Concordin® Tryptizol®

Protriptyline hydrochloride MSD

Amitriptyline hydrochloride MSD

for listless, withdrawn depressives

They complain they're always tired and have no energy. They don't want to go anywhere or do anything. Bored, apathetic and withdrawn, they have few if any symptoms of anxiety—the symptoms of depression predominate.

These are the very patients for whom 'Concordin' offers special advantages—improvement often begins within a week ☐ a prompt return to normal interests in many patients ☐ essentially free from sedative activity ☐

for anxious depressives

They may complain of always feeling on edge. They are often so worried that they can't sleep properly—they tend to wake up in the early hours and brood. Anxiety may mask an underlying depression—but both demand early treatment.

'Tryptizol' is more appropriate for many patients where anxiety predominates—

☐ anxiety and agitation are quickly relieved
☐ disturbed patterns of sleep are rapidly improved
☐ the underlying depressed mood is lifted

GERMICIDES

The Surgical Scrub was selected for use in the decontamination procedures following lunar missions. All the Betadine germicidal preparations, contain povidine iodine conforming to the specification of the USNF.

Betadine germicides rapidly destroy all major classes of pathogens, but do not sting, stain or irritate the skin or open wounds. Betadine germicides are lethal to Gram-positive and Gram-negative bacteria (including antibiotic resistant strains), viruses, protozoa and fungi in 15-30 seconds. Betadine formulations even kill resistant spores within 60 minutes of contact.

This is the BETADINE range of clinically proven germicides:
Surgical Scrub
Antiseptic Solution
Aerosol Spray
Ointment
Scalp Lotion
Vaginal Gel and Vaginal Douche Solution
Other Betadine specialities are now in research

As from 1st February, 1971, after a period under licence, all Betadine antiseptic preparations will be distributed by Napp Laboratories Limited – a member of the international group of pharmaceutical companies which has demonstrated the exceptional clinical value of povidine iodine (PVP-1).

