grounds
for optimism

For the depressed patient, optimism about the chances of recovery begins with the first visit to the physician who shows an interest in his case. This optimism can be built upon with the aid of modern antidepressant drugs, enabling the physician to help his patient to a more speedy recovery.

In this respect, 'Concordin' often brings an initial elevation of mood within a week—the patient soon has grounds for greater optimism.

'Concordin' is available as tablets in two strengths: 'Concordin'-10 as white, film-coated tablets (marked 'C10') containing 10 mg protriptyline hydrochloride, in bottles of 100 and 500; 'Concordin'-5 as salmon-red, film-coated tablets (marked 'C5') containing 5 mg protriptyline hydrochloride, in bottles of 100 and 500.

Concordin
Protriptyline hydrochloride

'Concordin' offers many depressed patients these advantages:

- speed of action—improvement often starts within a week
- virtual freedom from sedative activity—the patient on 'Concordin' can continue with normal activities since drowsiness is rare
- no dietary restrictions—'Concordin' is not a MAOI and so the patient can enjoy full freedom in choice of food

Brain's Diseases of the Nervous System

Revised by the late Lord Brain and J. N. Walton

The greater part of the revision of this textbook has been carried out by Professor Walton, who has added a considerable amount of new matter. The chapter on disorders of muscle has been rewritten and a new section has been added dealing with general considerations of the ways in which disorders of nervous function may be brought about. All sections dealing with diagnosis and treatment have been brought up to date and references to recent literature added to most sections.

The first edition of this book was written with the purpose of assisting professional and non-professional workers all over the world who are engaged in malaria eradication programmes or who are being trained in order to join them. This new edition continues this aim and has been brought up to date by the inclusion of recent recommendations of the Expert Committee on Malaria of the World Health Organization.

Although customs and practices vary in different countries there are many fundamental principles which are common to people everywhere. This book has been written to provide basic information to all engaged in public health work in any part of the world, special emphasis being placed on epidemiology and the community aspects of medicine. The increasing complexity of planning, administration and evaluation of health services which has occurred since the last edition has necessitated the inclusion of many new chapters.

A Textbook of Psychosexual Disorders

Clifford Allen

The importance of sexual abnormalities has grown in recent years and is now accepted as a part of medicine. The general practitioner as well as the specialist in branches of medicine other than psychiatry should have a knowledge of the subject. Moreover, its legal and social importance makes it essential that lawyers, sociologists, and probation officers should have a reliable textbook to which they can refer. As far as is known Dr. Allen's book is the only one on psychosexual disorders in any language.

Marriage and Fertility of Women Suffering from Schizophrenia or Affective Disorders

Barbara C. Stevens

This book describes the first survey in England to establish the probability of marriage and fertility of psychiatric patients since the development of community-orientated psychiatry. Over a thousand women suffering from schizophrenia and affective disorders were selected from admissions to a London psychiatric hospital during the years 1955-63, and followed up after discharge to the end of 1966. Probability of marriage of these patients was compared with that of normal women of corresponding age observed during identical calendar periods.

Women Doctors

Thinking of returning to practise?

Hospital work can offer you special advantages.

You may not have been in active practice for a while for family or other reasons. You may be thinking of taking up professional work again, either now or within a year or so.

The hospital service can offer you very real advantages besides providing refresher training for doctors intending to take up or return to hospital posts. Hospitals realise that women doctors with personal or family commitments will wish to undertake part-time rather than full-time work, and will try their best to arrange this. Some hospitals can provide married accommodation and day-care for young children.

If you are interested, now or for the future, please write to the Senior Administrative Medical Officer at the Regional Hospital Board, who would like to know what sort of work you would like to do and your qualifications. You can get the address from the Secretary of your local hospital.

SOLPRIN

He sees no reason to change from Solprin because, like many doctors, he knows that Solprin still maintains its reputation as the most acceptable form of aspirin. He knows that salicylate therapy is still the first choice treatment for rheumatoid arthritis, and that the aspirin in Solprin is an extremely soluble form to minimise the risk of gastric irritation - a point of particular importance when high doses are used.

