Intal doesn't relieve asthmatic attacks

It prevents them

Steroids, bronchodilators and antihistamines, whether in aerosol or tablet form, are only symptomatic treatments. Whereas INTAL actually protects the patient from asthmatic attacks—day in, day out.

By preventing the release of spasmogens INTAL affords daily prophylaxis for as long as any challenge exists. More than 150 clinical trials have proved its effectiveness, safety and ease of administration.

But only an asthmatic can really appreciate the difference it makes.

A New Horizon in Asthma

Becotide INHALER

STEROID CONTROL WITHOUT STEROID
SIDE EFFECTS

Systemic steroids have, for many years, been recognized as the most effective form of treatment for moderate to severe bronchial asthma but their use is complicated by many serious side effects.

ALLEN & HANBURYS LTD LONDON E2 6LA

Therapy

Becotide Inhaler contains beclomethasone dipropionate BP, a steroid which differs from those previously administered to asthmatics by aerosol in that it is highly active within the lungs in doses which are not systemically active. Effective control of asthma can be achieved without causing unwanted systemic effects. Because of the intrinsic properties of the steroid employed and the direct route of administration Becotide Inhaler provides an extremely selective and thereby safer form of steroid therapy for bronchial asthma.

In Asthma—Becotide Inhaler puts steroid therapy in its place

For full prescribing information see overleaf

Becotide INHALER

BECOTIDE INHALER PRESCRIBING INFORMATION

Indications for Becotide Inhaler

Becotide Inhaler is indicated for a wide range of patients with bronchial asthma. The simplest cases are those whose asthma is becoming worse and bronchodilators less effective. For their safety it is important that they receive additional treatment and not simply increase their intake of bronchodilators. Treatment with Becotide Inhaler restores the patient's response to bronchodilators and often reduces their rate of use. Another group of patients who respond well to Becotide Inhaler are those who are not controlled or are inadequately controlled by sodium cromoglycate in addition to bronchodilators.

An important group are severely asthmatic patients who are dependent on systemic steroids or ACTH for their well being. The majority of these patients can be transferred to Becotide Inhaler with maintenance of good respiratory function and disappearance of dangerous steroid-induced systemic side effects. In others, a substantial reduction in systemic steroid intake is achieved with reduction in the risk of serious side effects. Patients who are receiving intermittent courses of steroids are also suitable for transference to Becotide Inhaler therapy.

Becotide Inhaler is particularly important for managing severe asthma in children because good control of asthma can be achieved without retardation of growth. Resumption of growth occurs in children transferred from systemic steroids.

DOSAGE

Adults

Two inhalations (100 mcg) three or four times a day is the usual maintenance dose. In severe cases it is advisable to start at 600 mcg–800 mcg per day and adjust the dose according to the response.

The maximum daily intake should not exceed 20 inhalations (1 mg) in adults, or 10 inhalations (0.5 mg) in children below 12 years of age.

It is essential that the patient should understand that Becotide Inhaler is not a bronchodilator aerosol. It should be used regularly and not for rapid relief of bronchospasm. It is also important to instruct the patient in the proper use of the pressurised aerosol. He should breathe out fully and then "fire" the aerosol early in inspiration to ensure that the particles of steroid are carried in the airstream as far down the bronchi as possible.

Children

One or two inhalations (50–100 mcg) should be given two, three or four times daily, according to the response.

IMPORTANT ASPECTS OF CLINICAL MANAGEMENT

Patients to be treated with Becotide Inhaler fall into two broad groups:

- 1) Those not receiving systemic steroids.
- 2) Those who are steroid dependent.

Different consideration must be given to these groups in order that the full benefits of Becotide Inhaler can be achieved in clinical practice.

Patients not receiving systemic steroids

The use of Becotide Inhaler in patients who have never taken steroids or taken only occasional courses of steroids is straightforward. An improvement in respiratory function is obvious within a week. The few patients who do not respond during this period usually have excessive mucus in their bronchi so that the drug is unable to penetrate to its site of action. In such cases a short course of systemic steroid in relatively high dosage should be given to eliminate mucus and other inflammatory changes in the lungs. Continuation of treatment with Becotide Inhaler usually maintains the improvement achieved, the oral steroid being gradually withdrawn.

Exacerbation of the asthma caused by infection is usually controlled by appropriate antibiotic treatment and, if necessary, by increasing the dose of Becotide Inhaler.

