What do you prescribe for the to bronchodilators

In early episodic asthma, treatment with oral or aerosol bronchodilators is usually all that is required.

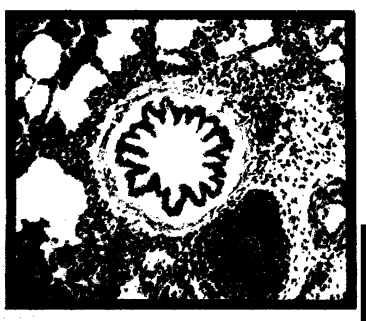

Cross section of a bronchiole showing BRONCHOSPASM

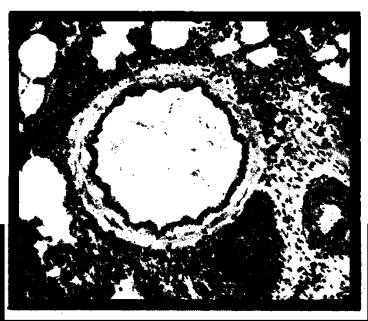

However, as the disease progresses, inflammatory changes including oedema of the bronchial mucosa and hypersecretion of mucus frequently occur to such an extent that bronchodilator drugs alone are not able to give adequate control.

Unless appropriate treatment is undertaken, the patient's condition is likely to deteriorate due to plugging of oedematous bronchioles with inspissated mucus.

In the past, the most effective treatment for these cases has been the administration of systemic steroids or corticotrophins. But the side effects resulting from the prolonged use of these products can be serious and are always worrying to doctor and patient alike.

Becotide Inhaler enables you to prescribe really effective therapy in asthma...

and to avoid the unwanted side effects of systemic steroids.

This is because of the intrinsic properties of beclomethasone dipropionate and to its localisation at the intended site of action.
Extensive clinical trials[1,2,3,4,5] have shown a high rate of success and no evidence of systemic steroid side effects, including adrenal suppression, in the recommended dosage.

Intal is well established as a highly effective treatment for allergic asthma in the young.

But what of the late-onset patient — the dad who suddenly starts wheezing, blowing up balloons, at the kids' party?

Can Intal help him?

Clinical studies[1,2] show that a surprisingly high proportion of patients over 40 also benefit from Intal, even where there is no clearly defined allergic component.

And it does it all with a specific local action.

A person often experiences anxiety when it can serve no useful purpose. A signal originates in the amygdala (orange spot) and is transmitted into the body via the hypothalamus (red spot) and autonomic nervous system. In such cases, anxiety becomes a problem causing many difficult and unpleasant symptoms.

Nobrium relieves anxiety by a precise action on the amygdala—the source of anxiety. It also acts specifically on the hypothalamus to damp the transmission of anxiety into the body. The precise action is highly effective—relieving over 80% of patients[1]—and causes few side-effects[2] as other parts of the brain are virtually unaffected.

In pituitary dwarfism

human growth hormone

Crescormon is a highly purified preparation of human pituitary growth hormone thoroughly tested for homogeneity and potency.

Substitution therapy with Crescormon in patients suffering from GH deficiency leads to an acceleration of growth. The therapy is safe and no resistance to treatment has been reported.

Crescormon is standardized both by radio-immunological determination and by biological assay. Each vial contains 4 IU determined against IRP Growth Hormone (WHO).

Indications
Dwarfism due to decreased or failed incretion of pituitary growth hormone. The diagnosis should be verified before the preparation is administered by an investigation of the pituitary function.

Contraindication
Diabetes mellitus.

Precautions
In spite of rigorous requirements for the collection and careful control of the pituitary glands used in the preparation of Crescormon, the risk of transmitting hepatitis cannot be excluded. The risk may be considered extremely small, however, and no cases have as yet been reported.

Side Effects
In clinical trials Crescormon has elicited the formation of antibodies in low titre in a few patients, which, however, has not affected the growth rate. Otherwise no adverse reactions have been observed.

Dosage
The dosage is individual, but in general a dose of at least 0.5 IU per kg body weight per week, divided into two to three intramuscular injections, is recommended.