A recent report from a London teaching hospital demonstrated the anti-inflammatory effect of salicylate in high dosage for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, and comparisons were made with prednisone and paracetamol. Both prednisone and high doses of salicylate produced measurable reduction in joint size, but paracet-amol did not do so. The authors state,

"It is suggested that high dosage of salicylate, unlike low dosage, has a clinically measurable anti-inflammatory effect. If suppression of inflammation is desirable in rheumatoid arthritis high dosage of salicylate is indicated..."

EXACERBATIONS OF BRONCHITIS

offer broad spectrum

PLUS

the benefits of uninterrupted Bisolvon therapy during the bronchitic's acute
infected phases

Bisolvon disrupts the feltwork of AMPS (acid mucopolysaccharide) fibres responsible for the viscosity of mucoid sputum, but takes about ten days of continuous treatment to reach its full effect. The patient should then be producing thinner and less sputum than originally. This beneficial effect of Bisolvon is maintained for as long as treatment continues.

During an infective exacerbation bacterial action causes the breakdown of cells and cell nuclei, producing DNA (desoxyribonucleic acid) fibres and fragmentation of existing AMPS fibres. DNA fibres therefore predominate in purulent sputum.

At this stage it is very important to maintain Bisolvon therapy, together with an effective antibacterial. This ensures that once the infection is brought under control (therefore eliminating DNA fibres) AMPS fibres do not re-form to raise sputum viscosity.

Bisolvomycin capsules, containing Bisolvon with oxytetracycline, have been developed to enable Bisolvon therapy to be conveniently maintained during the bronchitic's infective exacerbations.

Turquoise blue/grey capsules printed with the Company symbol.

Each capsule contains:

Bisolvon (bromhexine hydrochloride) 8mg.
oxytetracycline hydrochloride B.P. 250mg.

Contra-indications

Bisolvon: There are no absolute contra-indications, but observe caution in patients with gastric ulcer.

Oxytetracycline: Known tetracycline allergy; should not be given in pregnancy or in presence of renal or hepatic dysfunction. The concurrent administration of antacids should be avoided.

Precaution

Bisolvon: When patients under treatment for tuberculosis are also receiving Bisolvon, continue sputum cultures for tubercle bacilli for at least 3 months before assuming a negative result.

Oxytetracycline: Teeth staining may occur in children.

Side-effects

Bisolvon: Mild gastro-intestinal side-effects may occasionally be caused. A transient rise in serum transaminase levels may be observed in a few patients. These should fall again with continuation of Bisolvon treatment.

Oxytetracycline: May cause nausea, diarrhoea and symptoms resulting from the overgrowth of resistant organisms; in particular, overgrowth of Candida albicans may cause irritation of mouth, anus or vagina. Drug fever or rashes rarely occur.

FOLIC ACID DEFICIENCY and ANAEMIA OF PREGNANCY

FOLEX-350

CONTAINING FOLIC ACID 350 MICROGRAMS WITH
FERROUS FUMARATE 308 MILLIGRAMS IN EACH TABLET

DOSE

ONE TABLET DAILY THROUGHOUT PREGNANCY

It is now known beyond doubt that megaloblastic anaemia of pregnancy is caused by deficiency of folic acid.

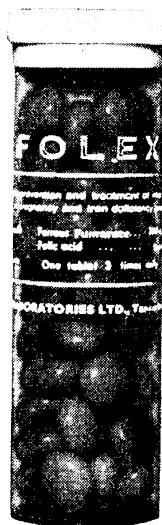

From the very excellent results obtained over the years by the prophylactic use of folic acid and iron given orally from the beginning of pregnancy it is becoming more and more generally accepted that anaemia of pregnancy can be prevented. The question of the optimum dose of folic acid has not been easy to establish but recent work* suggests that not less than 300 mcg. and not more than 400 mcg. daily can be considered adequate.

In the light of this knowledge Folex-350 containing 350 mcg. of folic acid and 308 mg. of ferrous fumarate has been introduced.

Haelan certainly is effective—it contains flurandrenolone, one of the most powerful steroids for topical use. Haelan has the right concentration of flurandrenolone (0.0125%) to resolve most steroid-responsive skin conditions without undue risk of systemic side effects. But there's more to Haelan than that.

Because flurandrenolone is so active, Haelan provides an ample quantity of base for easy application, and the big 60G (2 oz) tube is large enough to treat the average patient without the need for repeat prescriptions. Last, but by no means least, Haelan, at less than 2½d per gramme is clearly economical.

