

Trasicor®

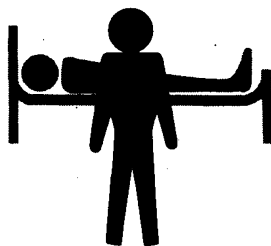

"...there are good reasons for believing that oxprenolol (Trasicor) should become an integral part of all antihypertensive therapy."¹

Highly Effective

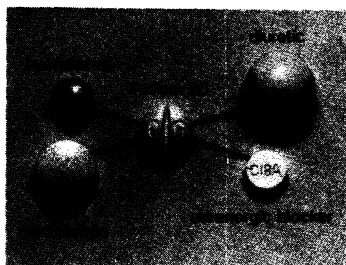

Numerous studies²⁻⁶ have shown that Trasicor, particularly in combination with a diuretic, reduces diastolic BP to near normal levels with high patient acceptability. This is important because it is the quality of control rather than the initial severity of hypertension which influences the prognosis.⁷

No Postural Hypotension

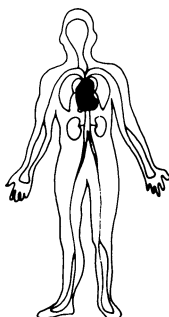

Trasicor gives effective BP control without exercise or postural hypotension⁴ and with 'strikingly few side effects'.⁸

Suitable in any Combination

Trasicor can be combined successfully with other antihypertensive agents such as diuretics (e.g. Navidrex K), hydralazine, adrenergic blockers (e.g. Ismelin) and methyldopa.

Cardioprotective

Cardioprotection before infarction

A three-year prospective study suggests that beta-blockers significantly reduce the risk of myocardial infarction and sudden death in IHD patients, with or without hypertension.⁹

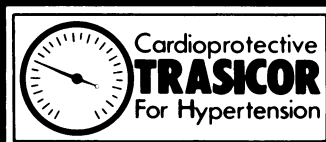

Cardioprotection after infarction

Two recent prospective studies from Sweden showed a statistically significant reduction in sudden death^{10,11} and re-infarction¹¹ in patients treated with a non-selective beta-blocker.

Trasicor tablets (oxprenolol hydrochloride) 20mg, 40mg, 80mg, 160mg available in Securitainers of 100.

How you choose your slice of life

by Dr. Sally Parsonage

Is the bread you like good for you?

Answer: yes

"If you yearn for bread like mother made (or for something rather more exotic), you'll probably find it all on a typical shopping round" — says Dr. Sally Parsonage, the food scientist and nutrition expert who contributes to Slimming & Nutrition magazine.

Yet, if you study the picture on the right, which shows national consumption shares of the various types of bread, you'll see that you tend to ignore the browns, wholemeals and 'others' in your overwhelming preference for the white varieties. Over 80% of British bread is bought in the form of a white loaf in either its wrapped or unwrapped forms.

Is the way you like your bread good for you! The answer is: Yes.

The true value of bread

Although certain minerals and vitamins have to be reduced in the milling of wheat into white flour, they are added to the flour after milling—as a legal requirement, in fact—to maintain the nutrient level of your bread. (Brown and wholemeal, of course, are extremely good nutritionally, and may be chosen by people requiring extra roughage).

*Others include malt bread, fruit bread, French bread, milk bread, "slimming" bread, white and brown bread rolls.
Source: National Food Survey 1973.

In other words, please yourself and choose your loaf: you can't go wrong. "The nutrients bread supplies", writes Dr. Sally Parsonage, particularly the B vitamins, iron and calcium, are among the nutrients most likely to be lacking in many other foods. Bread is an important source of protein, too".

BREAD'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE AVERAGE DAILY DIET
Protein.....	16.1%
Calcium.....	12.8%
Iron.....	18.3%
B Vitamins.....	14.7%
Niacin.....	22.2%
Thiamine.....	14.2%
Energy Value*

The actual amounts of nutrients contributed by bread to the average daily diet may surprise you.

And your favourite sandwich can contribute as much nutritionally as a cooked meal.