Administration
Crescormon should be injected intramuscularly. The solution for injection is prepared by adding 2 ml Sodium Chloride Injection to the lyophilized substance in the vial. A made-up solution should be used immediately after preparation.

Storage
Refrigerator (+5° C).

Pack
Crescormon combined package of lyophilized sterile HGH 4 IU (about 2 mg) and Sodium Chloride Injection in an ampoule of 2 ml.

She thinks she's ugly.

She changes her outfits nine times before a personal appearance. And often has whole days when she feels too ugly to be seen.

She cries when she forgets her lines; feels unfulfilled as an actress, empty and abandoned as a woman. She is terrified of losing her looks, persecutes her husband with trivialities, is a constant emotional burden to her friends.

She has fame, fortune and adulation, yet she is chronically anxious and depressed.

Today, we are aware of the pervasive nature of anxiety. What we are only beginning to realise is how often it is associated with depression and the need to treat both.

Limbitrol combines an effective anxiolytic Librium with amitriptyline, a proven antidepressant. The patient feels the supportive benefit of the anxiolytic almost immediately. Her depression begins to lift within days.

The General Practitioner Research Group used both drugs over a period of years as standards for comparison for newer psychotropic agents. They have concluded, 'None of the newer drugs that we have investigated has proved to be significantly better than the two standard drugs, namely: chlordiazepoxide in anxiety, and amitriptyline in depression'[1]

another little victory for Prinalgin

In rheumatoid arthritis, every small gain can increase the patient's pleasure in life. In this respect, the anti-rheumatic agent Prinalgin is showing itself to be an outstanding therapy.

Significant improvement of major physical indices such as grip strength and joint size is a major feature of Prinalgin therapy.

Concomitantly, there appears to be an antidepressant factor involved in Prinalgin therapy that re-awakens the psychic momentum of the patient.[1]

In a field where a little victory is really a big victory, shouldn't you be considering Prinalgin for your patients? 1. Lancet (1973), 1, 936.

NAPROSYN

Powerful in arthritis

What is Naprosyn? Naproxen – a new non-hormonal anti-inflammatory agent with analgesic properties, indicated for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, osteo-arthritis and ankylosing spondylitis.

How powerful is it? Double-blind cross-over trials have shown 500 mg Naprosyn to be significantly superior to placebo and equivalent in clinical efficacy to 4 g aspirin and 150 mg indomethacin in rheumatoid arthritis; and to 100 mg indomethacin in osteo-arthritis. Open studies have shown that Naprosyn is highly effective in ankylosing spondylitis.

How does Naprosyn help the arthritic patient? The long half-life of 12–15 hours means that one 250 mg Naprosyn tablet in the morning and one in the evening is sufficient in most patients to provide sustained relief throughout the day and night. Morning stiffness and painful joints are relieved, and mobility and grip strength improved.

How is Naprosyn "kind to patients"? It is extremely well tolerated. Side-effects are less frequent on 500 mg Naprosyn than on 4 g aspirin and 100 mg and 150 mg indomethacin. Some studies have shown that the incidence of side-effects is not significantly different to that exhibited on placebo. Gastric disturbances, in particular, are rarely seen with Naprosyn. Objective tests such as gastroscopy have shown that Naprosyn causes minimal irritation to the gastric mucosa.

Kind to patients

Not least, patients find the twice daily dosage regimen more convenient.
How safe is it? Doses of up to 3½ times the recommended dosage of Naprosyn (500 mg) have been administered to human subjects with no adverse reactions occurring.
Can Naprosyn be taken on an empty stomach? Yes. In a number of clinical trials Naprosyn was given on a fasting stomach without adverse effects being reported. Furthermore, absorption is not significantly affected by the presence of food or alkali.
At what stage should Naprosyn be used? Since Naprosyn is at least as effective as 4 g aspirin and 150 mg indomethacin, and has a remarkably low incidence of side-effects, it may be considered either as first line treatment or as an alternative for patients with chronic disease who are developing tolerance to, or are exhibiting side-effects on, other anti-arthritic drugs.
Are there any contra-indications? There are no known contra-indications although caution should be exercised during pregnancy.

