

Why upper respiratory infections are Penbritin Territory

Penbritin offers you broad-spectrum activity with the safety of a penicillin. This extra activity is useful because certain Gram-negative organisms, for example H. influenzæ, are beyond the range of traditional penicillins and may prove troublesome.

Unlike some broad-spectrums such as tetracyclines which merely inhibit organisms, Penbritin destroys bacteria and minimises the risk of relapse or complications. Also many respiratory bacteria have now become resistant to the tetracyclines. No such problem has arisen with Penbritin after more than eight years of clinical use.

Toxicity and side-effects (such as tooth staining) are further factors which limit the usefulness of some antibiotics. However, Penbritin is a penicillin and can confidently be prescribed for children, for neonates and in pregnancy. More than 1,600 published references have demonstrated its lack of toxicity for all age-groups.

Penbritin is available in highly acceptable presentations – capsules, tablets and syrups. This acceptability encourages patients to finish the prescribed course of treatment, even when the symptoms have gone.

Full information is available on request.

An 'up-to-date' measurement of obesity

To consider the definition of obesity as being synonymous with overweight is incorrect. The continued use of height-weight tables to designate underweight/overweight is a retarding influence on the accumulation of knowledge regarding obesity and is subject to severe limitations.

Weighing a person does not differentiate between individual variations in body composition, build or structure. It is possible for some people to be obese without being overweight and vice versa.

In reality one is trying to assess the degree of fatness as the criterion of obesity and this should be based on direct measurement, not on inferred values from weight.

It is surprising that, although skinfold measurement was first suggested in 1890 and has been used in clinics for several decades, skinfold measurements are not in general use.

The measurement is quick, simple and reproducible. Evaluation of fat density from skinfold thickness measurements correlates well with values obtained from other more elaborate methods.

With the free availability of simple skinfold calipers, Selpharm Laboratories Ltd. hope that this measurement will become a routine diagnostic test for obesity and as a result more knowledge will be gathered on this widespread disease.

PRIMDJEL

a new, quick-acting disintegrating agent for the tableting industry.

PRIMOJEL, one of the newest developments from the SCHOLTEN laboratories, is a disintegrating agent for the pharmaceutical tableting industry, possessing a very active effect.

PRIMOJEL is a low-substituted carboxymethyl-starch which dissolves particularly quickly in water. As a result of this unique property, the cohesion of a tablet in which PRIMOJEL has been incorporated is quickly and completely destroyed when brought into contact with water. An addition of only a small percentage of PRIMOJEL to the granulate confers, in most cases, a remarkable reduction in the disintegration time. A further important point is that prolonged storage of the tablets does not affect the activity of the PRIMOJEL.

Further information, samples or technical literature are available on request.

Wolfe Medical Atlases

For the past four years we have been working editorially on a reasonably priced medical series by eminent authorities along rather different lines. The series aims to present in each volume up to 350 colour photographs of diagnostic material with corresponding diagnostic data. The finest quality printing on high quality paper produces a level of colour accuracy seldom previously attained in medical work. The books cover final degree requirements in each subject.

This series of Atlases in handy bench size  $(7\frac{3}{4}" \times 5\frac{3}{8}")$  will stand on their own as the finest produced books in their field, but can be used as an adjunct to any medical textbook on that specific subject.

First in the series of Wolfe Medical Atlases to be published (on November 10, 1969) is:

AN ATLAS OF HAEMATOLOGICAL CYTOLOGY by Professor F. G. J. Hayhoe M.A., M.D. (Cantab), F.R.C.P., Leukaemia Research Fund Professor of Haematological Medicine, Cambridge University and R. J. Flemans, A.I.S.T., Chief Technician, Dept. of Medicine, Cambridge University. 349 colour plates. Price 60s. casebound

'Saluric' can help

in the premenstrual syndrome

Far too many women have to suffer the tiresome symptoms of premenstrual tension with oedema. Every month this may last for 7 to 10 days before the menses. Because many of the distressing symptoms may be directly related to fluid retention, effective diuresis usually brings prompt relief. 'Saluric' has been proved by 10 years' clinical use to be a dependable diuretic.

