

Three Unique Anticholinergics

with exceptional therapeutic characteristics

PIPTAL

(Pipenzolate methobromide)

For Peptic Ulcer

Piptal decreases acid secretion, suppresses abnormal gastric motility and relieves the pain of peptic ulcer.

It is unusually well-tolerated, even when administered over long periods.

DACTIL

For Gastro-duodenal Spasm

Dactil selectively relieves pain due to upper gastro-intestinal spasm usually within ten minutes. Indications include abdominal cramps as in gastro-duodenal spasm, as well as biliary spasm, hiatus hernia, cardiospasm, pylorospasm, post-gastrectomy syndrome and regional ileitis.

CANTIL

For the Colon

Cantil effectively relieves pain due to colonic spasm in irritable colon, spastic colitis and diverticulitis. It counteracts colonic hypermotility in acute and chronic non-specific diarrhoeas, mucous colitis and ulcerative colitis.

SIDE EFFECTS have only rarely been observed. The selective actions of all three products—fully supported by extensive clinical trials—have been found to provide a high degree of therapeutic efficacy with almost complete freedom from the side effects commonly attributable to anticholinergic drugs.

CONTRA-INDICATIONS—Piptal, Dactil and Cantil are contra-indicated in glaucoma and should be used with caution in prostatic hypertrophy.

CONSIDER NOW

summer-long protection against HAY FEVER with

D-VAC Pollens 3 dose course

regd

D-VAC Pollens, Bencard emulsified 'depot' vaccine for 'classical' hay fever and pollen asthma, is the latest development in desensitising vaccines. The course of three carefully graded injections—fewer than for any other available—has been shown to be at least as effective as the much longer course with aqueous vaccine. Injection from a specially designed syringe ensures the controlled release of active emulsion through surrounding 'shield' emulsion. Local or systemic reactions are therefore rare provided that the recommended technique of administration is employed under antihistamine cover.

D-VAC Pollens is prepared from extracts of 12 varieties of common grass pollens (Bencard group B2), which are responsible for over 80% of cases of 'classical' hay fever and pollen asthma. Two alternative courses are available:

Primary Course: designed for patients who have not received pollen vaccine treatment in the last five years or whose seasonal symptoms are severe, and for children (aged 8-14 years).

Advanced Course: designed for patients aged 15 years and over who have had pollen vaccine treatment in the last five years and whose symptoms are not very severe.

(Patients suffering from atopic eczema should first be referred to an allergy clinic.)

The 3 injections are administered pre-seasonally at intervals of exactly 4 weeks, the first dose given in February or early March. Full technical details (administration, precautions, possible reactions, etc.) are supplied with each dose, or on request.

TO BE SURE

of obtaining D-VAC Pollens, it is advisable to prescribe and order before 31st December—quoting the course required (Primary or Advanced), the patient's name, and the date on which it is intended to administer the first dose: this date should fall between 12th February and 9th March, 1968.

Late orders will be met if possible up to 20th January, but in these cases first doses cannot be supplied for administration before 19th February.