Auntie remembers– taking her Lucidril.

Forgetfulness presents itself in many ways in old age–for example, a patient often forgets when and how much to take of any prescribed medication.

Lucidril can help a patient's memory by an action that does not depend on improving the blood supply to the brain.

Lucidril starts the old brain working again–along different lines. Firstly, it stimulates the metabolism of the brain, probably through different pathways. Secondly, it removes the lipofuscin pigments which are a concomitant of old age and which may impair cellular metabolism.

Lucidril thus improves mental function, as a recent clinical paper has pointed out:*

"These preliminary results [with Lucidril] are encouraging, because they indicate that the intellectual impairment exhibited by such patients may be reversible, even when the underlying causes are presumably of an organic nature, such as cerebral arteriosclerosis."

Lucidril 300 contains 300 mg. meclofenoxate hydrochloride. Product Licence Number 0098/5002. Lucidril is a trade mark.

A MULTI-PURPOSE DIURETIC

that helps to conserve the body's natural potassium

'Moduretic' owes its versatility to the complementary actions of its active constituents:

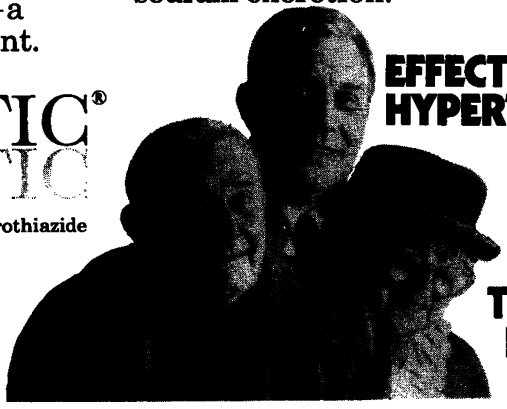

Hydrochlorothiazide–the well-established thiazide diuretic.

Amiloride hydrochloride–a potassium-conserving agent.

Besides moderating the kaliuretic effect of hydrochlorothiazide, amiloride has an additive diuretic effect; the results of some studies reflect a synergistic effect on sodium excretion.

How much Caved-S can an intractable duodenal ulcer patient take?

For a full year without relapse, 12 tablets a day for up to 16 weeks*

The Practitioner

June 1973 Vol. 210 pp. 820-823

* This dosage regimen was established in a recent trial of Caved-S on patients all with intractable duodenal ulcer and a history of more than six relapses in the year prior to the trial. Of twenty patients receiving 12 Caved-S tablets a day for 16 weeks, 12 had no relapse in a full year's follow-up, and the other 8 had two or one relapse in the follow-up year. All these patients had actually been referred for surgery, but surgery was avoided in all cases. Another similar group of 20 patients received 8 Caved-S tablets a day for 8 weeks – the condition of patients selected was too serious for controls with a placebo. Of this second group 3 had no relapse, 7 up to two relapses, and 10 up to 4 relapses in a year's follow-up.
No significant side effects occurred. Only one patient discontinued treatment, and he later resumed treatment successfully.
The authors conclude:
"Caved-S . . . should be given in high dosage before surgery is attempted in patients with duodenal ulcer who fail to respond to a low dose or other treatments."

TRAINING POST IN COMMUNITY MEDICINE
(Non-Resident)

This post is designed to offer comprehensive training for a young doctor who wishes to prepare for a career in Community Medicine. The trainee will be based in the Department of Community Medicine of the Middlesex Hospital Medical School situated at the Central Middlesex Hospital. The training programme, which will normally cover three years, is intended to be flexible to meet the requirements of the person appointed. The first year provides for rotation through appropriate clinical departments at Central Middlesex Hospital and in general practice. The second and third years will be spent in rotating periods spent on personal project work and attendance on a modular academic course designed to prepare the trainee for the Membership examination of the Faculty of Community Medicine of the Royal Colleges of Physicians.

