

When bronchitis

In acute-on-chronic bronchitis and other severe chest infections, you can be more certain of first-time success when you prescribe Magnapen.

Magnapen's greater certainty means that the patient is more likely to respond quickly, minimising the damage to lung tissue. And Magnapen can save you the time which you might otherwise have to spend on repeat visits, second consultations or night calls to patients who may fail to respond to other antibiotics.

Magnapen destroys virtually all the bacteria met in general practice. So you can rely on Magnapen even when there are no laboratory reports to guide you.

Full information on Magnapen is available on request.

Long established as the standard tranquillizing agent for a wide range of major psychoses, 'Largactil' is also a fitting therapeutic answer to the more minor neurotic and emotional disturbances so frequently encountered in general practice. In particular, clinical experience over the years has amply demonstrated its efficacy in restoring calm and perspective wherever anxiety, tension or agitation hold sway. Its availability in a wide range of presentations means that treatment can in every case be precisely tailored to the needs of the patient and there are no significant side-effects or problems of addiction in recommended dosage.

Another victim of Angina ...years before his time

The pain of angina continues long after angina has ceased to be a problem.

But, do people die from angina?

Strictly speaking no. Angina is a symptom but in most cases it is a symptom of the fatal condition ischaemic heart disease.

About 25% of angina patients are likely to have a coronary within 5 years of diagnosis and the prognosis beyond that is extremely poor.⁴

Pain killers alleviate the symptoms but do nothing to the underlying disease.

In three long-term studies^{1,2,3} 'Atromid'-S (clofibrate) reduced the death-rate in angina patients by 55%, 62% and 67% respectively as well as reducing the infarction rate by 39 and 44%^{1,2}.

"A good deal of attention is justifiably given to relieving symptoms and increasing exercise tolerance in angina patients.

*However, even more important is secondary prevention aimed at reducing the high likelihood of a myocardial infarction and premature death."*⁴

Alistair is all he has only o

It's all around him, all the time yet, he's never seen it. Because at only 0.3mm in length, the common dust mite doesn't advertise itself.

Yet this minute creature is responsible for a disabling disease in an estimated 300,000 Britons. Now, at last, there is a new answer. A short immunisation course that is simple and very effective. A fundamental treatment that for the first time gives you, the family doctor, real control over this type of allergic asthma. And a new quality of life for your asthma patients.

Migen is effective. Allergy has always been recognised as one of the most common causes of asthma. Recently it has been established that the most important allergenic factor in house dust is the house dust mite; in fact, more than 90% of house dust sensitive patients are sensitive to house dust mite. And, "The rise in the mite content of dust from September to October has been shown to be directly related to an increase in asthma during this period."*

Migen immunises against the house dust mite. Immunisation against this powerful allergen raises the patients' overall level of tolerance. If he is multi-sensitive, he may well find that he no longer reacts to contact with other allergens which have previously provoked attacks. And the stress caused by fear of attack is reduced.

Migen is simple. Migen is a short course vaccine which contains pure extract of Dermatophagoides pteronyssinus, the most common British house dust mite. Just six injections form a complete course of treatment for asthma and perennial rhinitis. And each syringe is pre-filled to ensure accurate dosage.

Migen – minimal side effects. Migen's active material is released slowly but completely for maximum efficiency and minimum risk of adverse effects. Migen is adsorbed onto tyrosine, a naturally occurring amino acid fully metabolisable in the human body.

Migen is a Bencard product. Prepared by Bencard, leaders in allergy research, Migen is the first asthma treatment to give you control over your asthma patients. Migen may usually be prescribed on the basis of a careful case history, no complicated testing techniques are necessary. However a simple confirmatory skin test kit is available on request, together with patient record cards and advice notes.

Migen. Many products have been advocated for use in the treatment of asthma. Most have drawbacks that you and your patients suffer for the sake of some relief. Now Migen offers an opportunity to treat asthma simply and effectively.

Allergy has always had a strong hold on the asthmatic. From today a powerful and very common fresh light on the intimate way in which polyunsaturates may act biochemically.

"Our studies lead us to believe that the actual thrombotic episode in coronary disease may be due to a relative deficiency of linoleic acid", he told MNT. "This acts in such a way as to inhibit the intrathrombocytic production of prostaglandin- E_2 ".

El, normally has a pronounced anticoagulant effect. But if the important polyunsaturated fat, linoleic acid, is deficient, no substitute will do.