Steroid-dependent patients

The transfer of steroid-dependent patients to Becotide Inhaler and their subsequent management needs more attention mainly because recovery from impaired adrenocortical function caused by prolonged systemic steroid therapy is usually slow.

The patient should be in a reasonably stable state before being given Becotide Inhaler in addition to his usual maintenance dose of systemic steroid. After about a week, gradual withdrawal of the systemic steroid is started at a rate which must not exceed 1 mgm of prednisolone, or the equivalent of other drug, per day. Some patients feel unwell during the withdrawal phase despite maintenance or even improvement of respiratory function. They should be encouraged to persevere with the Inhaler and withdrawal of systemic steroid continued unless there are objective signs of adrenal insufficiency.

Most patients can be successfully transferred to Becotide Inhaler with good respiratory function but special care is necessary for the first months after the transfer until the pituitary-adrenal system has sufficiently recovered to enable the patient to cope with emergencies such as trauma, surgery or severe infections.

Transferred patients should carry a warning card indicating that they may need supplementary systemic steroid during periods of severe stress. The dose of Becotide Inhaler should be increased at this time and then reduced to the maintenance level after the systemic steroid has been discontinued.

Replacement of systemic steroid treatment with Becotide Inhaler sometimes unmasks allergies such as allergic rhinitis or eczema previously controlled by the systemic drug. They should be treated with antihistamine and/or topical preparations.

Side effects

No major adverse side effects attributable to the use of recommended doses of Becotide Inhaler have been reported but some patients have become hoarse. Localised infection with Candida albicans has occurred in the mouth and throat of a few patients; the condition rapidly cleared after appropriate topical antifungal therapy without discontinuing the treatment with Becotide Inhaler. Reduction of plasma-cortisol levels has been reported in patients who received twice the recommended maximum dose of Becotide Inhaler. (Brit. J. Dis. Chest (1972) 66, 101).

Becotide is a trade mark of ALLEN & HANBURYS LTD, LONDON E2 6LA

Contra-indications

No specific contra-indications are known but special care is necessary in active or quiescent pulmonary tuberculosis.

Caution

Unnecessary administration of drugs during the first trimester of pregnancy is undesirable.

Any young Doctor is bound to find his work demanding. And we won't pretend that the Army offers you a cushy life. What it does offer you, is opportunity and experience that you'd be hard put to surpass in civilian life.

You'll have ample opportunity to travel, anywhere in the world where the British Army is on exercises or operations.

You'll also gain considerable medical experience, with the chance of specialist post-graduate studies if you opt for a permanent commission.

Initially you can join for 3 or 5 years with the opportunity to convert to a regular commission.

One word from you could save your patients money on prescriptions.

Please tell them about prescription 'season tickets'.

As you know, patients who have to pay prescription charges frequently can save money by purchasing a pre-payment certificate. But not all patients who could take advantage of this scheme are doing so.

So it would help if you could remind them about pre-payment certificates. A six-month certificate costs £2 and saves money if more than 10 items are needed on prescription during that period. A certificate giving 12 months cover represents even better value at £3.50, if over 17 items will be required in that time.

Form EC95 (in N. Ireland, form HS154) gives full details and includes an application form. Your patients can get it from any post office, social security office or NHS Executive Council office.

Problems of the Newborn

Many doctors outside the neonatal and paediatric field may be unaware of the rapid advances made in the care of the newborn in the last decade. Last year the B.M.J. published a series of articles discussing the diagnosis and management of common conditions affecting newborn babies. The articles have been revised by their authors and collected together as a booklet, forming a useful guide to both serious problems and more everyday topics which confront doctors in their practice.

Gynaecology in General Practice

As in other branches of medicine, the pattern of gynaecological problems likely to be encountered by the general practitioner will probably change in the future. Moreover, many doctors, now in practice were taught little about some of the topics which are important today and are likely to become even more so. In 1971 the B.M.J. published a series of articles in the "Medical Practice" section discussing the management of various gynaecological disorders in a domiciliary setting. These have now been collected together as a booklet entitled Gynaecology in General Practice and provides a useful and up-to-date account of gynaecology in general practice.

New Deteclo Syrup

For patients you can't keep tabs on

There are some patients who need the triple tetracycline of Deteclo, but who find their medicine hard to swallow. Maybe it's because they're young. Or old. Or simply hate taking tablets. New Deteclo Syrup solves their problems in a raspberry-flavoured syrup.

