TALKING OF HOLIDAYS

It does seem strange that at a time of year like Christmas which is so expensive—with presents, parties, New Year's Eve festivities and quarterly accounts—that so much attention should be given to planning summer holidays. As a safety valve, though, maybe this is a good thing, but apart from that it is of course essential as the best hotels, villas, tours, and cruises are so rapidly booked up.

Nothing is likely to stop the flow of traffic to the Continent where one is more or less assured of sunshine unless there is a change in climatic patterns causing the British Isles constantly to receive the same share of warm weather that was enjoyed this year. The only people who are not too weather-conscious are the golfing enthusiasts because nowhere can they play on a wider range of courses or a greater number in such close proximity to the sea, mountains, or moorlands.

Package tours, despite a certain amount of adverse publicity this year, will be as popular as ever, and are offering greater and more varied programmes of interesting countries, islands, and resorts. An early visit to a travel agency or direct to the operators is advised. The position regarding booking a car ferry across the Channel is improving and services are increasing in number and frequency. Normandy Ferries have arranged a simple schedule from Southampton to Le Havre of two sailings a day each way, one of which is at night. As their two ships "Dragon" and "Leopard" provide ample and comfortable sleeping accommodation, it is possible to take the maximum advantage of daylight motoring for both the journeys out and back. Le Havre is a very convenient place for those motoring to Spain, France, or Italy. Southampton is an extremely accessible port from most parts of England. Southern Ferries have regular sailings in the ferry vessel "Eagle" to Lisbon, and until the end of June and from mid-September to Tangier. The popularity of villa holidays shows no signs of being on the wane, in fact to the contrary. More attention is being paid to details and the convenience and ease of travel to and fro. This is of considerable importance to the family man as children can find long journeys tedious. Villas can be rented, apparently, everywhere from Brittany to the West Indies. The advantages, particularly for a family man, are many. There is so much more freedom, meals when you choose and baby-sitters and maid service are usually obtainable. Most wives enjoy the fascination of shopping in local markets and the opportunity of meeting the local people.

B.M.J. Publications

Practical Psychiatry

Most doctors who have been qualified for more than ten years received very little training in psychiatry as medical students. Yet psychiatric problems confront all those practising clinical medicine. The articles collected together in this book were written for the B.M.J. to give practical advice to general practitioners and others on how to recognize and cope with the more common forms of mental disorder. Many patients are anxious or depressed; when should the doctor try to do something about it? This is the sort of question the authors set out to answer. As far as possible they have avoided the use of psychiatric jargon, and case histories have been used freely to illustrate the points made. Any doctor who feels ignorant about psychological medicine will find here a readable introduction to the practical aspects of clinical psychiatry.

PRICE 75p. (U.S.A. $2.50), including postage

Diseases of the Joints

Arthritis and rheumatism are common complaints, even if patients are often vague about the exact meaning of the terms they use. In the last few years the diagnosis of joint disorders has become more exact, while the introduction of local and systemic steroid therapy and the powerful non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs has revolutionized treatment. In an attempt to bring doctors up to date in this field, the B.M.J. published in 1969 a series of short articles giving practical advice on the common disorders of the joints. The articles have now been revised by their authors and collected together to form this handbook on the management of arthritis.

PRICE 75p. (U.S.A. $2.50), including postage

Diseases of the Urinary Tract

One of the most rapidly growing specialties over the last few years has been that of urology. Many doctors now in practice could not have been taught much of the present-day management of many urinary tract diseases. Last year the B.M.J. published a series of "Current Practice" articles on diseases in the urinary tract, and these have now been collected together in a booklet. Beside articles on the newer aspects of the specialty, the booklet contains articles on established methods of managing renal disorders. Any doctor who wishes to bring himself up to date on modern practice in this field will find this a readable account of the important aspects of the specialty.

Penidural^{*}

puts the treat
in treatment

PENIDURAL takes all the tears and tantrums out of a child's medicine time. Its delicious raspberry flavour goes down a treat, and its eight-hour dosage scheme ensures all-night protection; there's no need to wake children in the middle of the night. PENIDURAL provides effective serum levels of penicillin G—still the most useful antibiotic in general practice. Each 5 ml. of PENIDURAL contains 225 mg. Benzathine Penicillin B.P. (equivalent to 300,000 units Penicillin G). Supplied in bottles of 100 ml. Further information is available on request.

Emotional distress.

The facade of vague symptoms presented by the depressed, anxious patient makes diagnosis and choice of therapy a particular challenge. For first line treatment, three factors are invaluable:

- Effectiveness against both anxiety and depression.
- Minimal side effects and no dietary restrictions.
- Patient acceptance.

Prothiaden has been shown¹ to be a real advance in combining all these features, in one substance, one strength capsule.

MANCHESTER REGIONAL HOSPITAL BOARD

SENIOR REGISTRAR IN PSYCHIATRY
tenable in the Salford Group of Hospitals, mainly at Hope Hospital, Salford. Applications are invited from doctors holding the D.P.M. for a post providing exceptional opportunities for experience and training in community aspects of psychiatry. The appointee will be attached to a comprehensive community psychiatric service. This includes an active general hospital unit, close to Central Manchester, with in-patient, out-patient and day hospital facilities. The unit also has beds in a nearby psychiatric hospital, and there is a close association with all aspects of the local authority mental health service. Experience is also available within the service in child psychiatry and mental subnormality. The service has a postgraduate association with the University of Salford and excellent opportunities exist for undertaking higher degrees at either Salford or Manchester Universities. The appointee may be required to rotate to another psychiatric unit in the Manchester area at a later date to broaden his experience and continue his training, but rotation would not involve a change of residence.

Application forms from the Senior Administrative Medical Officer to the Board, Gateway House, Piccadilly South, Manchester M60 7LE to be returned by 12th January, 1972. (16239) 44-5

Readers are reminded that prescribers' literature and clinical information are always available from advertisers on request.

“Doctors who keep getting called out to Resistant Chests should call in the wider spectrum of Ledermycin.”

Resistant chests—those stubborn chest infections that prove hard to shift—may well need the extra power of long-acting Ledermycin, the tetracycline that attacks a wider range of organisms than any other.

Levius

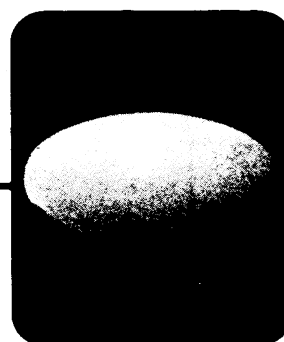

Magnification x 15

*Microcapsules magnified 250 times.
The coating can be clearly seen*

Each tablet contains 35,000 microgranules of aspirin individually protected by a coating of inert ethylcellulose

The ethylcellulose coating is designed to protect the gastric mucosa against the irritant action of aspirin without reducing the effectiveness of the drug. Aspirin is released through the coating of the microgranules at a controlled rate enabling relief of pain to be prolonged.