So it looks as though

Few people now discount the relationship between saturated fats, high blood cholesterol levels and coronary heart disease.

Many authorities would argue that some substitution of polyunsaturated fats for saturated fats in normal diet may reduce the risk of coronary heart disease. And, because of its cholesterol-reducing properties, Flora is particularly effective in the dietary treatment of some hyperlipidaemias.

Where the risk of heart disease is present – Flora margarine makes very good advice.

At least 50% of Flora's fat content is linoleic essential fatty acid. Flora has a fat content of not less than 80% of the total product and is sold in half pound tubs.

The way I feel isn't funny.

If humour is twisting the ordinary to produce the unexpected, this man is an original. And a very funny man. But he's truly unhappy. His wit and humour are torn from a personality all too often racked by anxiety and depression.

He is well known, well loved and well thought of. But at such times none of this helps.

We are all aware of anxiety. The world is full of it. What we are only beginning to realise is how often it is linked with, or covers, a basic depression; how frequently an apparently anxious or depressed patient is, in fact, both.

Obviously, we must treat both the anxiety and the depression. That's why we need Limbitrol. Limbitrol combines an effective anxiolytic, Librium, with amitriptyline, a proven antidepressant. The patient feels the supportive benefit of the anxiolytic almost immediately. His depression begins to lift within days.

The General Practitioner Research Group used both drugs over a period of years as standards for comparison for newer psychotropic agents. They have concluded, 'None of the newer drugs that we have investigated has proved to be significantly better than the two standard drugs, namely: chlordiazepoxide in anxiety, and amitriptyline in depression.'

What do you prescribe for the to bronchodilators

In early episodic asthma, treatment with oral or aerosol bronchodilators is usually all that is required.

Cross section of a bronchiole showing
BRONCHOSPASM

However, as the disease progresses, inflammatory changes including oedema of the bronchial mucosa and hypersecretion of mucus frequently occur to such an extent that bronchodilator drugs alone are not able to give adequate control.

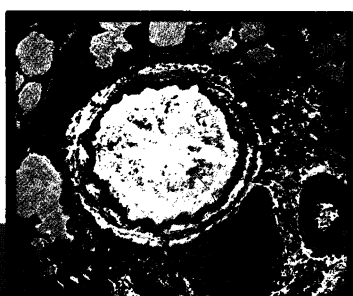

Unless appropriate treatment is undertaken, the patient's condition is likely to deteriorate due to plugging of oedematous bronchioles with inspissated mucus.

In the past, the most effective treatment for these cases has been the administration of systemic steroids or corticotrophins. But the side effects resulting from the prolonged use of these products can be serious and are always worrying to doctor and patient alike.

c. £10,000 + benefits

Our clients — Fisons Limited, Pharmaceutical Division — are expanding their international operations in Europe. As part of this development programme, we seek an experienced physician to take charge of medical affairs relating to the Company's products throughout Scandinavia. He will be based in Copenhagen and it is likely that this appointment will appeal to a British national.

The appointment is a challenging one, requiring the expansion of medical operations by close liaison with important clinical institutes of international repute. It offers wide scope for initiative and good prospects for personal and career enhancement.

The Medical Adviser will be responsible for planning and organising clinical evaluation studies on new and established therapeutic products, for liaising with local health and drug registration authorities, for arranging medical meetings and symposia, and for the many other and varied medical activities of the Company. Applicants should be within the approximate age range 32-45 and possess a broad medical knowledge, together with poise, integrity and vigour. Knowledge of Danish is not expected, but candidates should view positively the opportunity to learn another language.

The position would be particularly suitable for a GP with management experience in a group practice; a hospital registrar, research fellow or lecturer with a good background in therapeutics; or a physician with overseas medical administration experience in the Services.

Medical Appointment

Pfizer Asia, Hong Kong

This position will be of prime interest to outstanding members of the medical profession who are seeking an international career with excellent advancement prospects.

Pfizer International is a world wide organisation which is prominent in the pharmaceutical, agricultural, veterinary, fine chemical, consumer and cosmetic industries. In Asia, Pfizer operations extend from Japan through Australia and New Zealand to India and Pakistan and are administered from a Management Centre in Hong Kong.

Our business growth and the related need for a high level of professional medical advice requires that we appoint an Assistant Medical Director to our Management Centre staff. The incumbent will report to the Asia Medical Director and will work closely with an associate who was appointed earlier this year.