It tastes so nice, you won't have any trouble persuading them to take the treatment they need. And it's so effective, because the combination of tetracycline with demethylchlortetracycline and chlortetracycline produces such wide antibacterial activity. So when you can't be sure if they'll take the tablets or not, they can still get the good value of Deteclo and like it.

SURMONTIL relieves insomnia while treating its cause

But what?

A hypnotic will certainly give her a good nights' sleep, but if she is one of those patients – and there are many of them – whose insomnia originates from anxiety/depression, sleep is all she'll get. The root cause of the condition will always remain untreated with the patient becoming more and more dependent on the medication. Moreover, the degree of this dependence is further heightened by the fact that, because they distort normal sleep patterns, all major hypnotics (and many antidepressants as well) can give rise to unpleasant symptoms upon withdrawal. Patients, therefore, feel most disinclined to discontinue a treatment which, although giving symptomatic relief, is not removing the cause of their condition. These people, in fact, need more than just "something" to help them sleep – they need 'Surmontil'.

- immediately restores sound natural sleep
- relieves daytime anxiety/depression
- avoids long-term hypnotic therapy by treating the underlying condition
- removes the risk of withdrawal problems due to REM suppression/rebound, and possible dependence encountered with both hypnotics and other major tricyclic antidepressants
- unlike a number of other antidepressants does not increase intra-sleep restlessness, thus its sleep-restoring properties are enhanced

In 1972, one in four deaths will be caused by coronary heart disease. Many victims dying before retiring age.

Some premature deaths might be prevented, however, by substituting Flora margarine, the spread highest in polyunsaturated fats, for animal fats in normal diet.

For 50% of Flora's fat content is natural cis-cis linoleic essential fatty acid.

And it is widely accepted that substituting polyunsaturated fats for saturated fats can lower the risk of coronary heart disease.

Because of its cholesterol-reducing properties, Flora margarine is particularly effective as part of the dietary treatment of hyperlipidaemia.

