ALLERGIC RHINITIS

A completely fresh approach

The unique way in which sodium cromoglycate prevents asthmatic reactions has been the subject of over 150 clinical trials. Prompted by this success, more recent investigators have shown that, in the form of RYNACROM, sodium cromoglycate has a similar protective effect on the nasal mucosa and can provide year-round prophylaxis in allergic rhinitis²

RYNACROM is not a decongestant, anticholinergic, antihistamine or steroid. Its action is unlike any other form of treatment.

In the face of challenge – pollen, house dust, feathers, pets, etc. – RYNACROM (sodium cromoglycate) prevents the degranulation of those cells which would normally rupture and release histamine and inflammatory agents. Thus regular insufflation of RYNACROM provides continuous prophylaxis from a condition which, hitherto, has been difficult to control symptomatically and even more difficult to prevent. A number of patients who have failed to respond to other forms of treatment have greatly benefited from RYNACROM!

RYNACROM does not produce inconvenient side effects associated with conventional therapy.

As the weather worsens, demands on your time increase. This winter you can relieve some of the pressure by prescribing Magnapen for the more serious chest infections which you see. For acute-on-chronic bronchitis. For pneumonia. For infections following flu.

Magnapen gives you a greater chance of first time success in these serious cases because it is active against virtually all bacteria encountered in General Practice. So you can rely on Magnapen even when there are no laboratory reports to guide you.

In the Nobrium general practice survey 228 British GPs studied 691 patients with anxiety, most of whom kept a subjective record of their progress. Both the GPs and the patients recorded a substantial remission of symptoms with Nobrium (a total pretherapy symptom score of 9167 was reduced to 3888). A detailed analysis of these results is now being circulated to all general practitioners under the title of the Nobrium general practice survey: Results in 691 patients

The sports car doctors prefer.

The Ford Escort Mexico, that notorious red hot rally winner, is beginning to reveal a new side to its character.

When we first supplied a number of Mexicos, fitted with the luxury Custom Pack to one of our specially appointed Rallye Sport dealers, he sold most of them to doctors.

But then the Escort Mexico fitted with a Custom Pack has everything a doctor needs:

An extremely well appointed limousine interior, well in keeping with making an impression on students and patients, and the kind of performance that will zip any doctor round his rounds in next to no time (0-50 in under 8 seconds and over the ton shortly after that — always assuming you can find somewhere to do the ton).

So if you're thinking of changing cars, don't bother going to the garage for advice. Ask your doctor instead.

Besides the luxurious all-extras-included Custom Pack, the standard Mexico specification includes servo-assisted disc/drum brakes, specially strengthened and engineered body, 1600 GT engine, alternator, Weber twin choke carb and radial ply tyres on 5½" safety rim wheels. Also available is the Escort RS 1600, similar in specification to the Mexico but featuring a 115bhp detuned formula 2 twin overhead cam 4 valve per cylinder engine, which produces a phenomenal 0-50 in 6.4 sec. and a top speed nearly 50mph over the legal limit. The Escort Mexico is priced from £1229.00. The Mexico illustrated is fitted with 'Special Build' flared wheel arches and 6" wheels at extra cost.

Clinical experience with chemotherapeutic agents*

Studies of 6,500 cases treated with cephalexin

A further 5,000 patients had been treated with cephalexin and reported in the world literature since a review of more than 1,500 cases was presented to the Sixth International Congress on Chemotherapy.

The infections reported were of the urinary tract (2,238); lower respiratory tract (1,235); ear, nose and throat (892); skin and soft tissue (610); genitals (959); septicaemia (28); endocarditis (4); osteo-articular infections (87); biliary tract infections (13); peritonitis (11); and intestinal infections (45). Satisfactory responses included (a) clinical and bacteriological cure and, (b) clinical cure or marked clinical improvement without full bacteriological clearance. A summary of the results obtained with infections of urinary and lower respiratory tracts, is given in the tables below:

Urinary tract infections treated with cephalexin

Infection	Number	Per cent satisfactory response
Cystitis, acute or simple	216	92
Cystitis, chronic or complicated	105	57
Pyelonephritis, acute or simple	222	88
Pyelonephritis, chronic or complicated	440	77
Unspecified	1,255	87

*Summary of papers presented at the VIIth International Congress of Chemotherapy, Prague, August 1971.

Lower respiratory infections treated with cephalexin

Infection	Number	Per cent satisfactory response
Pneumonia/bronchopneumonia	345	91
Bronchitis, acute	134	94
Chronic bronchitis/bronchiectasis	326	87
Lung abscess/empyema	32	81
Unspecified	416	87

The presenters of the survey emphasised the need for the dosage to be adequate — particularly in lower respiratory infections. A statistically significant difference had been shown in favour of using 3 G to 4 G a day compared with 2 G a day for the treatment of these infections.

