

bill, by granting such additional powers to the present colleges of physicians and surgeons in England, Scotland, and Ireland, as would enable them to prevent improper persons from intruding on the rights and privileges of the regularly qualified practitioner; but on this subject I must beg leave to refer you to my letter, published in the London Medical Gazette of August 14th, in which letter I pretty fully explained myself.

I really, after much consideration, can see no good reason for creating a new medical faculty, and abolishing the old. If, as you say, "the statutes by which its highest branch is even now regulated, bear date above three centuries ago;" if, as we all know, the surgeons were formerly united with the barbers; and if, after the lapse of so many years, medical science has so much advanced, that the laws of these two institutions require to be revised and improved, let it be done; but do not abolish or destroy the colleges. If Westminster Abbey or St. Paul's Cathedral required repair, would you pull down these two sacred edifices merely because they were old? would you not rather from time to time renovate, repair, and strengthen them?—I am, Gentlemen, your obedient servant,

G. HARVEY.

Castle Heddingham, Essex,
October 26th, 1840.

•• We make it a rule to interfere as little as possible with an author's expression of his sentiments or ideas. The few phrases which we omitted in Mr. Harvey's letter, did not, certainly, weaken the force of his arguments.

SIR A. COOPER AS LORD RECTOR OF THE UNIVERSITY OF GLASGOW.—Two meetings of the members of the medical profession, and of the medical students of the University, favourable to the election of Sir Astley Paston Cooper, Bart., as Lord Rector of the University, have been held this week in the Argyll Hotel, Mr. R. Macgregor, surgeon, and lecturer on chemistry, in the chair. Gentlemen of every shade of political sentiment were present, and unanimously resolved to support Sir Astley, who is brought forward entirely on scientific grounds. The Duke of Wellington has refused to be put in nomination, it is reported at College.—Glasgow Courier.

NEW JOURNALS.—M. Velpeau is about to publish a new medical journal, to be entitled "The Surgical Review." The journal will be published on the first of every month, and will be exclusively devoted to surgery. We understand that a new monthly journal is, also, about to appear in Edinburgh.

DR. CARSWELL.—It had long been known amongst the friends of Dr. Carswell that he was about to retire from University College, but Dr. Carswell was desirous that no announcement of his intention should be prematurely made. We believe that Dr. Carswell has now formally tendered his resignation, as professor of morbid anatomy in University College, and as physician to University College Hospital. We regret to state that this step has been chiefly occasioned by the delicate state of Dr. Carswell's health.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

A.M.Z. (Taunton).—There are three translations of Celsus; a complete one by Dr. Collier, one by Dr. Steggall, of the first four books, and an interlinear translation of the first four books, by Dr. Venables. We recommend the last to A. M. Z.

The communication of Dr. Black shall appear in our next number.

X.—The letters on the German Spas will appear at intervals only. The author wishes to remain incognito.

We would feel obliged to our friends in the Provinces, who forward newspapers to us, if they would mark, by a cut, those paragraphs to which they desire to direct our attention.

PRESERVATION OF THE TEETH indispensable to Comfort and Appearance. Health and Longevity; being a Second Edition of DENTAL PRACTICE. Containing Engravings of new Dental Instruments, &c. By JOHN GRAY, Consulting Dentist, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons in London, &c.

"This small volume (which may be transmitted by post for 6d.) will be found interesting and useful to every medical practitioner, the heads of families, and those who have the care of children; while persons who have lost teeth will be made aware of the cause, and enabled to judge for themselves of the rationality of the method pointed out for their restoration and preservation of the remainder. The finer mechanics, particularly those in the clock and watch line, are urged to make the fabrication of artificial teeth a part of their business."

RETREAT near LEEDS, for the RECEPTION and RECOVERY of PERSONS AFFLICTED with DISORDERS of the MIND.

Mr. HARE begs to announce to the Profession and the Public, that the above Establishment is under his particular superintendence, and that the most strict attention is paid to the medical, as well as moral treatment of individuals committed to his care.

The retreat is delightfully situated on rising ground, at the opening of Aire-Deve, little more than a mile from the town of Leeds. The situation is healthy, cheerful, and also sufficiently retired; the gardens and plantations are extensive; the premises combine proper accommodation for the exercise and amusement of the patients, and the apartments are spacious, lofty, well ventilated, and fitted up in the most commodious manner.

The Establishment is to be considered more in the light of a temporary residence in the country, where the patient is placed while he undergoes such a plan of treatment as may be necessary to restore the functions of the brain, than as an asylum, in the common acceptance of the term; hence it is well suited for persons of weak mind, or who may be subject to fits of temporary insanity—for whom confinement is necessary.* In recent cases a perfect and speedy recovery may generally be expected.

Applications, either personal or by letter, postage free, addressed, 26, East Parade, Leeds, will meet with immediate attention, and have the most satisfactory references, if required, to patients already discharged, or their friends; also to Physicians resident in London, Dublin, Leamington, Leeds, Sheffield, Scarborough, Wakefield, Bradford, &c. who have had occasion to visit patients at the Retreat.

* Mr. H. also receives patients under his care, attended by experienced persons, in lodgings or private houses, according to the provisions of the 2d and 3d of Will. IV. cap. 109, sec. 47.

Three well-ventilated rooms are set apart for the Dissecting Class, by which arrangement Pupils can pursue their Dissections without those interruptions so frequently met with.

The Course of Lectures on the Anatomy and Physiology of the Eye, will be given in the ensuing Spring by Dr. IRVINE, and the several operations shown.

The contiguity of this School to Jervis-street Hospital, the Lying-in Hospital, Great Britain-street, renders it peculiarly convenient to the Students who are attending these Institutions.

Certificates of attendance at this School are received as qualifications for Examinations by the different Colleges of Surgeons, the University of Glasgow, the Apothecaries' Company, London; the Army and Navy Medical Boards, &c.

Examinations will be held weekly, and prizes awarded at the termination of the Session to the best answerers.

Further particulars may be learned on application to Dr. DENHAM, 67, Marlborough-street, Dublin.