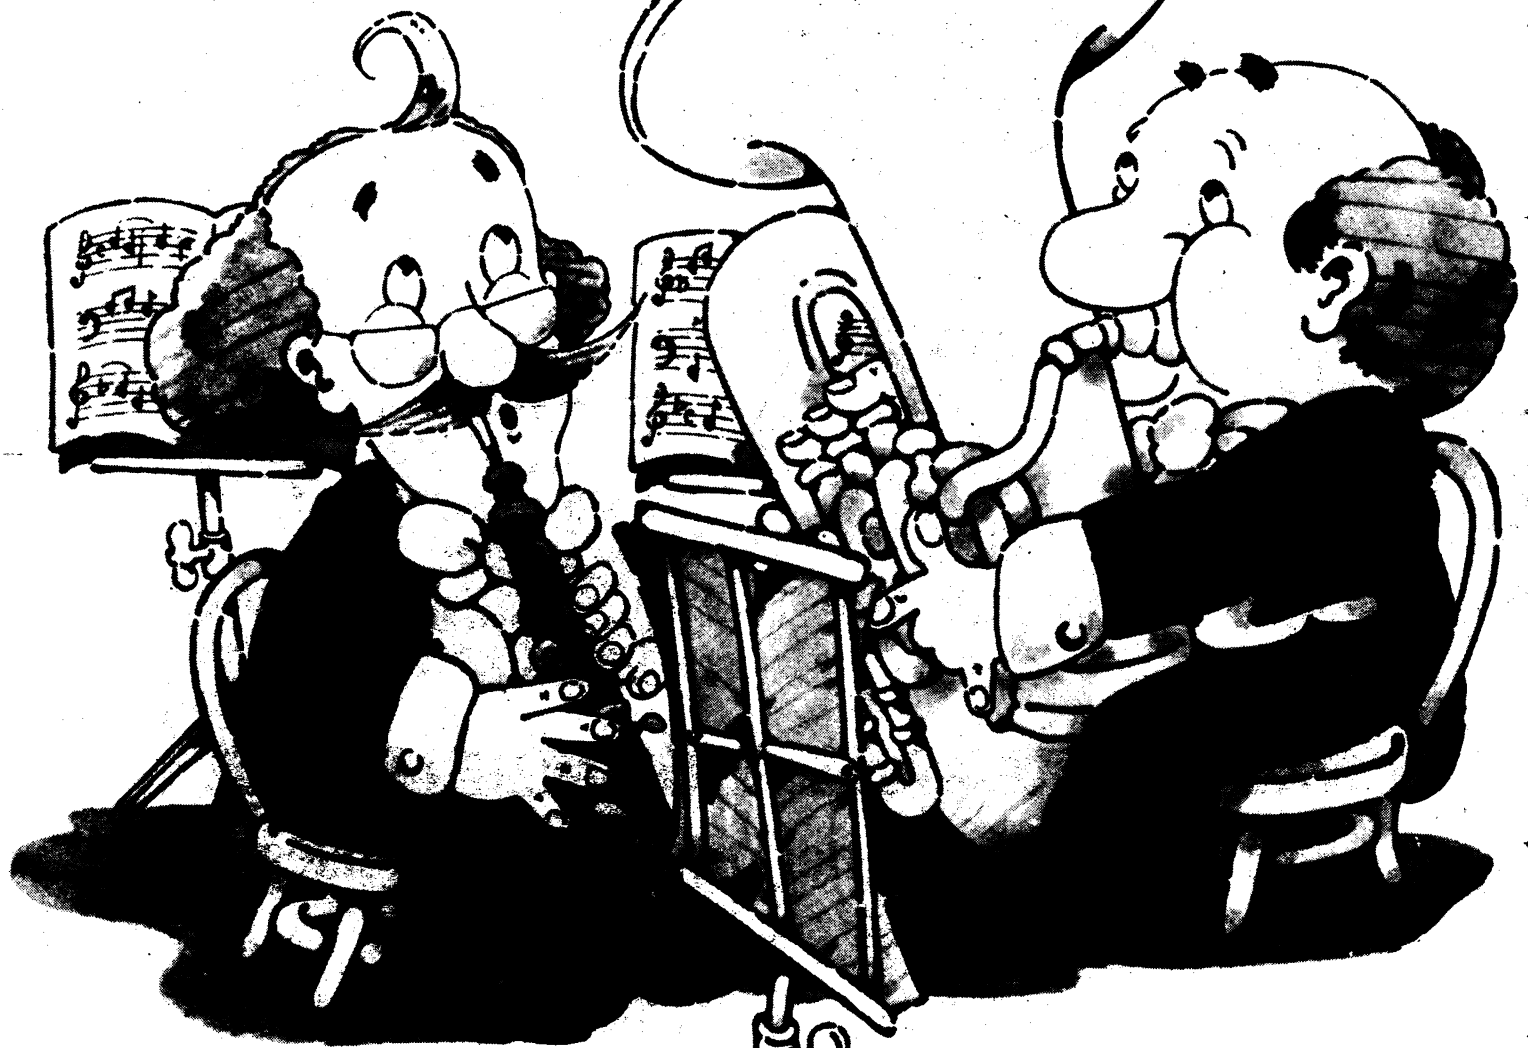

For people at risk from coronary heart disease, indeed for almost anyone, Flora margarine makes very good advice.

SERVICES

Are you in your Pre-Registration Year —or recently fully registered?

Before you commit yourself to your permanent pattern of life, consider what the RAF has to offer

General Practice? With a difference. At this RAF Clinic, in the busy town of Limassol, in Cyprus, almost all the patients are women and children (specially children). Staff is 7 doctors, each with his (or her) own panel of patients; and 5 dentists. There are 5 SRN Nurses, and 7 Health Visitors. Next door is the RAF's Child Guidance Clinic, with psychiatrist, educational psychologist and speech therapist.

The chance to practise total medical care, as a GP

Your first job would probably be a Junior Medical Officer on a large RAF Station. There would be at least one other doctor. Between you, you would have a 'list' of 2000 to 3000 people—servicemen and their families. You would meet all the usual clinical problems of a GP—and get plenty of experience in pediatrics. As well as this, you would be actively involved in the practice of aviation medicine and gain experience in the preventive, occupational and social fields.

Conditions of work are extremely good. You would have a consulting room in a specially built Medical Centre—like a small hospital with its own treatment room, theatre and resuscitation room, and wards for a dozen or so short-stay patients. There is a full secretarial and nursing staff. Your clinical freedom would be absolute.

The chance to specialise, too

Because General Practice is so highly developed in the RAF, this does not mean you have no chance to specialise. The contrary is true. 47% of all RAF doctors are now working in specialist departments. On a 'full career' contract you have every opportunity to reach consultant status in your late or middle thirties; perhaps earlier.

The chance to study for higher qualifications

Any RAF doctor, whether specialist or GP (as long as he is not on the very shortest of contracts) can apply for six months study leave on full salary. On a permanent commission, he may have up to two years' external study leave.