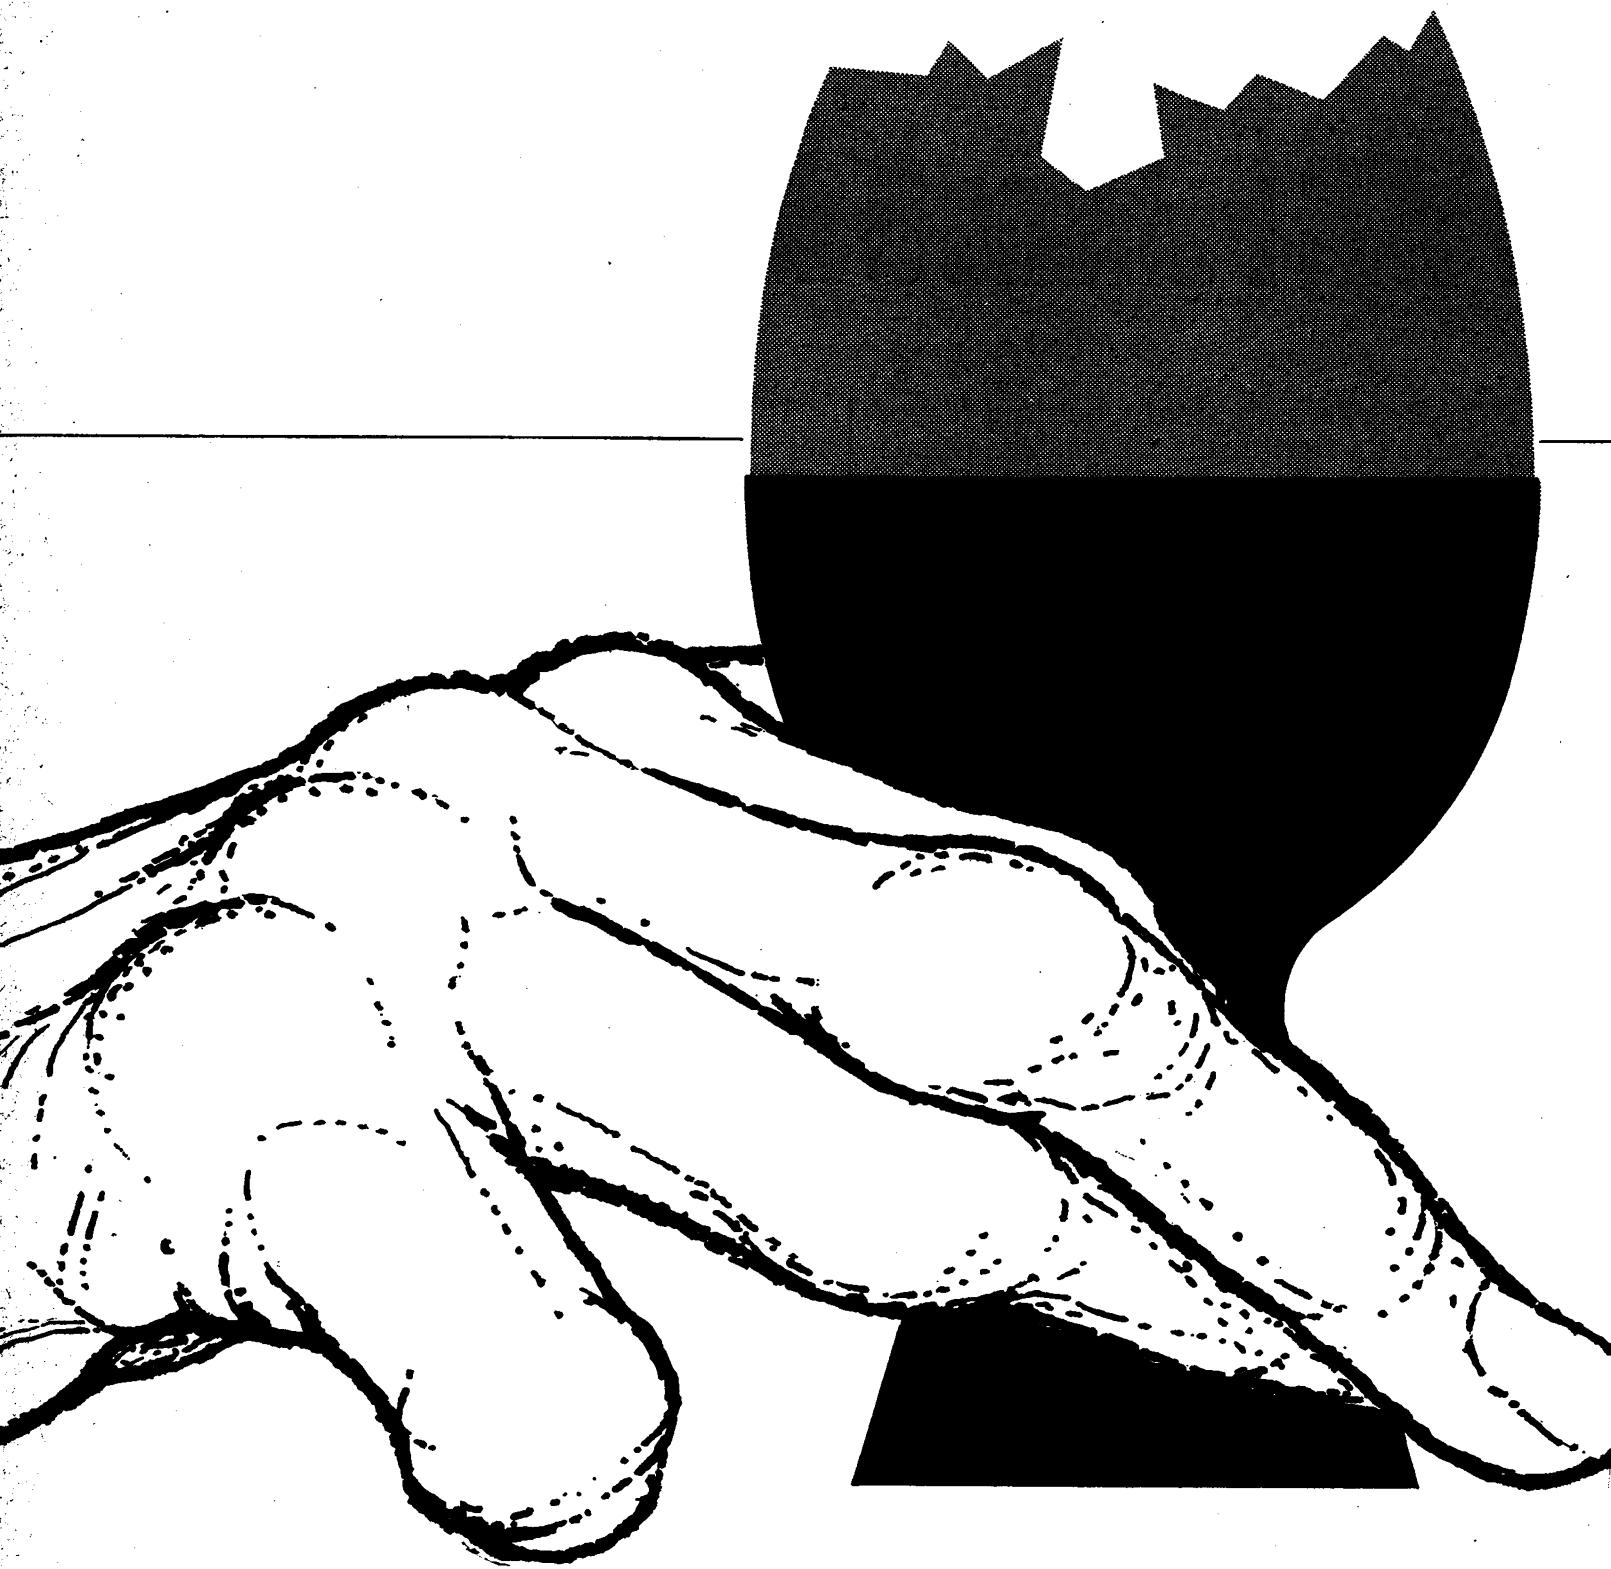

The three doses of the course will be despatched separately at 4-week intervals to arrive in good time for administration, without need for further prescription or order.

(D-VAC Pollens is not available outside the U.K.)

The brand of iron which provides a good haematinic response in iron-deficiency anaemia—a considerably reduced incidence of side effects and the least toxic form of iron

A double-blind comparison of Ferrodic with ferrous sulphate, both preparations containing 50 mg of ferrous iron + 12.5 mg ascorbic acid, in the treatment of iron-deficiency anaemia, showed that exactly equivalent haematinic effects were obtained with the two drugs. However, 'not only did Ferrodic cause side effects in a significantly smaller proportion of patients than ferrous sulphate, but the severity of such side-effects was also significantly less with Ferrodic.'

(Practitioner, 1967, 198, 848)

A very similar double-blind, clinical comparison of Ferrodic and ferrous sulphate has recently been published. The Author's purpose was to confirm the haematinic effectiveness and low incidence of side effects of Ferrodic, in view of its palatability and relative freedom from toxicity. The results again showed Ferrodic to have an equivalent haematinic effect to that of ferrous sulphate but 'side-effects occurred in a significantly higher proportion of subjects who received ferrous sulphate.'

(J. Therap. and Clin. Res., 1967, 1, 4)

FERRODIC TABLETS each contain ferrous iron (as ferrous carbonate) 50 mg and ascorbic acid 12.5 mg and are supplied in bottles of 100 tablets.

this is the tablet that started a revolution

'Largactil'* was introduced in 1954. And the "psychiatric revolution" began. Every so often a group of substances is discovered which changes the whole face of medicine. As with the sulphonamides and the antibiotics, so with the phenothiazine derivatives. 'Largactil', the first of these major tranquillizers, is still the basic therapeutic agent in many psychotic disorders and the standard with which others are compared.

