

CHILDHOOD CANCER AND NUCLEAR INSTALLATIONS

Edited by Valerie Beral, Eve Roman & Martin Bobrow

Ever since a television programme in 1983 on the people of Windscale (Sellafield) revealed an unusually high incidence of cancer in children researchers have been attempting to uncover the reason for the clusters. None of the studies to date has caused such a stir as that led by Martin Gardner in Sellafield, published by BMJ in 1990, which found a statistical link between fathers' exposure to radiation and the incidence of leukaemia among their children.

As a result of the Gardner report more studies were set up, many of which have also been published in BMJ, but none as yet has confirmed the findings. In fact, different associations have been found near other plants and new theories that challenge any link at all between the clusters and radiation have been put forward.

Childhood Cancer and Nuclear Installations tells the story from the beginning to the present day, with a lively commentary by three of the major contributors to the debate, and reproduces the key papers, commentaries, and correspondence from the UK and abroad, along with extracts from reports produced by official bodies set up to monitor the problem. This book, which is dedicated to the late Martin Gardner, is a lasting document of the first ten years of the story.

Medicine & Global Survival

EDITOR: JENNIFER LEANING, M.D.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Medicine and Global Survival is a new international journal to be launched in March 1994. This journal, previously published as The PSR Quarterly will be published by the BMJ Publishing Group. Medicine and Global Survival looks at major catastrophic issues of our time from the physicians' perspective. It discusses the role of medicine and public health in determining and changing the ways in which our societies respond to these serious challenges to global survival.

The journal aims to enlist physicians and other professionals in a truly international analysis of major issues relating to:

- war
- civil conflict
- disaster
- the environment
- public health and development
- human rights