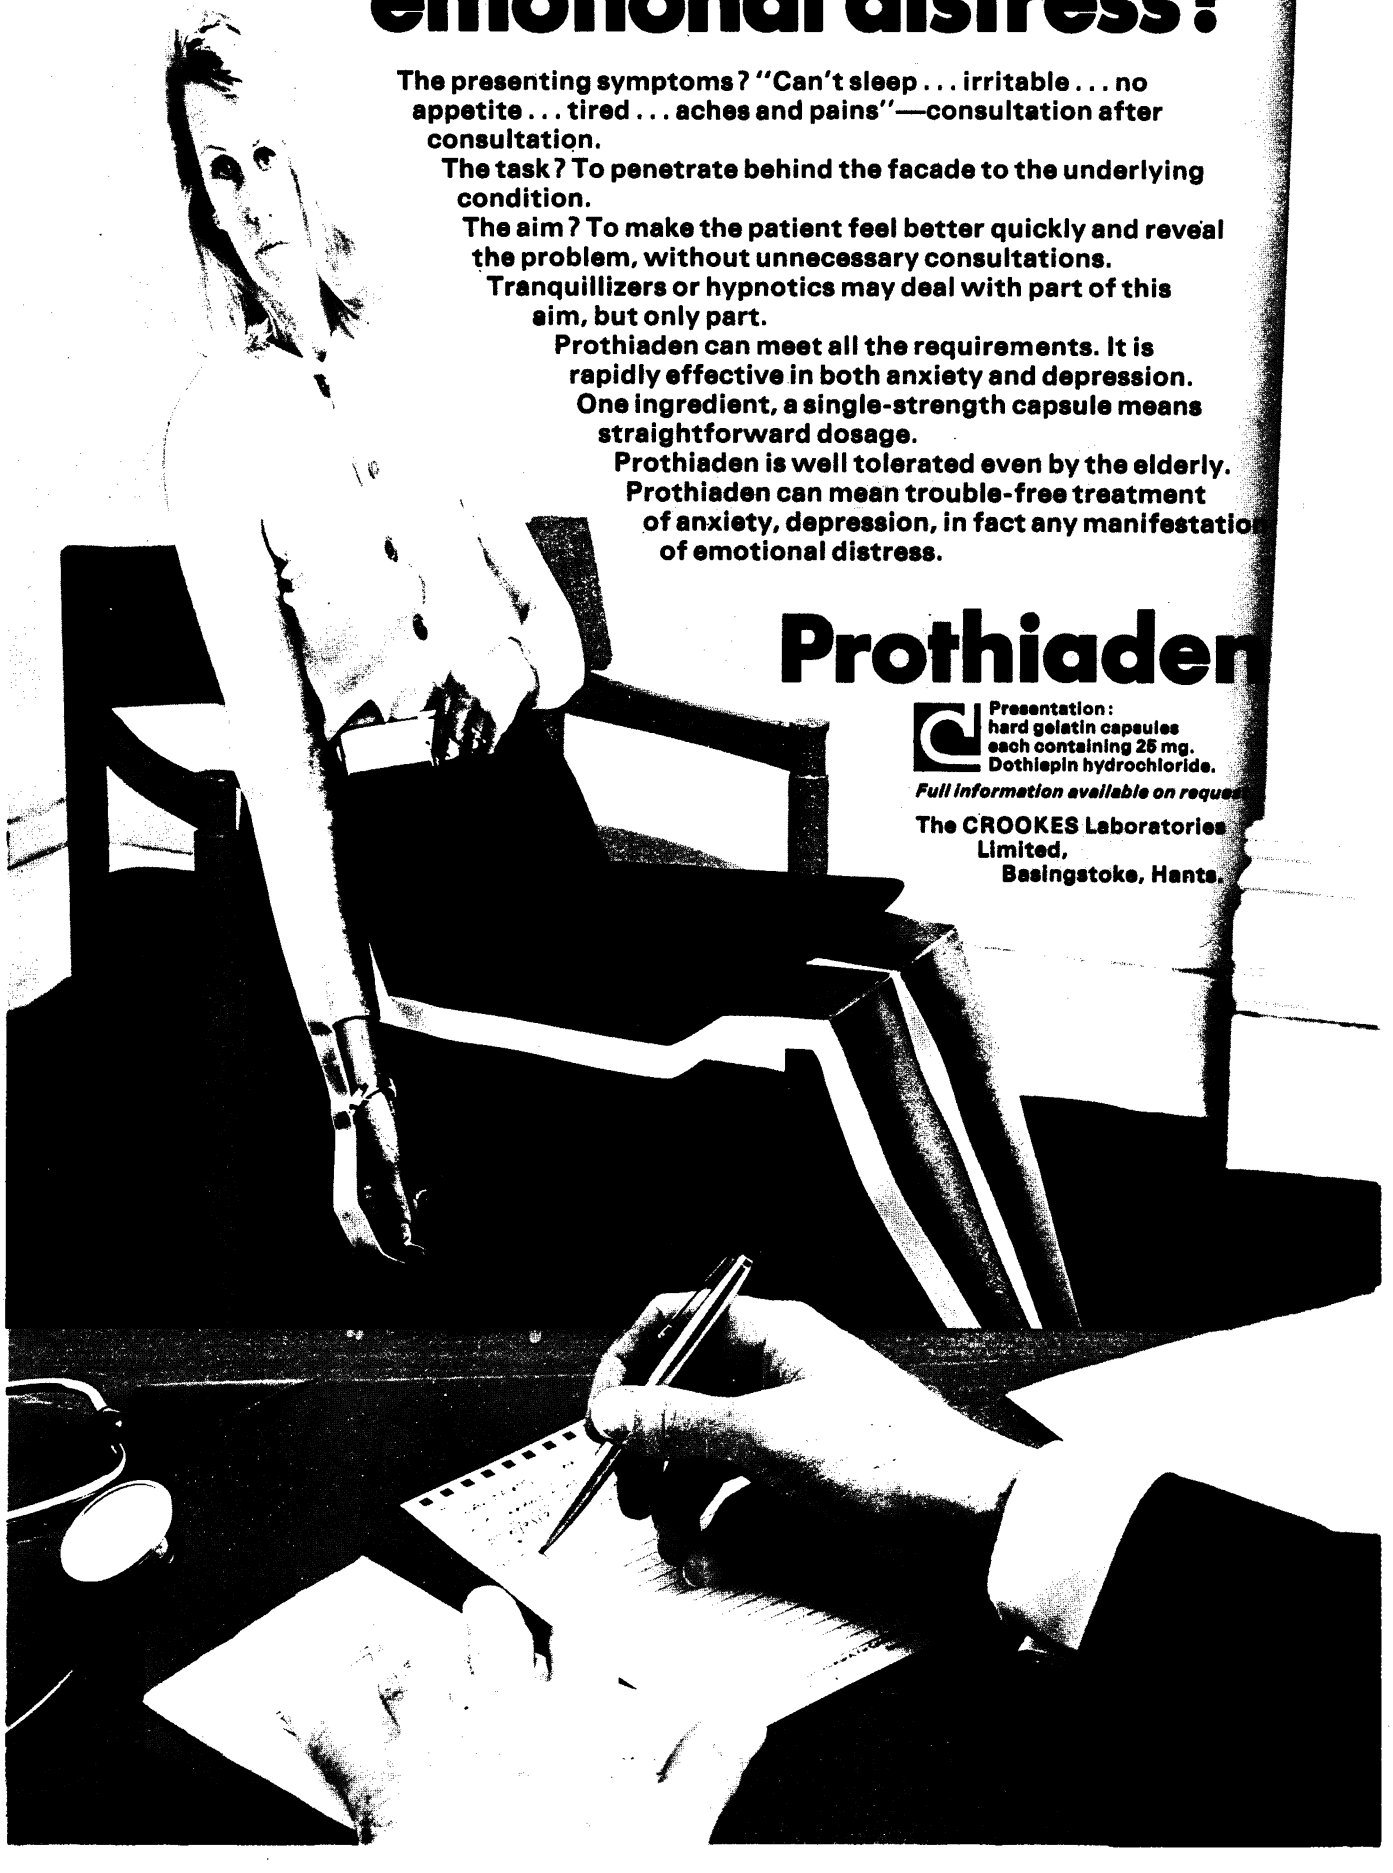
What is the word for emotional distress?



