DR. GREGORY'S PRACTICE OF PHYSIC.

8vo, cloth, price 16s,

ELEMENTS of the THEORY and PRACTICE of MEDICINE; designed for the use of Students and Junior Practitioners. By GEORGE GREGORY, M.D., Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians. Fifth Edition, considerably enlarged and improved.

FROM PREFACE.

"The object of the author, in the following pages, is to lay before the student an outline of the theory and practice of medicine, unbiassed by attachment to any professed principle, and to delineate those views of pathology which appear to direct the reasonings, and to give a tone to the language, of medical writers at the present period.

The demand for a fifth edition has afforded the author an opportunity of making some alterations in the work, which he hopes will give it additional value. The several diseases of the human body have been thrown into a new arrangement. The distinction between acute and chronic diseases has been abandoned, and a classification has been adopted better suited to the existing state of medical science. The formula medicamentorum scattered throughout the work have received some additions, and have everywhere been adapted to the nomenclature of the new London Pharmacopœia. Five new chapters have been added—namely, on Cachexia, Hypochondriasis, Cynanche Cellularis, Otitis, and Furuncular Inflammation. The results of the author's more recent experience have been incorporated into the text, and such other information introduced as appeared calculated for elementary instruction."

CHANCERY.

MURRAY & ANOTHER

v.

TAGART.

An injunction was granted on the 3rd of March, 1842, by the Honourable Court of Chancery in England, to restrain John Davis Tagart, Chemist and Druggist, of Cheltenham, from vending a spurious liquid, which he, the said Tagart, sold as, and for "Sir James Murray's Fluid Magnesia," and bearing his (Sir James Murray's) name on the labels. This fabrication Tagart carried on for nearly two years, and substituted his imitation for the genuine, to the public, and for dispensing the prescriptions of Physicians and Surgeons. This conduct furnished other imitators with a spurious compound, which was sent to Bath, and elsewhere, in Sir James Murray's old bottles, and bearing his labels, so that the fictitious liquid, purporting to be that of Sir James Murray, was imposed upon Chemists to be analysed, and the result of such analysis is published under pretext of being that of the Original Fluid Magnesia of Sir James Murray, as introduced by him into practice in 1808, before the present pirates were in existence.

In order to fill the genuine bottles with his pure preparation, Sir James Murray has removed to Wolverhampton those extensive engines so highly approved of by the Professors of Chemistry and the heads of the Medical Profession in Dublin. In future his genuine FLUID MAGNESIA will be prepared at WOLVERHAMPTON, under the superintendence of the proprietor and inventor himself, of that proportion of strength which is conformable to the laws of chemical equivalents, and which has been proved in Hospital and private practice, during the last thirty years, to be the best adapted for the human stomach, and the most suitable for the treatment of females and children.

His professional brethren and the public may rely upon the same scrupulous care to secure for the sick and infirm those numerous advantages which were first experienced so many years since in the distinguished practice of that eminent physician, the present Dr. Mc Donnel, of Belfast—advantages which were also publicly recorded by H. R. H. the late Duke of York, after the success which followed the use of this invaluable remedy, when recommended to his Royal Highness by his friend, the present Noble Marquis of Donegal.

In order to protect the profession and the public from being further imposed on, Mr. Bailey, of Wolverhampton, the commercial consignee, and one of the plaintiffs in this matter, begs to notify, that the said defendant, Tagart, is no longer his agent for Cheltenham or elsewhere, and the legal proceedings are now in progress to punish such breach of trust, and to recover compensation for the damage done by circulating such spurious and wretched imitations. To obviate such unprincipled substitutions, purchasers are requested to order from the venders, only such bottles as are wrapped up with the seal (Sir James Murray's crest, motto, and name engraved thereon), unbroken—regardless of any selfish interference of some few agents who recommend noxious preparations, merely for the sake of extra large profits and allowances!!!

Sir James Murray's Pure Fluid Magnesia, as prepared at Wolverhampton, was this month analysed, and approved of, by Professor Daniel, of King's College, London.

Sold in bottles, 1s, 2s 6d, 3s 6d, 5s 6d, 11s, and 21s each, for families, ships, hospitals, and also for economy in dispensing. The Acidulated Syrup (in bottles), 2s each, by Messrs. Hannay and Dietrichsen, 63, Oxford-street, London, and by all respectable Medicine Venders.

March, 1842.

MEDICAL EDUCATION.

MR. CROSSE, Senior Surgeon to the Norfolk and Norwich Hospital, has a Vacancy for a Pupil commencing his Medical Studies, who can reside three years in his house.

VEGETABLE JELLY.