The post in the first year would be the equivalent of Senior House Officer and in subsequent years equivalent to Registrar in the clinical specialties. An existing higher salary may be retained in certain circumstances. The doctor appointed will have his contract transferred automatically to the appropriate health authority on 1st April, 1974.

Further particulars from and applications to: Group Personnel Officer, Central Middlesex Hospital, Acton Lane, NW10 7NS, not later than 14th November, 1973. (20003) 113

SERVICES

Are you in your Pre-Registration Year –or recently fully registered?

Flying. As well as being responsible for the medical care of aircrew, RAF doctors are encouraged to fly and thereby gain first-hand knowledge of the operational environments. Their responsibilities can also include aero-medical evacuation, by the RAF's remarkable long-range airborne ambulance service, using Britannias and VC 10s of Strike Command. In 1971, 2431 patients were flown back to the United Kingdom. Equipment on the aircraft is most elaborate, and can include Radcliffe ventilators, dialysis machines, air-conditioned oxygen cots and a number of items specially designed by RAF consultants. A doctor—say a physician, a surgeon or an anaesthetist—may often be needed as part of the team to 'special' a patient.

Before you commit yourself to your permanent pattern of life, consider what the RAF has to offer

The chance to practise total medical care, as a GP

Your first job would probably be a Junior Medical Officer on a large RAF Station. There would be at least one other doctor. Between you, you would have a 'list' of 2000 to 3000 people—servicemen and their families. You would meet all the usual clinical problems of a GP—and get plenty of experience in paediatrics. As well as this, you would be actively involved in the practice of aviation medicine and gain experience in the preventive, occupational and social fields.

Conditions of work are extremely good. You would have a consulting room in a specially built Medical Centre—like a small hospital with its own treatment room, theatre and resuscitation room, and wards for a dozen or so short-stay patients. There is a full secretarial and nursing staff. Your clinical freedom would be absolute.

The chance to specialise, too

Because General Practice is so highly developed in the RAF, this does not mean you have no chance to specialise. The contrary is true. 47% of all RAF doctors are now working in specialist departments. On a 'full career' contract you have every opportunity to reach consultant status in your late or middle thirties; perhaps earlier.

The chance to study for higher qualifications

Any RAF doctor, whether specialist or GP (as long as he is not on the very shortest of contracts) can apply for six months study leave on full salary. On a permanent commission, he may have up to two years' external study leave.

The chance to travel

The RAF operates in many different conditions and climates. Abroad, the RAF doctor looks after RAF personnel and their families and, very often, the local population as well. Your gain in clinical experience would be marked.

The chance of a good social and family life

The RAF is a young community, with a full and active social life. There are facilities for almost every kind of sport and, which is most important, the time to enjoy your family while you are still a young man. Living conditions are excellent. If you are single you live in the Officers' Mess, which has all the amenities of a good hotel. If you are married, you will nearly always have a furnished house that goes with the job; rent for this is very modest; and it can save a large financial outlay at the beginning of your career.

A realistic pay scale

Pay is based on the average earnings of a civilian GP. Immediately after full registration, the present basic salary is £3942; after 5 years it rises to £4767; after 13 years to £5898. There are various other allowances; for instance, with children at boarding school the figures are £399 (net) for one child, £876 (net) for two children, £1449 (net) for three children. There are tax-free gratuities of £1500 after 3 years, or £3000 after 5 years. After service of 16 years or more there is a pension, payable for life, and a generous terminal grant.

For full information please write, giving your age, nationality, and date of full registration, to Group Captain D. G. M. Hills, OBE, MB, BS, DPH, RAF, Ministry of Defence, 1-6 Tavistock Square (724 KN4), London, WC1H 9NL. Or visit your nearest RAF Careers Information Office.

WHEN THE DIET IS SHORT OF POTASSIUM...

...THE ELDERLY NEED

'SLOW-K'

The diet of elderly patients is often grossly deficient in potassium. Surveys of potassium status in the elderly have shown the incidence of hypokalaemia to be up to 10%.[1] Even if patients can afford to buy foods such as fresh fruit and green vegetables, there is no guarantee that they will do so.