- "Saluric' can relieve breast tenderness, and leg and abdominal swelling
- 'Saluric' may well help to alleviate the concomitant irritability and nervousness
- "Saluric' is an established treatment for many other types of oedema

Taste—to make therapy a pleasure, 'Imperacin' syrup contains that extra ingredient palatability. Quality—the active ingredient, calcium di-oxytetracycline, is made at the ICI Antibiotics Plant at Manchester, where experience in the manufacture and formulation of antibiotics since 1941 ensures a high quality, British oxytetracycline, acceptable to all patients. Low cost—The introduction of 'Imperacin' tablets and capsules cut the cost of broad-spectrum antibiotic prescribing by two-thirds—and further reductions of 25% and 10% have since been made. The basic N.H.S. cost is now less than a shilling a day with the tablets and capsules. The syrup costs (60 ml.)-4/3-(100 ml.)-6/9.

山	Oestrogen-free		□
卤	Verton has proved to be more reliable than mechanical methods of contraception.
	Which did you choose?	Ver	ton	For full information see overleaf.

Rationale Verton is a new kind of oral contraceptive containing a progestogen (chlormadinone acetate).

> It provides contraception primarily by thickening the cervical mucus and thus preventing the entry of spermatazoa into the cervical canal. Contraception is enhanced because minor alterations in the endometrium make nidation of any fertilised ovum more difficult, and because ovulation is occasionally inhibited.

Indications

Verton is an oral contraceptive particularly suited to those women who experience side-effects with the conventional oestrogen-progestogen combinations, e.g. nausea, weight-gain, oedema, headaches and depression. Since it does not inhibit lactation, it is particularly suitable for use during the post-partum period, for those who wish to breast-feed their babies. It is useful for all those who are unreliable at taking their tablets because of the simplicity of everyday medication.

Side-effects

Apart from some irregularity of cycles, other side-effects with Verton are uncommon. Nausea, abdominal discomfort, headache and weight changes are seldom recorded. Laboratory studies suggest there is no effect on blood-clotting as there is with other oral contraceptives, but it is too early to suggest that this kind of oral contraceptive is completely safe in this regard. There appears to be no long term effect on the endometrium even after three years administration. Further, normal pregnancies occur after discontinuing Verton.

Contra-indications

Although so far it does not appear to have any effect on blood-clotting factors, Verton should not be used in women with a history of thrombosis. It is inadvisable to give Verton to women with liver dysfunction, although it has no effect on liver function in normal women.

Directions for use

Please see comprehensive literature.

Presentation

SYMPOSIUM REPORT ON SEPTRIN*

Since the introduction of SEPTRIN this major advance in antibacterial therapy has had wide clinical success. Experience gained with SEPTRIN in many areas of medicine was discussed at a Symposium held at the Royal College of Physicians, London, in May, 1969†. Here are brief summaries of three comparative trials reported: fuller details are available on request.

†Postgrad. med. J. (1969) in press.

in bronchitis (compared with ampicillin)

SEPTRIN produced objectively determined improvement in patients suffering exacerbations of chronic bronchitis. SEPTRIN was shown to be more effective than ampicillin in its effect in reducing sputum volume and purulence.

in bronchitis (compared with tetracycline)

SEPTRIN was compared with tetracycline in another trial and was shown to provide a more beneficial effect on exacerbations of chronic bronchitis. Again significantly greater reductions in sputum volume and reduction in purulence were observed.

in U.T.I. (compared with ampicillin & sulphadimidine)

CLINICAL RESEARCH

Our Clinical Research Division is responsible for initiating and organising clinical studies of new products in development, including their clinical trials overseas. Owing to the rapid expansion of our overseas interests we are seeking an additional medical practitioner to assist in the planning and administration of clinical investigations in many parts of the world. This work is interesting from both a scientific and clinical viewpoint. He will be based at the Group's Headquarters in London, but some travel will be involved.

Previous experience of similar work in the pharmaceutical industry is desirable but not essential, and a higher medical qualification or research experience would be an advantage. Similarly, a knowledge of languages, particularly in Spanish would be helpful.

The preferred age would be 30 to 40. There are excellent conditions of employment, including a generous pension scheme and the use of a company car.