The appointee will be involved in all medical activities but a major responsibility will be the co-ordination and evaluation of clinical trials programmes in Pfizer locations in Asia. In most cases the working relationship will be through country Medical Directors. Pfizer medical staff work closely with the marketing groups and considerable job interest is gained through medical service activities. This position requires travel both within Asia and on occasions to Europe and the U.S.

Following a period of successful service in this position the incumbent will be considered for career growth re-assignments to other management centres in Brussels, Nairobi or Coral Gables, Florida or our New York headquarters.

Applicants should be medically qualified and possess an appropriate postgraduate degree. Initial preference will be shown towards those with experience in clinical research, drug trial methodology or teaching. Final selection will place considerable emphasis on the applicant's managerial potential and ability to assimilate into a commercial enterprise.

CONDITIONS: Our expatriate compensation components provide a high level of net income after the deduction of housing and tax costs. Additional benefits include a company car, re-imbursement of major education costs and annual home leave fares plus a U.S. based contribution free retirement and medical plan.

Applications will be received in the strictest confidence. They should include personal details such as family status, age and nationality, educational record and work experience and current compensation.

We would also like to know your availability and details of exposure to internal medicine, clinical research, psychiatry, tropical medicine or teaching.

Interviews will be conducted in the U.K. most probably during the week of 22nd-26th October.

We anticipate that an employment offer will be made by December and the appointee will assume his responsibilities in Hong Kong in the first quarter of 1974.

The Future General Practitioner

Learning and Teaching

General or family practice is a special subject. This book is written by six experienced teachers selected by the Council of the Royal College of General Practitioners. It is intended chiefly for teachers, but it will also be valuable to those who are learning and to all who are concerned about the place of family practice within a country's medical services.

A syllabus is developed in five main parts:

Health and Diseases

Human Development

Human Behaviour

Medicine and Society

The Practice

Throughout the book the authors have tried to indicate ways in which the teacher may approach the task of passing on what he had learned by his own experience. The theme is the search for objectives which will satisfy the needs of learner and teacher. The belief is that this search will benefit the future family practitioner and through him the community of his patients.

FREE ANXIETY

A person often experiences anxiety when it can serve no useful purpose. A signal originates in the amygdala (orange spot) and is transmitted into the body via the hypothalamus (red spot) and autonomic nervous system. In such cases, anxiety becomes a problem causing many difficult and unpleasant symptoms.

Nobrium relieves anxiety by a precise action on the amygdala—the source of anxiety. It also acts specifically on the hypothalamus to damp the transmission of anxiety into the body. The precise action is highly effective—relieving over 80% of patients—and causes few side-effects² as other parts of the brain are virtually unaffected.

But what about the late onset patient – the patient who wakes up in the early hours, wheezing?

Can Intal help her? Clinical studies^{1,2} show that a surprisingly high proportion of patients over 40 also benefit from Intal, even where there is no clearly defined allergic component.

And it does it all with a specific, local action.

another little victory for Prinalgin

In rheumatoid arthritis, every small gain can increase the patient's pleasure in life. In this respect, the anti-rheumatic agent Prinalgin is showing it to be an outstanding therapy.

Significant improvement of major physical indices such as grip strength and joint size is a major feature of Prinalgin therapy.

Concomitantly, there appears to be an antidepressant factor involved in Prinalgin therapy that re-awakens the psychic momentum of the patient.¹