'Slow-K' provides an economical and reliable means of administering potassium to such patients. Over 12 years' clinical usage has confirmed its excellent tolerability and complete absorption of potassium.

'Slow-K' is 600mg potassium chloride BP in a special slow-release wax core. Securitainers of 500.

the difficult choice between the "highly active but poorly tolerated" and the "less active but well tolerated" compound

'ORUDIS'
supplied as capsules of 50 mg in easy-to-open containers

Prescribing information

Indications

'Orudis' is a potent non-steroidal, anti-inflammatory analgesic agent. It is an inhibitor of prostaglandin synthesis.
'Orudis' is recommended in the management of the rheumatic diseases:
rheumatoid arthritis
osteoarthrosis
ankylosing spondylitis gout
other forms of non-infectious arthropathy acute articular and periarticular disorders – bursitis, tendinitis, synovitis, tenosynovitis, capsulitis of the shoulder painful musculo-skeletal conditions.

Administration and dosage

'Orudis' is administered orally and should always be taken with food.
Dosage is usually one capsule (50 mg) three times daily. This dosage may be increased to one capsule four times daily or decreased to one capsule twice daily depending on the size and condition of the patient and on the severity of the disease.

Side-effects and precautions

No serious side-effects have been reported.
Symptoms of dyspepsia have occurred in a small percentage of patients and, in some such instances, a reduction of dosage has been helpful. 'Orudis' should always be prescribed "To be taken with food".
Skin rashes have been rare.
In common with other anti-inflammatory agents, 'Orudis' should be used with caution in patients with a history of peptic ulcer and in those with impaired hepatic function.
No embryopathic effects have been recorded but it is a sound medical principle to exercise caution in prescribing any medication during the first trimester of pregnancy.

Presentation

Capsules each containing 50 mg ketoprofen, in packs of 100 and 500. The capsules are bi-coloured (opaque green/opaque purple), each half printed ORUDIS 50 in white.

Basic NHS cost (as at November 1973)
25 capsules of 50 mg £1·14
(ex dispensing pack)

When waking hours stretch far into the night...

Insomnia is a complex problem.

Partly because sleep itself is a complex process: to correct abnormalities requires special care.

And partly because sleep disorder is but a symptom: its cause must be identified and treated too.

'Surmontil' can often provide a simple answer.

First, by promoting sound, natural sleep. Research has shown that many hypnotics fall short of this requirement: they do, of course, provide sleep, but only by inducing new, artificial sleep patterns. These can cause unpleasant symptoms when treatment is withdrawn and so encourage dependence. With 'Surmontil' old, physiological patterns are restored, and the patient sleeps as she used to.

Second, because 'Surmontil' also has powerful mood-elevating and tranquillizing properties it provides more than partial relief when insomnia is traced to anxiety/depression. It acts not only on the physical symptom but also on the emotional causes, thus ensuring full recovery. No hypnotic, tranquillizer or antidepressant alone can provide this comprehensive benefit – only 'Surmontil', with all three required effects, makes a complex problem less so.

'Surmontil' restores sleep, lifts depression, allays anxiety

The drawbacks to the initial and continued acceptance of the IUCD by the patient are only too familiar. They include spotting after insertion, and heavy bleeding and prolongation of the menstrual period, which result in removal in 7-15% of cases[1, 2]. The majority who stay with the coil have periods heavier by as much as half or more[3], and the problem of excessive menstrual bleeding may manifest itself for the first time a year or so after insertion[2].

Epsikapron ® (aminocaproic acid) provides control of IUCD bleeding. It has been shown, for instance, to reduce the severity of menstrual blood loss in IUCD patients by an average of 52%[4].

With Epsikapron, more patients accept the IUCD—and more happily.

P. L. Nos. 0022/5004 and 0022/5005.

Contraindication:

Renal insufficiency.

Side effects:

Occasional gastrointestinal disturbance or orthostatic reaction when treatment starts.

Dosage:

3g of aminocaproic acid (1 sachet of Epsikapron effervescent powder or 10ml syrup) 4-6 times daily during menstruation. To minimise IUCD "spotting", 3g 4 times per day for 7 days following insertion of the coil.