In most of the acute infections treated cephalexin had given excellent results. In certain chronic infections, particularly of the lung and bone, the response was not so rapid, but when treatment had been prolonged, clinical results had been very good. The adoption of higher doses, 4 G to 6 G or more daily, had widened the scope of cephalexin in the field of severe infections such as septicaemia and endocarditis. The results so far obtained with such infections had been encouraging although the number of cases treated was relatively small.

Even when cephalexin had been used in high dosage or for long periods, the tolerance had been good. Only rarely had treatment been discontinued because of side effects. When side effects had occurred they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment. Changes in haematological and biological parameters had been infrequent. There had been no evidence of nephrotoxicity. Cephalexin had been used successfully and safely in patients with impaired renal function, although accumulation of the antibiotic might occur in such patients unless dosage were decreased according to the creatinine clearance.

94% success rate with cephalexin in acute bronchitis

New clinical evidence* shows that cephalexin has achieved a 94% success rate in acute bronchitis. 87% clinical success rate was also noted in chronic bronchitis and bronchiectasis. The total number of bronchitic patients treated with cephalexin was 460.

These excellent results in bronchitis were achieved with a remarkably low incidence of side effects such as diarrhoea and sensitivity rashes. And it was noted that "No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalexin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity."

Cephalexin in lower respiratory infections

Research workers from Royal Northern Hospital, London, expressed the opinion, on the basis of trials they described, that cephalexin was a suitable antibiotic for lower respiratory infections requiring treatment in hospital, and for urinary infections. For the respiratory infections, daily dosages of 3 G or 4 G produced a significantly quicker response as shown by X-ray, than 2 G — without increased incidence of side effects.

Nineteen men and 16 women (aged 21 to 85 years) with chronic urinary tract infection were treated with cephalexin 500 mg six hourly for 10 days. Twenty-eight of these had abnormal excretion pyelograms. Sixty-one per cent of Escherichia coli infections; 80 per cent of Proteus mirabilis infections, and both cases of Klebsiella aerogenes infection were cleared at 10 days. Overall eradication of pathogenic organisms was obtained in 68 per cent of the cases. The relapse rate after 14 days was 23 per cent.

Fifty in-patients with lower respiratory infections were given orally 2 G cephalexin per day (group A); a further 60 in-patients were given a dosage of 3 G or 4 G daily (group B). The groups received treatment for seven to ten days, they were matched for age.

Eighty of the patients had bronchopneumonia, 58 with chronic airways obstruction. Nine patients had lobar pneumonia, and 15 chronic bronchitis with airways obstruction, in whom the superimposed infection was the primary reason for hospital admission. All received physiotherapy, and 21 with airways obstruction were given a bronchodilator. Every patient with pneumonia was treated for 10 days. Forty-nine per cent of the pneumonia patients in group A showed complete resolution of radiological signs on day seven, compared with 72 per cent of those in group B — a significant difference. On the tenth day, however, no significant difference in radiological signs was detectable between the two groups. Clinical cure (clear X-ray, sterile sputum, no fever, no leucocytosis) at 10 days was obtained in 68 per cent of the patients in group A and in 81.5 per cent in group B, the difference not being significant. Bacteriological eradication was obtained in 73 per cent of group A and 91 per cent of group B patients, the difference being significant.

No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalexin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity. The antibiotic was discontinued in five patients; in one for diarrhoea and four for vomiting, but in two cases the drug was not wholly to blame since vomiting continued after its withdrawal. Generally cephalexin was well tolerated.

Ceporex cephalexin

Contra-indication

Ceporex is contra-indicated in persons who have shown hypersensitivity to cephalosporins.

Precautions

In patients treated with Ceporex, a false-positive reaction for glucose in the urine may occur with Benedict's or Fehling's solutions, or with 'Clinitest' tablets, but not with enzyme-based tests such as 'Clinistix'.

Ceporex is usually tolerated well by patients allergic to penicillin, but cross-reaction can occur occasionally.

As with other antibiotics, Ceporex should be administered with caution in patients with a history of allergy, especially to drugs. When renal function is markedly reduced, Ceporex will accumulate in the serum and tissues unless dosage is suitably reduced.

Laboratory experiments with animals and clinical experience show no evidence of teratogenicity, but as with all drugs, caution is needed during pregnancy.