DOCTOR, WILL PROBABLY SUFFER FROM URINARY FREQUENCY...

It is a statistical fact that urinary frequency, the bane of old age, awaits the majority of us.

"Nocturnal frequency of micturition is present in 64% of the total elderly population (70% of males and 61% of females of 65 years and over)."<sup>1</sup>

The results of a recent double-blind crossover trial of Cetiprin suggest that "the drug may alter the established habit of rising at night to pass urine".<sup>2</sup> Cetiprin blocks the innervation and increases bladder capacity but as frequency of urination may have become established as a habit as well as a physiological weakness, it is wise to persist with treatment for at least 14 to 21 days.

Improvement in the patient's condition is manifested by the enjoyment of uninterrupted sleep and a new feeling of physical and mental well-being.

Dosage:

Adults and Geriatric patients:

1. Nightly tenesmus: 100 mg at bedtime. In chronic cases it may be necessary to use 200 mg and reduce the dose when control is established.
2. Urinary frequency and severe incontinence in old people: 100-200 mg three times daily.

Contraindications:

Large residual urine retention; glaucoma; gastric retention. Rarely, dryness of the mouth is an unwanted effect.

Sustanon makes a man a man again in body and in mind

When gonadal activity is inadequate the young or middle-aged male may demonstrate diminished genital structure, and response, to the point of impotence. Understandably the repercussions reach far beyond the purely physical – often playing havoc with the patient's psyche, marriage and career.

Every physician knows how complex is diagnosis of the condition, with the patient frequently hiding the facts not only from his doctor but from himself. Even when the diagnosis is established, therapy is not straightforward and many factors must be considered. Nevertheless with Sustanon a clear, early and sustained response may occur at all levels, physical, mental, and emotional.

Sustanon is preferable to testosterone propionate as of course no single testosterone ester provides both lengthy activity and rapid onset of action. This Sustanon does. Its prolonged activity is such that only an occasional injection is needed to maintain the required therapeutic level.

An aid to oral hygiene

Maintenance of oral hygiene during the post-operative period, especially among geriatric patients, is obviously essential. But at the same time this can prove to be somewhat time-consuming for the nursing staff.

However, recent experience in a London hospital has shown that the patient can help to provide his own nursing care, with the minimum of effort.

This experience covers patients who are fed intravenously and post-operative cases who find normal eating and drinking difficult. These patients often exhibit signs of mouth infection very quickly, and treatment for this can often cause considerable discomfort.

A more pleasant treatment is possible in many cases, for it has been found that giving the patient chewing gum promotes salivary gland activity. Patients are encouraged to chew gum at two-hourly periods, and this treatment frequently allays the symptoms and produces a considerable improvement in the condition of the tongue and mucosa. Quite striking results have been noted after carrying out this treatment for a 24-hour period.

ANTIBIOTICS AND THE INTESTINAL FLORA

Treatment with broad spectrum antibiotics suppresses the normal flora, which may be replaced by abnormal resistant organisms causing diarrhoea.

This change can be prevented or reversed by the implantation of Lactobacillus acidophilus which has been rendered antibiotic-resistant, and is thus able to multiply freely under these abnormal conditions. The products of growth of the organism are inimical to that of many other bacteria<sup>1,2</sup> and thus contribute to its rapid preponderance over other species.

Oral treatment with antibiotic-resistant L. acidophilus in the form of ENPAC has been shown to eliminate Candida from the faeces of infants with antibiotic-induced diarrhoea, with relief of symptoms succeeded by rapid gain in weight<sup>3</sup> and greatly to reduce the numbers of staphylococci in the faeces of patients treated with tetracyclines.<sup>4</sup>

An indisputable argument for our 16TS.

We took the figures from an AA 'Road Test'*. They obviously think this Renault is pretty good. And they're right.

A Renault 16TS, with front-wheel drive and its five-bearing, 1½ litre aluminium engine, will cruise you silently at around 90 miles an hour for as long as you like (chance would be a fine thing, but when you get the chance, you've got the speed).

Inside it's pretty good too. The seats we had specially designed for serious drivers. We've given you fully reclining seats in the front and they're deep, soft and comfortable however fast and far you go.

All the controls are placed where they're easiest to read and reach.

And the 16TS has superb, servo-assisted brakes with a pressure limiter operating on the rear wheels.