The care in formulation, the skill in manufacture and the broad background of research that led to its introduction is still behind you

Johnny went into hiding q.i.d. until the doctor prescribed 'Ilosone' Suspension

'Ilosone' excels in paediatric infections. But the flavour of the suspension (although important to Johnny) is only one of the reasons why it works so well. Against gram-positive cocci 'Ilosone' is much more active than, for example, the tetracyclines – and it will not discolour teeth or deposit in bone. Thus for infections such as tonsillitis, pharyngitis, pneumonia, otitis media and acute bronchitis – 'Ilosone' Suspension is a first-line treatment.

100 ml Suspension contains 125 mg* 'Ilosone' per 5 ml. 250 mg* and 125 mg* 'Pulvules' are also available.

It does things that no cine camera ever could—far easier and at half the running cost. It works under normal lights. You get instant playback. You can erase picture and sound in seconds and reshoot.

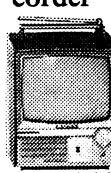

It is invaluable for teaching. You can build up an extensive library of surgical techniques, case histories or experiments.

You can record a complete operation—for later reference. Or tape a patient's reaction to treatment—while Sister James is on duty elsewhere. And this is only the beginning. The Sony Videocorder has a bagful of uses in hospitals.

private treatment today

In this space BUPA reports from time to time on matters which may be of interest to those concerned with private treatment in this country. BUPA's own interest is clear and declared; we believe a strong private sector in medicine to be an essential corollary to a successful public sector. Alone among the provident associations, we are sponsoring (through Nuffield Nursing Homes Trust) the creation of new and expanded facilities for private treatment.

Growth of BUPA'S G.P. Scheme

A year ago BUPA's General Practitioner Scheme was extended to cover the cost of prescribed drugs as well as attendances by General Practitioners. Since then a further 3,000 subscribers have joined the scheme, bringing the total number of registrations up to over 24,000 covering approximately 52,000 people.

The General Practitioner scheme is an optional extension available only to subscribers to BUPA's Standard Scheme and offers benefits to cover the cost of attendances by G.P.s, 75% of the cost of drugs and medicines prescribed by a General Practitioner and the fees charged by a General Practitioner for performing an operation requiring a local anaesthetic.

Providing Facilities for Private Treatment

One of BUPA's greatest concerns is to ensure the demand for private medical care does not outstrip the physical facilities for treatment.

BUPA's associate organization, Nuffield Nursing Homes Trust, now owns and administers twelve modern surgical nursing homes with a total of 427 beds. Last year nearly 11,000 people were treated in the Trust's homes, which are open to all private patients and are not, as is sometimes supposed, restricted solely to BUPA subscribers.

N.N.H.T. will open a new home in Slough in December and projects at Brentwood, Huddersfield, Leicester and Tunbridge Wells are at various stages of development.

Attitudes to Private Medicine

The recent Sunday Times Opinion Poll, carried out by the Opinion Research Centre, reveals that the majority of people in Britain are prepared to accept some medical charges for those who can afford them.

This acceptance of the private section of medicine is borne out by the results of a survey which BUPA carried out to estimate the potential market for private health insurance schemes. This survey showed a potential market for private insurance under present conditions—for example, no tax relief on subscriptions—of 7% to 8% of the total adult population. This proportion would rise to some 12% with increased education devoted to arousing increased interest on the part of the public—this means that, without any subsidy, the potential membership of private health insurance schemes is between 4,000,000 and 6,000,000 of the adult population.

MEGACLOR SYRUP

Of all the tetracycline syrups available today Megaclor is the most soluble, ensuring rapid and effective absorption. Its combination of high anti-bacterial activity (particularly against staphylococci, streptococci and pneumococci) with minimal risk of undesirable side reactions makes Megaclor the ideal broad-spectrum antibiotic for children. Moreover, the use of Megaclor reduces the incidence of deposition in developing bone and teeth.

Megaclor Syrup contains 85 mg. clomocycline in each 5 ml. teaspoonful (60 ml. bottles: 5/-d basic N.H.S. Price).

Megaclor Capsules for adults each contain 170 mg. clomocycline.

who's talking about Genticin?