The presenting symptoms? "Can't sleep . . . irritable . . . no appetite . . . tired . . . aches and pains"—consultation after consultation.

The task? To penetrate behind the facade to the underlying condition.

The aim? To make the patient feel better quickly and reveal the problem, without unnecessary consultations.

Tranquillizers or hypnotics may deal with part of this aim, but only part.

Prothiaden can meet all the requirements. It is rapidly effective in both anxiety and depression.

One ingredient, a single-strength capsule means straightforward dosage.

Prothiaden is well tolerated even by the elderly.

Prothiaden can mean trouble-free treatment of anxiety, depression, in fact any manifestation of emotional distress.

HAPPILY EVER AFTER

'Keflex' offers a combination of effectiveness and safety which is unsurpassed by any other antibiotic.

No reports of teeth staining or renal damage, a very low incidence of rash and gastro-intestinal disturbance make it particularly suitable for the treatment of bacterial infections in children. Add broad-spectrum, bactericidal action and resistance to penicillinase and it's easy to see why so many children recover so quickly with so few complications after 'Keflex' therapy.

'Keflex' Suspension is supplied in 100 ml bottles containing 125 mg cephalexin (as the monohydrate) per 5 ml. 'Keflex' is also available for older children and adults as capsules each containing 250 mg cephalexin (as the monohydrate).