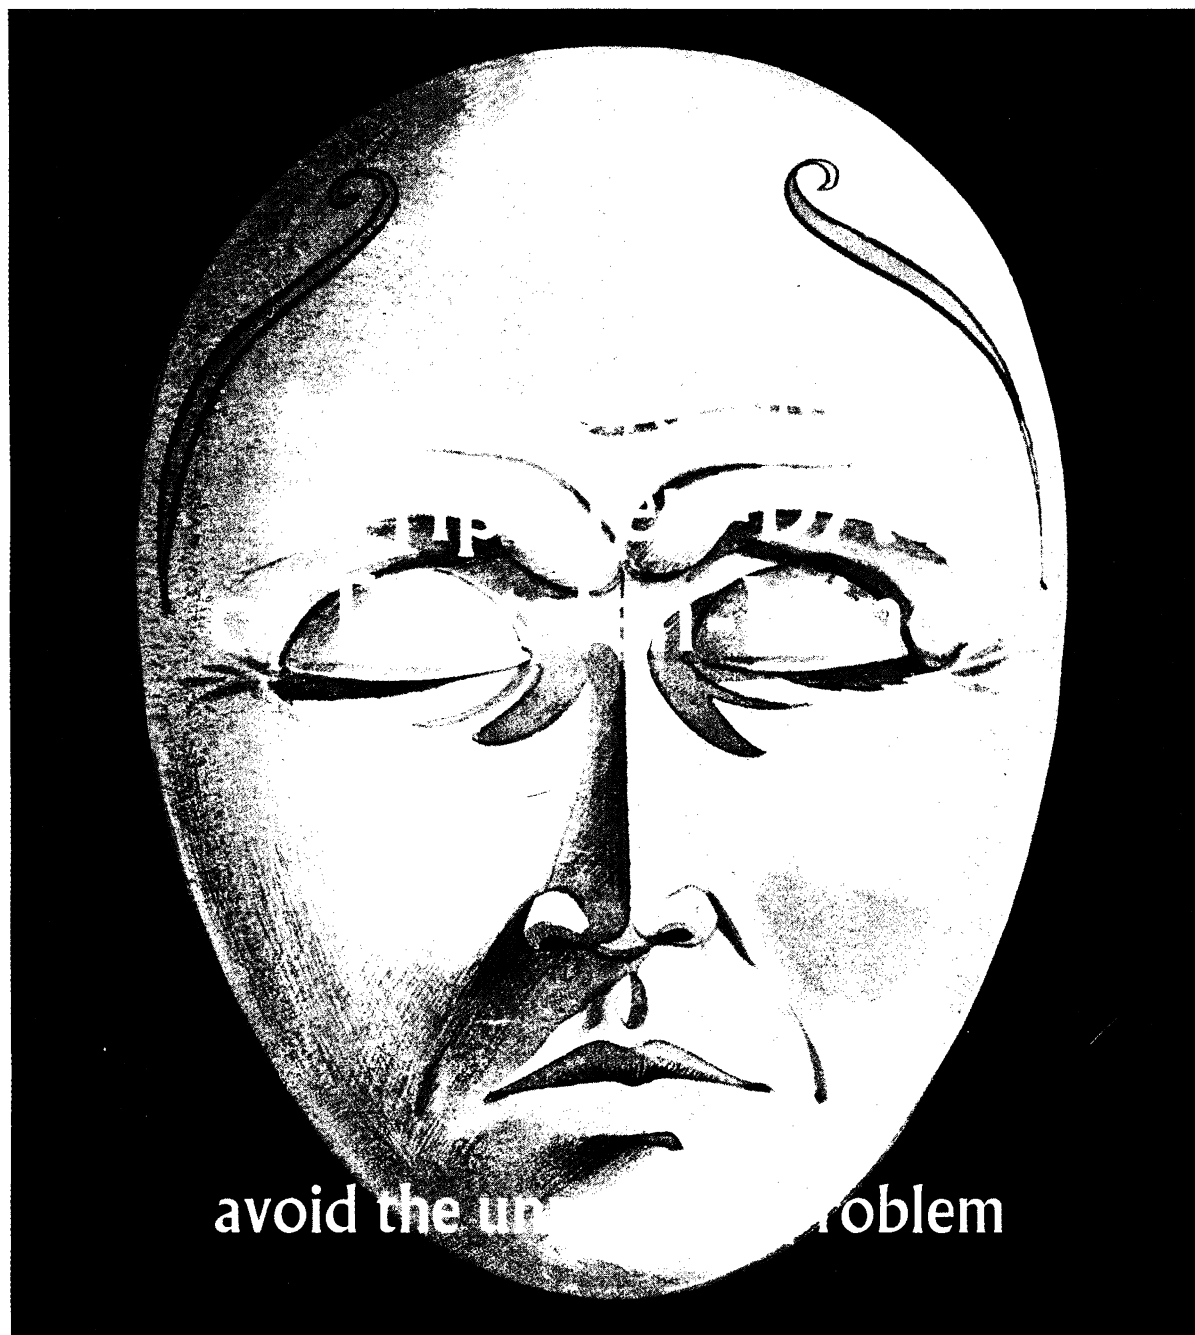

In a field where a little victory is really a big victory, shouldn't you be considering Prinalgin for your patients? 1. Lancet (1973), 1, 936.