The chance to travel

The RAF operates in many different conditions and climates. Abroad, the RAF doctor looks after RAF personnel and their families and, very often, the local population as well. Your gain in clinical experience would be marked.

The chance of a good social and family life

The RAF is a young community, with a full and active social life. There are facilities for almost every kind of sport and, which is most important, the time to enjoy your family while you are still a young man. Living conditions are excellent. If you are single you live in the Officers' Mess, which has all the amenities of a good hotel. If you are married, you will nearly always have a furnished house that goes with the job; rent for this is very modest; and it can save a large financial outlay at the beginning of your career.

A realistic pay scale

Pay is based on the average earnings of a civilian GP. Immediately after full registration, the present basic salary is £3942; after 5 years it rises to £4767; after 13 years to £5898. There are various other allowances; for instance, with children at boarding school the figures are £363 (net) for one child, £795 (net) for two children, £1314 (net) for three children. There are tax-free gratuities of £1500 after 3 years, or £3000 after 5 years. After service of 16 years or more there is a pension, payable for life, and a generous terminal grant.

For full information please write, giving your age, nationality, and date of full registration, to Group Captain D. G. M. Hills, OBE, MB, BS, DPH, RAF, Ministry of Defence, 1-6 Tavistock Square (724 KH2), London, WC1H 9NL. Or visit your nearest RAF Careers Information Office.

High-dose aspirin as well tolerated as ibuprofen Safapryn*

in musculo-skeletal pain

Superior to ibuprofen in analgesic and anti-inflammatory activity.¹

In 40 patients with arthritic or rheumatoid conditions, Safapryn proved markedly superior to ibuprofen in relieving pain and improving the range of joint movement.¹

In another study, aspirin (the major component of Safapryn) produced significant reductions in joint size, whereas ibuprofen produced no greater reduction than did a placebo.²

Better tolerated than standard aspirin^{3,4}

"...the really important result of the trial [with Safapryn] was its freedom from clinical evidence of gastric irritation and from overt or occult bleeding."³

Pack of 250 tablets.

(Each sugar-coated tablet contains 300 mg. acetylsalicylic acid as an enteric-coated core, and 250 mg. paracetamol.)

The next best thing to a new skin. Metosyn.

*The Gecko, inhabiting S.E. Asia and parts of Europe, sheds its skin all year round.
The new skin is soft and delicate with the texture of velvet.*

Patients with inflammatory dermatoses may often wish that they could step out of their old skin with all its defects and, like the Gecko, emerge with a healthy new skin. Unfortunately, they can't—so for them the next best thing to a new skin is 'Metosyn'.

"It would appear that fluocinonide ['Metosyn'] marks yet another advance in topical steroid therapy and that it is the topical steroid of choice in the management of psoriasis." Brit. Jnl. of Dermatology, (1972), 86, 310

ALLERGIC RHINITIS

A completely fresh approach

The unique way in which sodium cromoglycate prevents asthmatic reactions has been the subject of over 150 clinical trials. Prompted by this success, more recent investigators have shown that, in the form of RYNACROM, sodium cromoglycate has a similar protective effect on the nasal mucosa and can provide year-round prophylaxis in allergic rhinitis?

RYNACROM is not a decongestant, anti-cholinergic, antihistamine or steroid. Its action is unlike any other form of treatment.

In the face of challenge – pollen, house dust, feathers, pets, etc. – RYNACROM (sodium cromoglycate) prevents the degranulation of those cells which would normally rupture and release histamine and inflammatory agents. Thus regular insufflation of RYNACROM provides continuous prophylaxis from a condition which, hitherto, has been difficult to control symptomatically and even more difficult to prevent. A number of patients who have failed to respond to other forms of treatment have greatly benefited from RYNACROM!

RYNACROM does not produce inconvenient side effects associated with conventional therapy.

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER WITH VENTOLIN

As the weather worsens, demands on your time increase. This winter you can relieve some of the pressure by prescribing Magnapen for the more serious chest infections which you see. For acute-on-chronic bronchitis. For pneumonia. For infections following flu.

Magnapen gives you a greater chance of first time success in these serious cases because it is active against virtually all bacteria encountered in General Practice. So you can rely on Magnapen even when there are no laboratory reports to guide you.

Magnapen's greater certainty means that the patient is more likely to respond quickly. More likely to be up and about again sooner.

And Magnapen can save you the time which you might otherwise have to spend on repeat visits, second consultations or night calls to patients who may fail to respond to other antibiotics.