Something that's always nice to know, especially when you're hitting 102.

The extra grip of radial-ply tyres makes the going extra smooth and sure.

And the faultless all-round independent suspension means you can load up to 25½ cu. ft. and never be loaded down (or feel the bumps).

You want some little extras for nothing? How about a heated rear window, rear doors with childproof safety locks, a heater and demister, fresh-air ventilation, four-jet screen washers, a sealed cooling system with antifreeze already in, a rev. counter, an anti-theft steering lock, an alternator, a clock and a cigar lighter?

If you like, add an electrically operated sunroof and very smooth electrically operated windows.

For those you pay a bit more.

But when you think of everything else we give you for £1,203, who's arguing?

A full-time postgraduate course lasting ten weeks will begin on January 14, 1970. These courses are held three times a year starting in October, January and April. Each course includes instruction in general medicine, paediatrics, preventive medicine, pathology, physiology, orthopaedics and general surgery. Unpaid clinical attachments can be arranged at the end of the course for students requiring a longer period of training, but these are normally reserved for students sponsored by some official body.

It is sometimes possible to accept general practitioners for one or two weeks of a course, and attendance for this period is recognized under Section 63 of the Health Services and Public Health Act, 1968. These courses are also recognized under the special scheme for the re-training for general practice of doctors who have been out of the Health Service for at least five years.

SERVICES

Flying Doctor.

The man climbing into the helicopter is a doctor who qualified last year. He wanted to see something of the world, so he joined the Royal Navy as a Surgeon Lieutenant on a 5-year commission.

Now he's a G.P. on board the helicopter support ship Engadine, enjoying travel and all the varied activities and responsibilities of a Naval Officer. He's gaining first-hand experience of cases which he'd rarely encounter at home, besides good solid on-shore experience looking after Naval families (including midwifery) and working in Naval Hospitals.

Join the Navy as a young doctor and you're still a young doctor when you are ready to choose whether to make a Full Career of the service or to go into civil practice. But a lot more experienced.

How you can join.

As a student at any time after passing 2nd M.B.

If accepted for a 5-year commission, you will immediately start at £821 p.a. plus allowances (and there's a tax free gratuity of £3,000 at the end).

Any time from your pre-registration year onwards.

You may join for a 3 or 5-year Short Service commission—which can be extended if you so wish. As a fully registered doctor, your civilian experience counts towards your seniority.

Write for more information to the address below giving your age and qualifications, and we'll be glad to arrange an interview.

Orders for specific grades cannot be accepted. Payment must be PREPAID and enclosed with application.

What's in the R.A.F. for a young doctor?

Interesting out-of-the-rut medicine

The typical R.A.F. station doctor is a G.P. — with probably a lot of experience in pediatrics! He also has important responsibilities in aviation medicine, public health and industrial health. He does much more preventive work than most civilian doctors are able to do. There are wide opportunities for hospital practice — 47% of R.A.F. doctors are now working in specialist departments.

The chance to travel

You could live and work abroad, in many different conditions and climates, treating not only R.A.F. personnel and their families, but local populations. Your gain in clinical experience would be marked.

... a fair crack of the whip for the Doctor's wife

A Doctor's wife is a Doctor's wife. She should not also have to be his telephone-answerer, appointment-maker, dispenser and general auxiliary! In the R.A.F., these things are done by professionals: the typical R.A.F. doctor, on a typical R.A.F. station, works in a fully equipped Medical Centre, which he shares with another doctor; between them they would probably have about 12 staff — secretarial as well as nursing.

£3,000 (tax free) after 5 years

In the first case, you would probably join the R.A.F. for 5 years. If you decide to go back to civil life at the end of this time, you would take with you a tax-free honorarium of £3,000. (You might of course wish to stay on: you can apply after the first year.) Now for income: suppose you are a married man of 25, fully registered. If you were in the R.A.F., your income would be at least £2,522 p.a. The R.A.F. would probably provide you with a house, furnished right down to the last coffee-cup; for this, the rent would be £16 a month.

To find out more please write, giving your age, nationality, qualifications and date of full registration with General Medical Council, to The Directorate General of Medical Services, RAF (MA1 (RAF)), Ministry of Defence (724QS3), 1-6 Tavistock Square, London W.C.1.