Well, to mention but a few:

B.M.J. May 27 1967, p.522, 535, 537, 539, 543
The Practitioner, June 1967, p.855

Genticin is the new bactericidal antibiotic whose unique spectrum and degree of activity includes those organisms hitherto regarded as problem pathogens: Ps. pyocyanea, Proteus spp., E. coli, "Hospital strains" of Staph. aureus. Resistant strains have proved to be rare and resistance develops rarely in the presence of adequate concentrations of the antibiotic. Genticin topicals have a low index of sensitisation and are odourless and non-staining in use. They are, therefore, clearly indicated for all bacterial skin infections, particularly when due to single or mixed strains whose identity and sensitivity to antibiotics are unknown.

Beyond The Pill...

Mixogen...

as dramatically successful in preventing menopausal distress as are the oral contraceptives in family planning

The women who uses an oral contraceptive during her later potential child-bearing years need not fear menopausal problems.

But for those not 'on the Pill' when reaching the menopause, a hormone problem remains. At the menopause three out of four women require hormone replacement.

Mixogen fulfils their need. The preparation, a finely balanced combination of oestrogen and androgen, acts synergistically to ensure complete relief of all menopausal symptoms.

And it does so without recourse to sedatives which—apart from other considerations—fail to deal with the underlying cause of the symptoms.

In the treatment of psoriasis, triacetoxyanthracene has been shown to exhibit the healing properties of dithranol while displaying none of the side effects of burning or staining the skin.

It therefore may be used by the patient in his own home without the fear that any harm will result if it accidentally comes in contact with normal skin.

"Dithranol (trihydroxyanthracene) is one of the most effective drugs in the treatment of psoriasis. Unfortunately it has two disadvantages — it may irritate the skin and even cause blistering and it stains both the skin and the patient's under-clothes and bed linen. Within the last few months a modification of dithranol — 1,8,9-triacetoxyanthracene — has been developed which neither burns the skin nor stains clothes. It is now being marketed as Exolan paste"

Pharmaceutical Journal (1966) 2, 175

"Exolan is a recently developed synthetic derivative of dithranol. The active ingredient is preferentially liberated by hydrolysis on the surface of the psoriatic plaques. The molecule is so adapted that the staining and much of the irritant properties of dithranol are avoided with loss of only some of its potency . . . It may also be tolerated in cases where the psoriasis is too inflamed or acute for dithranol, or where staining makes it cosmetically unacceptable."

British Medical Journal (1966) 2, 993

"Patients known to be sensitive to dithranol were not treated with the new drug, but in one case such a patient was given triacetoxyanthracene without any adverse reaction occurring"

British Medical Journal (1967) 1, 682

"After three weeks treatment with triacetoxyanthracene paste there was an amazing clearance and he was able to roll up his sleeves for the first time for 25 years. After a further 3 weeks he was practically clear and better than he had been for 30 years."

British Journal of Dermatology (1967) 79, 491

Delexin Expectorant helps cough to become truly productive and thus relieves the patient's distress by lessening the frequency of useless coughing.

Delexin Expectorant combines the well-established expectorant, guaiphenesin, with phenylpropanolamine, which has fewer central effects than ephedrine, to which it is chemically related. Delexin Expectorant is presented in a pleasant orange-flavoured syrup which can help to soothe soreness in the throat caused by excessive coughing.

Forty minutes prior to undergoing tonsillectomy, a child weighing 64 lb. received a single i.m. injection of 5 mg./lb. lincomycin hydrochloride (base equivalent). A sample of the patient's tonsil tissue was placed on a petri dish in which the agar had previously been seeded with a pathogenic strain of Streptococcus haemolyticus. Lyndiol 2.5

is only marginally better than other oral contraceptives...

The physician, trained to make rational choices, faces a problem when he comes to The Pill, for he knows that as far as the combined oral contraceptives are concerned all are virtually 100% effective.

He looks then for other significant differences. First of these is the incidence of side-effects. (The latest data from the F.P.A. show that Lyndiol 2.5 is substantially free from side-effects).

Price is another factor, especially as the acceptability of the oral contraceptive idea spreads down the socio-economic scale to those families who perhaps need contraception most and can afford it least. (Lyndiol 2.5 offers the most reasonable price-to-patient).