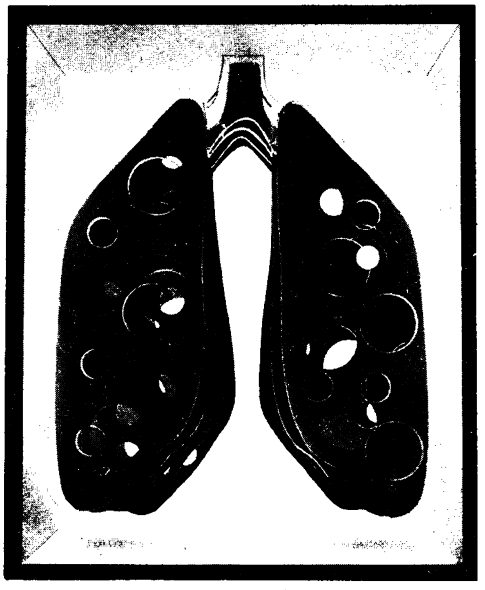
in bronchitis more effective than ampicillin or tetracycline



Compared with ampicillin

In a controlled single-blind trial involving 50 patients with chronic bronchitis SEPTRIN* was shown to be more effective than ampicillin, with reference to reduction of sputum volume and purulence.

Sputum volume reduction

There was a significantly greater reduction in mean sputum volume after treatment with SEPTRIN than after treatment with ampicillin.

Sputum purulence reduction

23 out of 24 cases with purulent sputum receiving SEPTRIN improved (using MRC sputum grading) as compared with 16 cases out of 22 cases with purulent sputum receiving ampicillin who improved in this respect. The success rate for SEPTRIN was significantly higher than for ampicillin.

Clinical improvement

Clinically, 24 out of 25 cases receiving SEPTRIN responded as compared with 19 out of 25 receiving ampicillin.

Reference: Postgrad med J, (1969) 45, Supplement (November) 86.

Compared with tetracycline

In a trial designed to compare the effect of SEPTRIN with that of tetracycline in the treatment of chronic bronchitis, it was found that a week's course with SEPTRIN was more beneficial than a week's course of tetracycline.

24 patients received SEPTRIN and 22 received tetracycline, and objective data was collected from the two groups at the beginning and at the end of treatment.

Sputum volume

The decrease in mean sputum volume after treatment, as a fraction of the initial measurements, was significantly larger for the SEPTRIN group.

Sputum purulence

Objective grading of reduction in purulence of the sputum showed better results with SEPTRIN than with tetracycline at the end of treatment.

Reference: Postgrad med J. (1969) 45, Supplement, (November) 91.