Your good health sandwich

Dr. Parsonage records: "a sandwich of two slices of buttered bread, 3 oz. cheese and a sliced tomato provides as much value in protein and vitamins as a bowl of tomato soup, 3 oz. boiled gammon, gravy, peas and boiled potato." "Even slimmers," she says, "should be careful about giving up bread". There's food for thought!

Bread: still the best food value in Britain

How much Caved-S can an intractable duodenal ulcer patient take?

For a full year without relapse, 12 tablets a day for up to 16 weeks*

The Practitioner

June 1973 Vol. 210 pp. 820-823

* This dosage regimen was established in a recent trial of Caved-S on patients all with intractable duodenal ulcer and a history of more than six relapses in the year prior to the trial. Of twenty patients receiving 12 Caved-S tablets a day for 16 weeks, 12 had no relapse in a full year's follow-up, and the other 8 had two or one relapse in the follow-up year. All these patients had actually been referred for surgery, but surgery was avoided in all cases. Another similar group of 20 patients received 8 Caved-S tablets a day for 8 weeks – the condition of patients selected was too serious for controls with a placebo. Of this second group 3 had no relapse, 7 up to two relapses, and 10 up to 4 relapses in a year's follow-up.

No significant side effects occurred. Only one patient discontinued treatment, and he later resumed treatment successfully.

The authors conclude:

"Caved-S . . . should be given in high dosage before surgery is attempted in patients with duodenal ulcer who fail to respond to a low dose or other treatments."

Gastric reflux does nasty things to the oesophagus. Like causing oesophagitis. And heartburn.

It's a physical problem, and Gaviscon (unlike antacids) provides a physical answer. It suppresses gastric reflux. Preventing oesophagitis. And relieving heartburn.

What on earth's a tub of margarine doing in this Medical Journal?

We know that there's a significant link between saturated fats, serum cholesterol levels and coronary heart disease in man.^{1,2.}

There are a number of guidelines for reducing the risk of coronary heart disease. One of the most important is the recommendation to reduce the amount of saturated fat intake in the diet.^{3.}

The American Heart Association,^{4.} the combined Medical Boards of Norway, Sweden and Finland,^{5.} and the National Heart Foundations of Australia and New Zealand,^{6,7.} all recommend the reduction of saturated fat intake and an increase in the level of polyunsaturated fatty acids.

Many doctors are recommending a modified fat diet for patients at risk from a heart attack. The change is made easier with Flora.

Flora is an accepted component of a lipid lowering diet.^{8,9.} The value of such a diet is indicated by the findings from three first generation clinical trials of primary prevention, which suggested that dietary modifications would reduce the incidence of coronary heart disease.^{10, 11, 12.}

Flora is higher in polyunsaturated fats than any other leading margarine, and is low in saturated fats*. In addition, Flora is a highly acceptable food and so patients will use it if recommended to do so.

Give good advice - recommend Flora.

 At least 50% of Flora's fat content is linoleic essential fatty acid. Flora has a fat content of not less than 80% of the total product and is sold in half pound tubs.*

attack the MIGRAINE

-not Mrs. Jackson

Mrs. Jackson's migraines, while frequent, do not follow an entirely predictable pattern. She dislikes the side-effects of ergotamine treatments: long-term prophylaxis would involve an unacceptable degree of over-medication. Is there an alternative?

2 PINK MIGRALEVE, taken at the first warning, will often completely abort impending Migraine attacks. Residual symptoms, if any occur, can be controlled with Yellow Migraleve. Like most patients, Mrs. Jackson will find such a regime preferable, because Migraleve offers:

- Less medication than with long-term prophylactic treatments
- Economic dosage, taken only as attacks occur
- Proven effectiveness in 79% of attacks¹
- Considerably less vomiting than with ergotamine¹
- Proven patient preference¹

Applicants for medical appointments are advised to check whether the post advertised is included in the Important Notice and to scrutinize carefully the remuneration and terms of service offered. Any member who is in doubt about these terms in relation to B.M.A. agreements should consult the Secretary of the Association.

Advertisers are reminded that the Race Relations Board insists that no descriptive term implying racial, national, or ethnic characteristics may be used in any advertisement. Further, readers are advised not to apply for any appointment which discriminates between applicants on grounds of creed or unreasonably on grounds of sex.

HOSPITAL APPOINTMENTS
