERVICES

Are you in your pre-registration year? -or recently fully registered?

Before you commit yourself to your permanent pattern of life, consider what the RAF has to offer

The chance to practise total medical care, as a GP

Your first job would probably be a Junior Medical Officer on a large RAF Station. There would be at least one other doctor. Between you, you would have a 'list' of 2000 to 3000 people - servicemen and their families. You would meet all the usual clinical problems of a GP - and get plenty of experience in paediatrics. As well as this, you would be actively involved in the practice of aviation medicine and gain experience in the preventive, occupational and social fields.

Conditions of work are extremely good. You would have a consulting room in a specially built Medical Centre - like a small hospital with its own treatment room, theatre and resuscitation room, and wards for a dozen or so short-stay patients. There is a full secretarial and nursing staff. Your clinical freedom would be absolute.

The chance to specialise, too

Because General Practice is so highly developed in the RAF this does not mean you have no chance to specialise. The contrary is true. 47% of all RAF doctors are now working in specialist departments. On a 'full career' contract you have every opportunity to reach consultant status in your late or middle thirties; perhaps earlier.

The chance to study for higher qualifications

Any RAF doctor, whether specialist or GP (as long as he is not on the very shortest of contracts) can apply for six months study leave on full salary. On a permanent commission, he may have up to two years' external study leave.

The chance to travel

The RAF operates in many different conditions and climates. Abroad, the RAF doctor looks after RAF personnel and their families and, very often, the local population as well. Your gain in clinical experience would be marked.

The chance of a good social and family life

The RAF is a young community, with a full and active social life. There are facilities for almost every kind of sport and, which is most important, the time to enjoy your family while you are still a young man. Living conditions are excellent. If you are single you live in the Officers' Mess, which has all the amenities of a good hotel. If you are married, you will nearly always have a furnished house that goes with the job; rent for this is very modest, and it can save a large financial outlay at the beginning of your career.

A realistic pay scale

Pay is based on the average earnings of a civilian GP. Immediately after full registration, the present basic salary is £3942; after 5 years it rises to £4767; after 13 years to £5898. There are various other allowances; for instance, with children at boarding school the figures are £363 (net) for one child, £795 (net) for two children, £1314 (net) for three children. There are tax-free gratuities of £1500 after 3 years, or £3000 after 5 years. After service of 16 years or more there is a pension, payable for life, and a generous terminal grant.

For full information please write, giving your age, nationality, and date of full registration, to Group Captain D. G. M. Hills, OBE, MB, BS, DPM, RAF, Ministry of Defence, 1-6 Tavistock Square (724 KS2), London, WC1H 9NL. Or visit your nearest RAF Careers Information Office.

Below, a Senior RAF Medical Officer, at a flying Station in Germany. From time to time he flies as a passenger in combat aircraft, to gain experience of his patients' working environments. Basically, his job is to run a 4-doctor partnership covering two health centres with a total list of 6,000 patients. As well as the usual GP functions he has important responsibilities in environmental health and public health; and among his other preoccupations is the local operation of the RAF's aeromedical evacuation service for Germany, and the establishment of an aeromedical training centre. His own Station is a base for Harrier 'jump-jets', which must be ready to disperse at short notice into small, concealed groups. This doctor has been much concerned with the medical implications of this, and has set up a Mobile Field Medical Centre, with specially equipped cross-country ambulances.

GENERAL PRACTICE and leisurely living are still possible. In Hobart, Tasmania, a general practice, established over 25 years, is for sale or for lease (with option of purchase after one or two years). This practice has been conducted as husband and wife partnership at a pedestrian pace (no Saturday or Sunday surgeries) with G.C.T. of over $30,000. It could be run as a solo venture or at its present workload or quite easily expanded into a busy two man practice. Terms of sale would be market value of property, building and equipment with no goodwill asked for. Leasing would be at the rate of 10% of the G.C.T. The quality of life in Hobart would be hard to equal in any part of the world for those who do not seek high powered city living. The sole reason for disposal of this practice is that the present partners are entering other fields of medicine. Further particulars can be obtained from — Drs. Norman and Muriel Rutledge, 22 Douglas Street, New Town, Hobart, Tasmania. 7008 118

The Future General Practitioner

Learning and Teaching

General or family practice is a special subject. This book is written by six experienced teachers selected by the Council of the Royal College of General Practitioners. It is intended chiefly for teachers, but it will also be valuable to those who are learning and to all who are concerned about the place of family practice within a country's medical services.

A syllabus is developed in five main parts:

Health and Diseases

Human Development

Human Behaviour

Medicine and Society

The Practice

Throughout the book the authors have tried to indicate ways in which the teacher may approach the task of passing on what he had learned by his own experience. The theme is the search for objectives which will satisfy the needs of learner and teacher. The belief is that this search will benefit the future family practitioner and through him the community of his patients.

All classified advertisements, subject to approval, will appear in the forthcoming issue provided they reach this office not later than 10 a.m. on the Friday of the week preceding date of issue. Semi-display advertisements must reach this office by 10 a.m. on the Tuesday of the week preceding date of issue.

Cancellation and corrections of advertisements must be received before 12 noon on the Friday of the week preceding date of issue (issues affected by public holidays excepted).

It is requested that when stamped addressed envelopes are enclosed in response to advertisements advertisers will ensure that a reply is sent.

Every effort is made to ensure the accuracy of advertisements appearing in the Journal. No recommendation is implied by acceptance, and the Editor of the British Medical Journal reserves the right to refuse, discontinue or interrupt the insertion of any advertisement.

NOTICE TO READERS

REPLIES TO BOX NUMBERS. The names and addresses of advertisers under box numbers are held by us in strict confidence and cannot be disclosed. Each Box Number should be addressed separately. Two or more replies can be enclosed in one envelope. The replies will be forwarded to the advertisers in plain envelopes.