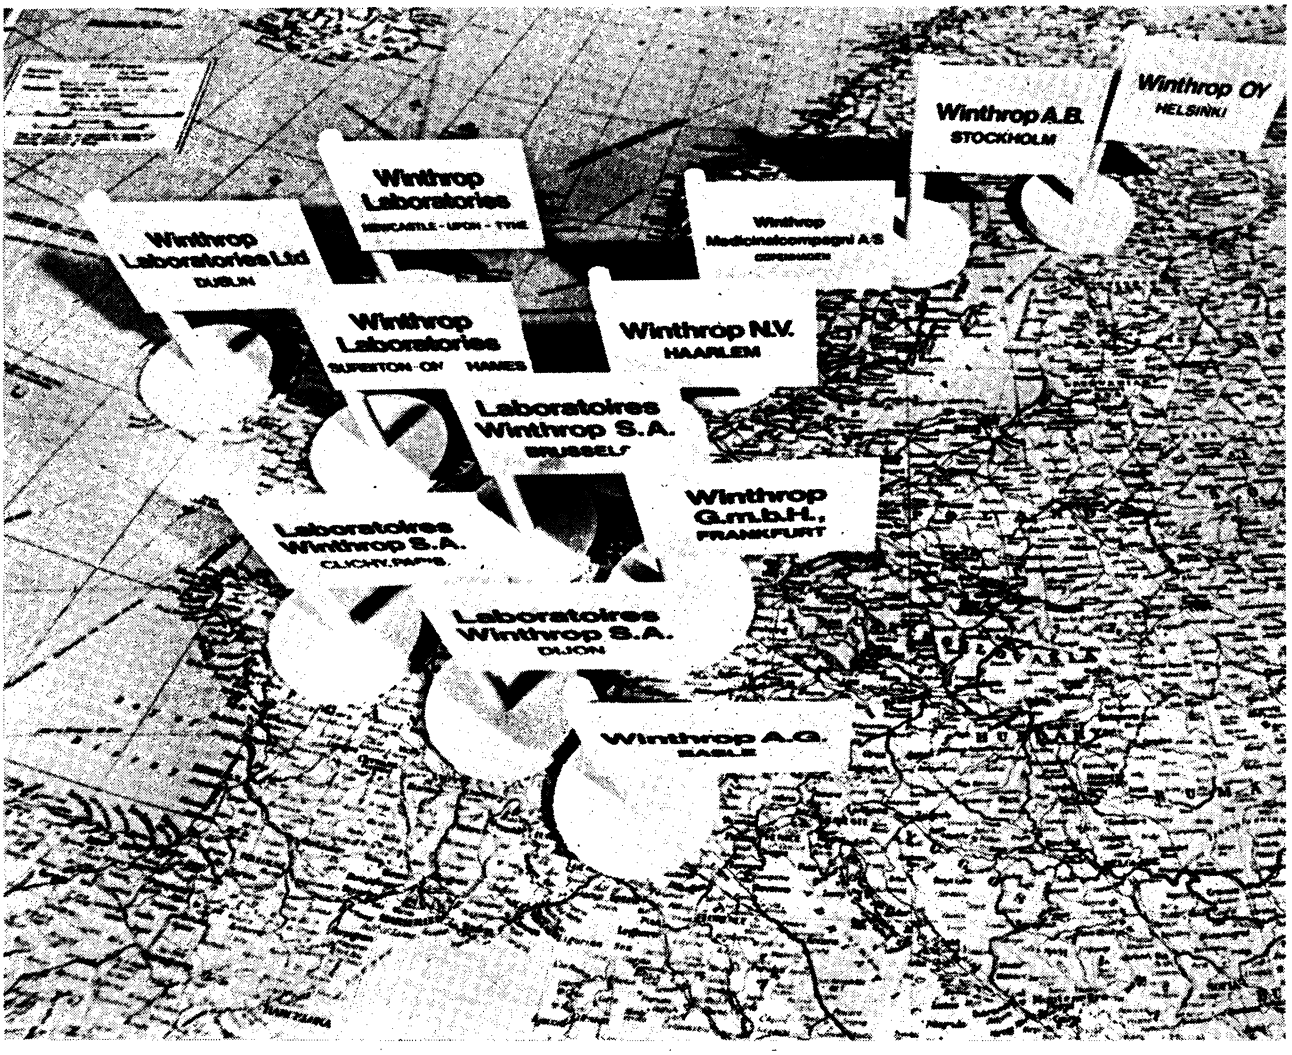
We didn't join our common market–

we founded it!



We don't want to sound smug about it—but long before the Common Market became a national talking-point we went out and founded our own. It wasn't easy of course and let's face it we made plenty of mistakes along the way. But by the late '50s we had already established marketing organisations in ten different European countries.

Today, our sales to the Continent exceed those in the U.K. and we're extremely proud that our exports have made a useful contribution to Britain's balance of payments. We're even prouder to have been one of the first pharmaceutical companies honoured by The Queen's Award to Industry for its export achievements. But we're proudest of all to think that British made products like Fortral, Negram and Hexopal 500 are playing an important part in combating disease from the Arctic Circle to the Mediterranean.

Magnified section of skin on ichthyotic forearm.

Love at first sight...