Adverse reactions

A small proportion of patients receiving Ceporex may experience gastrointestinal disturbances such as nausea, vomiting, diarrhoea, anorexia and general abdominal discomfort. As with all broad-spectrum antibiotics, superinfection (sometimes monilial) can occur, and may present as vulvo-vaginitis. Reversible neutropenia has occurred in a few patients, but is very rare.

Generalised drug rashes — urticarial or maculopapular — are uncommon.

Administration and dosage

Ceporex is administered orally. Treatment should continue for at least two days after the temperature has returned to normal and symptoms have subsided. However, in chronic, recurrent or complicated upper urinary tract infections a course of at least two weeks' duration may be necessary.

When renal function is considerably impaired, the dosage should be reduced. If the creatinine clearance is 20 to 50 ml/minute, the adult dosage of Ceporex should not exceed 3 grams/day; if between 5 and 20 ml/minute, not more than 1.5 grams daily; if the clearance is below 5 ml/minute, dosage should not exceed 500 mg/day.

Patients receiving intermittent dialysis should be given an additional 500 mg of Ceporex after each dialysis, i.e., a total dosage of up to 1 gram on that day.

New facts about oral Ceporex confirm very low incidence of side effects

New clinical data on cephalexin confirms the extremely low incidence of side effects accompanying the high clinical success rate.

"Even when cephalexin had been used in high dosage or for long periods, the tolerance had been good. Only rarely had treatment been discontinued because of side effects. When side effects had occurred they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment."*

It all adds up to the simple fact that in acute bronchitis, you can trust Ceporex to reduce the risks and improve the results.

For a start let's identify what they are - house dust mites. Allergy to them is now widely regarded as the major cause of house dust asthma, and immunisation is gaining increasing support as the treatment of choice.

The one on the right is Dermatophagoides pteronyssinus, clinically the most important British house dust mite. On the left is Dermatophagoides farinae - its North American cousin, which has been available from us for some time.

Bencard are pleased to announce the availability of their Dermatophagoides pteronyssinus house dust mite extract. This is the only commercially available extract of the predominant British house dust mite and represents an important addition to the Bencard range of allergy products.

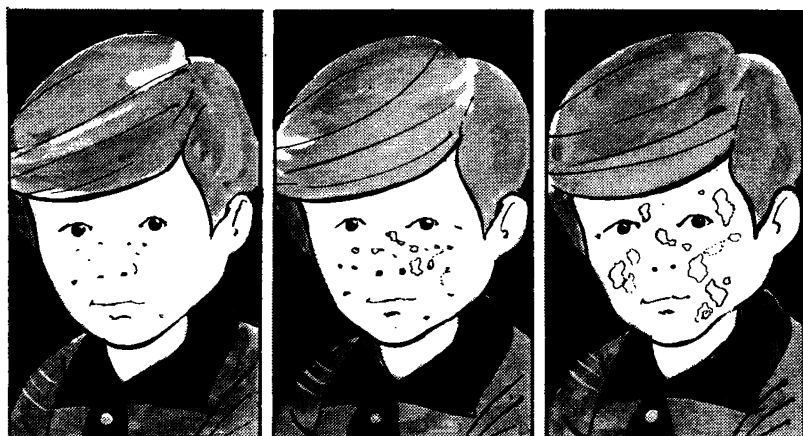

The extract is suitable for diagnosis by the prick test method and for use in specific desensitising vaccines (S.D.V.), either alone or with other allergen extracts.

Another first from Bencard.

SURMONTIL

relieves insomnia while treating its cause

But what?

A hypnotic will certainly give her a good nights' sleep, but if she is one of those patients – and there are many of them – whose insomnia originates from anxiety/depression, sleep is all she'll get. The root cause of the condition will always remain untreated with the patient becoming more and more dependent on the medication. Moreover, the degree of this dependence is further heightened by the fact that, because they distort normal sleep patterns, all major hypnotics (and many antidepressants as well) can give rise to unpleasant symptoms upon withdrawal. Patients, therefore, feel most disinclined to discontinue a treatment which, although giving symptomatic relief, is not removing the cause of their condition. These people, in fact, need more than just "something" to help them sleep – they need 'Surmontil'.

- immediately restores sound natural sleep
- relieves daytime anxiety/depression
- avoids long-term hypnotic therapy by treating the underlying condition
- removes the risk of withdrawal problems due to REM suppression/rebound, and possible dependence encountered with both hypnotics and other major tricyclic antidepressants
- unlike a number of other antidepressants does not increase intra-sleep restlessness, thus its sleep-restoring properties are enhanced

What some doctors may forget

Bread is a major source of protein, B vitamins, iron and calcium, as well as providing energy. As such, it plays a key role in the national diet, and few can afford to do without it. For instance, almost one-fifth of the protein in an average diet comes from bread alone. It is one of the best food bargains in the world, when you consider that penny for penny bread contains nearly twice as much protein as cheese, and three times the protein of white fish or beef.