For further particulars and an application form, please write quoting ref. AM.72 to the Senior Personnel Officer, The Wellcome Foundation Limited, 183 Euston Road, London N.W.1.

IMMUNISATION MEDICAL OFFICER

The Air Corporations Joint Medical Service provides a comprehensive Occupational Health Service for BEA and BOAC. Amongst its activities is an Immunisation Centre for staff and passengers at BOAC Air Terminal, Victoria, London S.W.I. The present occupant of the post retires on the 31st December 1969 and a vacancy will, therefore, exist from that time.

The appointment requires a working knowledge of International Sanitary Regulations and current immunisation practice. The post also has an interesting occupational health content and is particularly suitable for a practitioner at or near the age of retirement, but preferably between the ages of 45 and 55 years who has had previous experience in Public Health or the Armed Services.

All candidates must be medically registered in the U.K.

Salary will be within the B.M.A. medical officer scale and the starting point will be fixed according to age, qualifications and experience. There are opportunities for overseas holiday air travel and there is an excellent contributory pension scheme for those eligible.

The closing date is November 22.

Candidates should write, giving details of age, experience and qualifications, to:-

Manager Selection Services (BMJ/198) PO Box 10. HOUNSLOW, Middlesex.

NEW PRODUCT ANNOUNCEMENT

Duphalac ends the laxative era

Patients with habitual constipation keep taking a laxative, and doctors reluctantly accept the necessity to prescribe them. Now this is about to change. Duphalac ushers in a new era in the management of habitual constipation – the non-laxative era. Because Duphalac is a non-laxative treatment which effects a physiological reconditioning of the bowel

A New Way with Habitual Constipation

Unlike traditional laxatives, which goad the bowel musculature into sporadic action, Duphalac has no direct effect either on the smooth muscle or its innervation. It changes the colonic environment within the colon, which results in normal bowel movement and a softening of the stool. Like a spoonful of sugar . . .

It has long been recognized that in infants a diet containing too much protein in relation to carbohydrate may give rise to obstipation with a characteristic appearance of the stool. This may usually be corrected by adding extra sugar to the baby's food. The gastrointestinal tract of the older patient has become accustomed to a wide variety of dietetic abuses. It is the lucky patient whose constipation is corrected by a spoonful of sugar. Like sugar, lactulose (the active principle of Duphalac) is a disaccharide, but unlike sugar it is a synthetic compound which is not appreciably absorbed after oral ingestion because the enzymes responsible for hydrolizing disaccharides in man do not effect it. The result is that all of the administered dose reaches the colon unchanged and just like the spoonful of sugar in the infant - effectively relieves the constipation.

Most of the flora normally resident in the colon fall into one of two main groups: the saccharolytic bacteria such as lactobacilli, and proteolytic bacteria such as Proteus. Saccharolytic bacteria use carbohydrate as nutrient and tend to lower pH in the gut because they produce lactic and other acids. The proteolytic bacteria break down proteins to amines and ammonia, thus tending to make the pH alkaline. Duphalac serves as a nutrient for the saccharolytic bacteria and thus encourages them to increase their activity, giving rise to a fall in pH of the colonic contents and a marked change in the stool consistency. In clinical terms, the stool becomes softer and the natural peristalsis is restored.

N.B. It should be noted that the physiological reconditioning brought about by Duphalac takes up to 48 hours to produce a normal motion.

The Patients for Duphalac

Duphalac is especially indicated for those patients whose chronic constipation results from a way of life they cannot, or will not, change. Typical of these sufferers from "habitual constipation" are the young girl working in a busy office with a hectic social life and no time for leisure over meals - or for a regular bowel routine.

the elderly patient who cannot be bothered to answer the call to stool and who thus loses the bowel habit.

the busy executive, overworked, always in haste, who cannot allow the time or the tranquillity for proper bowel function

the child with a thousand and one preoccupations which override all but the most urgent calls of nature

Duphalac is presented as a syrup containing lactulose 50% w/w, lactose 5%, galactose 8%, in bottles of 200 ml. and 2 litres.

Full prescribing information will be supplied on request.