The hyperkeratotic skin presents the physician with a dermatological problem with very high and pressing psychological and social overtones. Not the least of the merits of Calmurid is the speed with which it controls dry, rough, scaly skin.

The difficulty of combining sufficiently high concentrations of urea in a suitable base and still maintaining its stability under normal conditions has been overcome by exclusive manufacturing and formulation techniques perfected by Pharmacia. Now for the first time, urea in a stable emulsified form is available for the effective treatment of dominant and sex-linked ichthyosis, and other hyperkeratotic conditions.

Besides having exceptionally good keratolytic properties, Calmurid is designed to retain moisture in the skin by increasing the concentration of the water binding substances, urea and betaine. The direct result is that the skin becomes softer and assumes a natural appearance.[1]

The acidity of Calmurid, together with the bactericidal and fungicidal properties of urea protect against infection. Calmurid is non-toxic, non-allergenic and causes no sensitivity problems.

...but not at second

Composition
Carbamide (urea) B.P. 10%.
Stabilising emulsified basis to 100g.

Indications
Dry and hyperkeratotic skin conditions, especially ichthyosis vulgaris and sex-linked ichthyosis; as adjunct therapy in atopic eczema.

Contraindications
None. The cream contains substances natural to the body. No adverse reaction has ever been reported.

Unwanted effects
Possibly a mild burning sensation immediately after the first application, if the skin surface is raw. Local anaesthetic properties of carbamide makes this of short duration. It is not likely to occur with subsequent applications.

Application
Apply a thick layer twice daily to the affected areas. Leave for 3 to 5 minutes to allow penetration before smoothing. The application must be after washing or bathing. Calmurid is non-greasy and disappears quickly on application. Once the skin responds to treatment the frequency of application may be reduced.

Initial complaint: insomnia real problem: despair

Anxiety symptoms often mask depressive states.

Miss D: "I sat there all night, despairing. I couldn't sleep. I couldn't jump. I didn't want to live. Why make me live . . ."

Suicidal tendencies, guilt, apathy; aspects of depression not always revealed at the first consultation. Miss D complained of insomnia and might well have been given a tranquillizer if her doctor hadn't probed a little deeper and hit the button that revealed her despair – and the need for an antidepressant as well.

Many patients show symptoms of anxiety when their slowly increasing depression begins to affect their performance. On the other hand, long periods of stress may give rise to a depressive state. Treat such patients purely for anxiety – and their depression may get worse: treat them for depression alone – and they can become severely agitated. When anxiety precedes, hides, or accompanies depression Limbitrol* is indicated to deal with both aspects of the anxiety/depression syndrome.

*Medihaler-duo... "may have an additional margin of safety"

British Medical Journal 5th December 1970

"The present results suggest that the changes in blood gases represent an improvement in the physiological state of the patients studied.

The combination aerosol* has a satisfactory bronchodilator effect, and may have an additional margin of safety if used by a severely hypoxic patient unaware of the seriousness of his condition."

This new evidence confirms that Medihaler-duo is significantly different from other bronchodilator inhalers in preventing adverse changes in the blood gas picture in most patients.

In this latest paper the significant improvement following Medihaler-duo is contrasted with "well documented evidence" of falls in blood oxygenation caused by inhaled isoprenaline, orciprenaline and salbutamol.

Let the blood flow through

In the treatment of ischaemia due to intermittent claudication, cerebral arteriosclerosis and vasospastic disorders, Bradilan® has achieved excellent results. Because Bradilan employs tetranicotinoylfructose, the molecule of which is gradually hydrolised in the intestine, release is smooth and even – with no peaks or troughs. Consequently, efficient and prolonged vasodilation is maintained, with less risk of over dilation in flush areas. For the same reason, headaches are a rare occurrence. Bradilan acts directly on vessel walls and is especially indicated when ischaemia is due to vasospasm. Ideally, treatment should be continued for at least 12 weeks so that progress can be realistically evaluated.