And he considers patient reliability—which dosage scheme will be easiest to follow? (Lyndiol 2.5's 'fixed day' routine means simply that if a patient starts on, say, a Friday, she finishes three weeks later on a Friday and begins her new course on the following Friday).

...you may well ask how wide is a margin?

Yesterday,
Doctor Carr delivered a boy weighing 86 lbs.

Yesterday was when Dr. Carr took time off to accompany his eleven-year-old son David to his first boarding school. It was also the day when Dr. Carr had a celebration drink with his bank manager. Because, from now on, David's going to be far less of a financial burden. There'll be plenty of money for his school fees, his books, even his clothing. And enough left over to start him on a career or send him to university.

Dr. Carr asked to see one of our representatives a few days after the boy was born. And, acting upon our advice, he took out an Educational Policy to cover the most expensive years in his son's future. He invested a modest sum annually but, with accumulated profits, it will ensure David a first-class schooling for the next eight years.

This is just one example of the many policies we have designed specially for doctors and dentists. And since the Society is wholly owned by the policy holders all the profits belong to them and are distributed by bonus declaration every three years.

If you are eligible to join the Society you should be sharing these profits. So why not write to us now without any obligation, of course, for further details? There are separate brochures for Sickness and Accident; Educational; Life; Personal Pension; Family Income; Provision for Estate Duty; Car Hire Purchase. A card giving your name, address, date of birth and quoting Reference No. 001 and listing the policies that interest you, will receive prompt attention.

There's a very good reason why this IUD is being well accepted

It's not rejected

The crucial word in any talk concerning IUD's is not efficacy, but acceptance. A small number of women spontaneously extrude the IUD or have to have it removed. But the unique shape of the SAF-T-COIL ensures maximum in utero retention. Once inserted, the SAF-T-COIL assumes its distinctive configuration, conforming closely to the shape of the uterine cavity. Rejection is extremely unlikely.

Because of its presentation the SAF-T-COIL is introduced more easily and more quickly than any other device; placement is smooth and non-irritating. No sterilisation or assembly is required. Each sterile, peel package contains the integral unit of coil and insertion plunger.

FENTAZIN

the ideal tranquilliser in general practice

There is sometimes a tendency to regard Fentazin and related phenothiazine derivatives as powerful drugs, indicated principally for the treatment of frank psychosis. In general practice it has been more usual to treat patients suffering from anxiety or tension states with drugs thought to be less potent, the so-called minor tranquillisers or the barbiturates. Among their other actions, these drugs depress cortical function and may produce impairment of judgment and of ability to think. The effect of these drugs is apparently attractive to certain types of patients, for addiction to them is by no means uncommon. On the other hand, Fentazin and the group of potent phenothiazine tranquillisers to which it belongs are virtually without sedative effect and appear to reduce anxiety, agitation and restlessness in a much more specific way than do the general cortical depressants. These advantages indicate Fentazin as the preparation of first choice in the day-to-day management of many forms of functional psychiatric disturbances in preference to drugs that may impair judgment and co-ordination in such tasks as motor-driving and have a known tendency to cause addiction or dependence.¹

The low doses of Fentazin needed for the relief of non-psychotic anxiety and tension rarely give rise to side effects, or to potentiation of other drugs, including alcohol. With a low-dosage, potent phenothiazine derivative, such as Fentazin, there is a striking absence of drowsiness. "Side effects with perphenazine are remarkably infrequent . . . Perphenazine produced rapid improvement in many patients."²

A few years ago a psychiatrist³ reviewed his own experience and that of others with perphenazine (Fentazin), after 8 years clinical usage and he formed the opinion that Fentazin is most effective against tension, anxiety, agitation and psychomotor excitement. He concludes this review as follows:

"This re-appraisal of perphenazine after 8 years of extensive clinical experience, by thousands of physicians among an estimated 25 million patients, demonstrates that this drug belongs to the small group of pharmaceuticals that have passed the test of time. Perphenazine has proved to be an effective and safe drug which seldom causes serious side effects."

More recently it has been said of perphenazine that it "is useful for relieving anxiety, tension and distress in psychosomatic disorders and in physical illness and disabilities."⁴

FENTAZIN controls all degrees of anxiety, psychomotor over-activity and agitation without depriving the patient of his mental acuity. FENTAZIN calms and tranquillises without drowsiness or interference with the ability to think.