Yet bread is often underestimated as the source of such a wide range of essential nutrients. In the right amount, it plays a vital part in helping to keep any diet in healthy balance. To deprive anyone, including the slimmer, of all the goodness of bread, can throw a diet drastically—and even imprudently—out of balance.

The 1970 National Food Survey confirms the vital importance of bread in the national diet. According to this survey the percentages of essential nutrients in the average daily diet deriving from bread alone are shown below.

UNIVERSITY OF EXETER Postgraduate Medical Institute

A full-time postgraduate course lasting 10 weeks will begin on 10th January, 1973. These courses are held 3 times a year starting in October, January and April. Each course includes instruction in general medicine, paediatrics, internal medicine, pathology, psychiatry, orthopaedics and general surgery. The programme is planned so that students wishing to specialize in a particular clinical subject are given facilities to do so, while other students are taught in each of the main clinical departments. Unpaid clinical attachments can be arranged at the end of the course for students requiring a longer period of training, but these are normally reserved for students sponsored by some official body.

It is sometimes possible to accept general practitioners for 1 or 2 weeks of a course, and attendance for this period is recognized under Section 63 of the Health Services and Public Health Act 1968. These courses are also recognized under the special scheme for the re-training for general practice of doctors who have been out of the Health Service for at least 5 years.

The fee for this course will be £40 (£83 for students from outside the United Kingdom).

Further particulars and application forms for these courses are obtainable from the Director, The Postgraduate Medical Institute, The University, Exeter, Devonshire. (16967) 4

UNIVERSITY OF SURREY

M.Sc. IN MEDICAL SCIENCES

A day-release course (Wednesdays) lasting for two years is to start in January, 1973. It will cover the syllabuses for the primary examinations of the Royal Colleges in Medicine, Surgery, Obstetrics and Gynaecology, and Anaesthetics, but will not exempt candidates from the examinations for the latter qualifications. Parts of the course will be given on the premises of the University.

Only medically qualified candidates can be accepted at present. Further details from Dr. H. Hillman, of Biological Sciences, University of Surrey, Guildford, to whom applications including curricula vitae should be sent as soon as possible. (16900) 4

High-dose aspirin as well tolerated as ibuprofen Safapryn^{*} in musculo-skeletal pain

Superior to ibuprofen in analgesic and anti-inflammatory activity.¹

In 40 patients with arthritic or rheumatoid conditions, Safapryn proved markedly superior to ibuprofen in relieving pain and improving the range of joint movement.¹

In another study, aspirin (the major component of Safapryn) produced significant reductions in joint size, whereas ibuprofen produced no greater reduction than did a placebo.²

Better tolerated than standard aspirin^{3,4}

"...the really important result of the trial [with Safapryn] was its freedom from clinical evidence of gastric irritation and from overt or occult bleeding."³

Pack of 250 tablets.

(Each sugar-coated tablet contains 300 mg. acetylsalicylic acid as an enteric-coated core, and 250 mg. paracetamol.)

Intal doesn't relieve asthmatic attacks

It prevents them

Steroids, bronchodilators and antihistamines, whether in aerosol or tablet form, are only symptomatic treatments. Whereas INTAL actually protects the patient from asthmatic attacks—day in, day out.

By preventing the release of spasmogens INTAL affords daily prophylaxis for as long as any challenge exists. More than 150 clinical trials have proved its effectiveness, safety and ease of administration.

But only an asthmatic can really appreciate the difference it makes.

IS IT TRUE...

don't make aspirin any longer

If aspirin is the choice for chronic rheumatic patients, then longer action is the true criterion of aspirin. And no-one makes it any longer—in effectiveness—than Levius.

Longer sojourn—in the form of aspirin—for relief of day-time pain, with continuing comfort through the night. Sustained high level of total salicylate for anti-inflammatory effect, reducing stiffness and aching joints the following morning.

The Levius tablet rapidly disintegrates into 35,000 separately-encased microgranules, which release the aspirin at a controlled rate. With full dosage, high concentrations are avoided—greatly lowering the incidence of gastro-intestinal irritation, nausea and anorexia.

In the long term treatment of rheumatic diseases, few drugs have gained the wide acceptance of aspirin. And Levius is the logical extension of aspirin.