Glaxo brief

In bronchopneumonia make Ceporex your first choice

A patient has bronchopneumonia, probably due to mixed infection. You prescribe Ceporex. With its wide-spectrum activity against the majority of gram-positive and gram-negative organisms that cause respiratory infections, oral Ceporex has given very high clinical success rates. It is rapidly and virtually completely absorbed and attains very high blood levels within an hour of administration. Ceporex is extremely well tolerated, even when treatment is prolonged, and has very low toxicity. It can be considered where penicillin hypersensitivity is present.

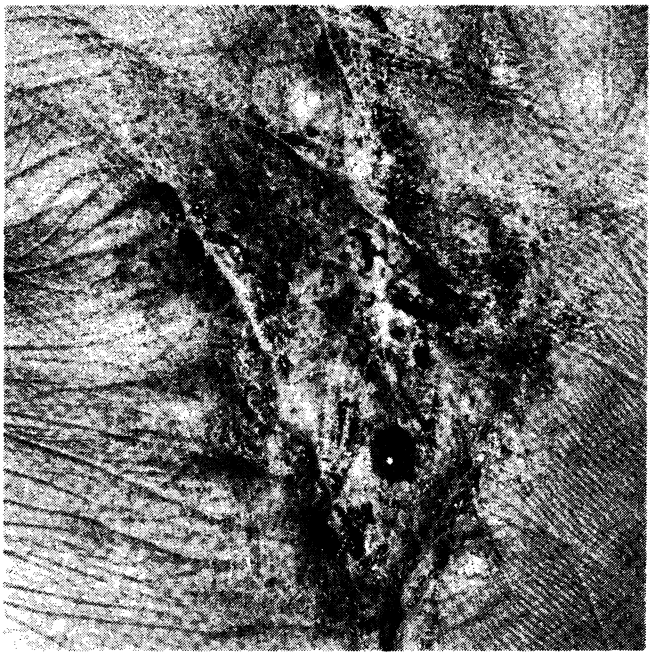
All new Ostermilk packs carry the revised tables. Second, the illustrations that form part of the mixing instructions have been picked out in white to make them even easier to follow. Betnovate anti-infectives When infection complicates matters



Glaxo took the success of Betnovate and combined it with a range of antimicrobials to clear up a whole variety of steroid-responsive dermatoses complicated by infection. There's Betnovate-C (with clioquinol), Betnovate-N (with neomycin) and Betnovate-A (with aureomycin). Together they provide you with a comprehensive range of products. Betnovate anti-infectives will often achieve a favourable response where other topical steroids have failed, and relatively responsive dermatoses are likely to respond quicker to Betnovate than to anything else. Short-term therapy on low-cost Betnovate is a small price to pay for success.

Laboratory reports have shown that higher and more persistent B_{12} serum levels are obtained with hydroxocobalamin (Neo-Cytamen) than with cyanocobalamin.[1] A report of a study of patients on maintenance treatment for pernicious anaemia concluded that "1,000 micrograms of hydroxocobalamin every three months should be adequate."[2]

Glaxo brief

Penicillin therapy is easier with Crystapen G

In strep. throats and acute tonsillitis, Crystapen G provides effective treatment. Crystapen G Tablets are easier to swallow because they're film-coated. They're also unmistakable because they're overprinted with both the name and the strength. Crystapen G Syrup (125 mg or 250 mg/5 ml) contains twenty doses per 100 ml bottle, and has a pleasant fruit flavour. With Crystapen G it's easy to prescribe effective penicillin therapy – without being expensive!

Diseases of the Joints

Arthritis and rheumatism are common complaints, even if patients are often vague about the exact meaning of the terms they use. In the last few years the diagnosis of joint disorders has become more exact, while the introduction of local and systemic steroid therapy and the powerful non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs has revolutionized treatment. In an attempt to bring doctors up to date in this field, the B.M.J. published in 1969 a series of short articles giving practical advice on the common disorders of the joints. The articles have now been revised by their authors and collected together to form this handbook on the management of arthritis.