Side effects. Fentazin administered in the recommended doses rarely gives rise to side effects. Any that occur may be regarded as due to individual sensitivity to phenothiazine tranquillisers and are quickly reversible by withdrawal of the drug.

Cautions. FENTAZIN is contra-indicated in patients known to be suffering from leucopenia or being treated with drugs liable to cause bone marrow depression. While FENTAZIN is effective in the treatment of hyperemesis gravidarum, morning sickness and anxiety states associated with early pregnancy, it should not be administered during the period without full consideration of recent suggestions that drug therapy during the first trimester is undesirable.

Dosage. Average adult dosage is 12 mg a day in divided doses. In severe cases the dosage may be increased but should not exceed 24 mg a day.

Presentation. DUOLETS contain 3 mg perphenazine in an outer layer for prompt action—an inner core contains a further 3 mg enclosed in a special barrier for timed release. One FENTAZIN Duolet thus maintains therapy for 8–12 hours. Available in packs of 50 and 250 Duolets.

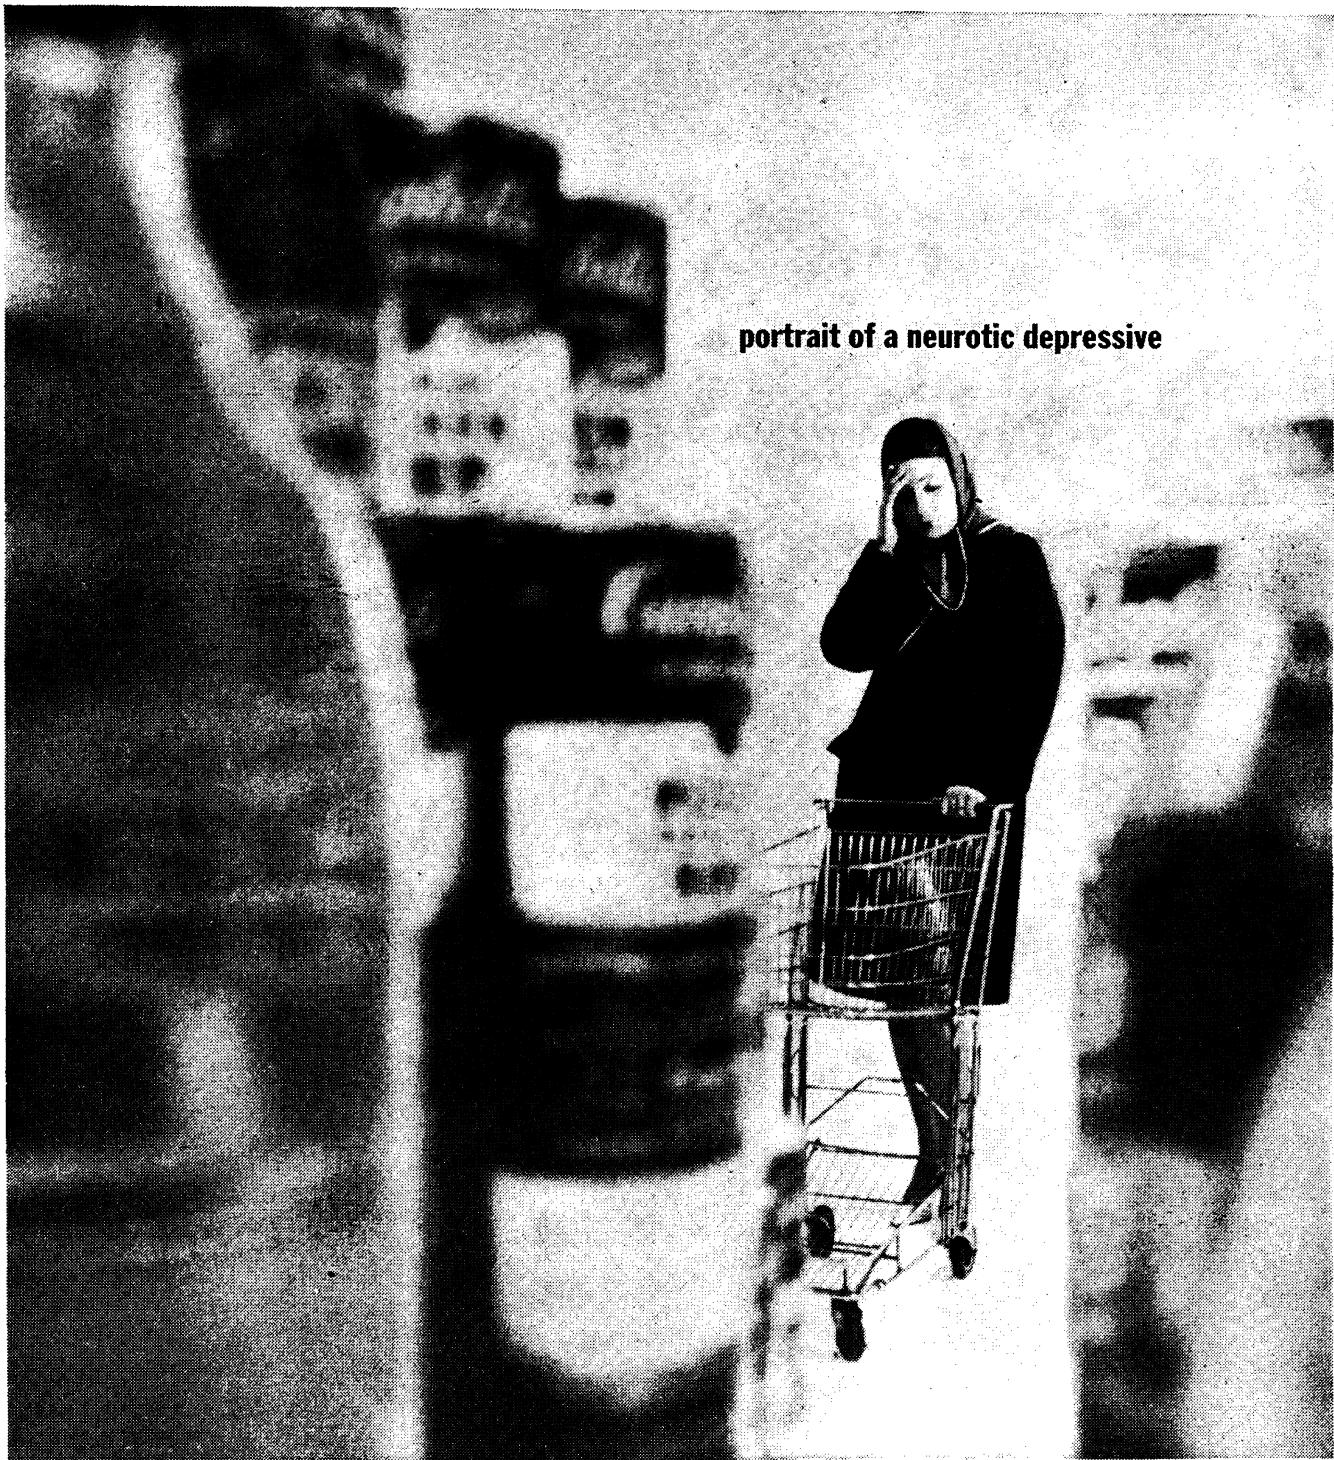

TABLETS contain 2 mg, 4 mg and 8 mg. Available in packs of 50 and 500 tablets.

SYRUP contains 3 mg in each 5 ml teaspoonful. Available in bottles of 142 ml (5 fluid ozs) and 2 litres.

SYNADRIN® 60 WORKS

In a number of controlled trials, prenylamine—SYNADRIN 60—has been shown to reduce significantly the number of anginal attacks^{1,2,3.}

Double clinical controlled trials of SYNADRIN 60, reported from different countries and confirmed by recent British studies, demonstrate that SYNADRIN 60 is effective in angina pectoris. The number of anginal attacks is considerably reduced and nitroglycerin consumption lessened. In each case the effect was significantly greater than was achieved during placebo administration. SYNADRIN 60 lowers the oxygen demand of the heart by a reduction in excessive sympathetic stimulation. A mild sedative action allays anxiety and increased coronary blood flow improves oxygen supply.

Dosage: An adequate dose is essential to ensure a rapid onset of action and therapy can be initiated with one tablet (60 mg) SYNADRIN 60 three times daily. Reduction of the frequency of anginal attacks should be observed within two weeks.

SYNADRIN 60 is available as tablets containing 60 mg prenylamine.