PREVITÉ'S PREPARED ROYAL CEYLON MOSS.—The valuable properties of this gelatinous and highly nutritive plant stand now unrivalled, both as a luxury for the table, and as one of the best and mildest aliments for weak constitutions ever discovered, being considered by the faculty highly nutritious, easy of digestion, and possessing superior tonic qualities. According to the analysis by Professor Dr. W. B. O'SHAUGHNESSY, of Calcutta, and R. BATTLEY, Esq., of London, every 100 grains of this fucus contain 63 parts of nutritive jelly, and 3 parts of iron; the latter ingredient is acknowledged by the learned profession to be one of the most invigorating chalybeates with which they are acquainted, consequently it has now become an article of great importance in the sick chamber, for it is daily recommended as the principal diet for invalids, especially for ladies in delicate health, young infants, and children, in preference to all kinds of animal food, or any other vegetable substance.

Sold by Messrs. Savory and Moore, of New Bond-street and Regent-street, the sole wholesale Agents; and may also be had of all the most respectable chemists and medicine venders throughout the kingdom, in packets, at 1s, 2s, and 4s each.

See Dr. Sigmond's Treatise on Ceylon Moss Second Edition, just published, with the Analysis and numerous testimonials from the medical profession, who have most liberally certified the many beneficial effects invalids will derive from the use of the prepared Ceylon Moss. To be had of HENRY RENSHAW, 356, Strand, and by all Booksellers, price 2s 6d.

CITRATE OF IRON.

This preparation of Iron for medical employment, possesses properties so desirable, that it will probably supersede all those in common use. It has been introduced but partially to the profession, at present; but such numerous and satisfactory testimony have been received of its efficacy in all the diversities of cases where Iron is employed, and the demand for it has become so great, that Mr. B. has now made arrangements for its manufacture on a large scale, and can, therefore, sell it at such a price as to obviate the only objection to its general adoption. The Citrate of Iron has the important properties of being perfectly soluble in water, tasteless and compatible with many agents with which, in practice, Iron may be associated with advantage. In the cases of children and young ladies, combined with sugar, or weak wine, and indeed in all cases where it is necessary to persevere in the administration of this metal for any length of time, the Citrate will be found by far the best form; it never disagrees with the stomach, and the dose is small (ex. grat.) gr. v. to x. three times a day.

The high price hitherto has induced some persons to attempt its manufacture from cheap and crude materials, and have thus hazarded its reputation; Mr. Bullock is responsible for none, except it is in sealed bottles, with his name and address, BULLOCK, Operative Chemist, 22, Conduit-street, Hanover-square.

Foolscap 8vo, cloth, lettered, price 10s 6d,
A MANUAL of GENERAL THERAPEUTICS, with Rules for Prescribing, and a copious Collection of Formulæ. By D. Spillan, M.D., A.M.

"The manner in which Dr. Spillan has executed his arduous task, reflects high credit both on his industry and judgment. We can safely recommend his work as one calculated to be of great value, not only to the student, but to the practitioner."—Dublin Medical Press.

"This will prove a great favourite with the active practitioner, who has not time to wade through elaborate works on therapeutics. It is an excellent compilation, some portions of which we shall notice in our next number."—Johnson's Gazette.

"It is a valuable boon, both to the practitioner and student; and contains ample stores of valuable information. We strongly recommend for the perusal of our readers, the admirable chapter on the modus operandi of medicines contained in Dr. Spillan's work."—Dublin Medical Gazette.

MR. LANE, MEDICAL AGENT,
 13, JOHN-STREET, ADELPHI, begs to inform Gentlemen desirous of entering into Business that his List comprises concerns of various descriptions, as to value, and locality, and general nature. To enumerate them would exceed the limits of an advertisement, but Mr. LANE begs to direct particular attention to the following:—

A Physician's Practice of a moderate amount in a Northern County.

Two Partnerships, one in a Northern, the other in a Midland County. Coming-in of each, £1,000.

Among the General Practices of various amounts, many presenting peculiar advantages are,—

One in Sussex, £750; one in Essex, £300; two in Kent, £400; one in Notts, £300; two in Warwickshire, £800 and £150; two in Staffordshire, £600 and £250; one in Derbyshire, £800; one in Devon, £250; one in Salop, £1,000; one in Durham, £600; four in the vicinity of London, £250 to £400. In Town, Practices varying from £200 to £1,200.

A very superior Chemist's Business, and several Retail, to which Practice might be attached.

Mr. LANE begs to inform Medical Practitioners that he has numerous applicants of ample means and undoubted respectability, desirous of purchasing Partnerships or Practices with long introductions.

Assistants provided for Medical Men gratuitously, on their forwarding a statement of the qualifications, &c., required.

Office Hours, from Twelve to Four.

HÆMORRHAGE, internal and external, often baffles the skill of Medical Men. Sir B. C. Brodie, Dr. Chambers, Dr. J. Johnson, Professor Mayo, Mr. Guthrie, and other high authorities, have for years strongly recommended, and exhibited, with the greatest success, the CHEVALIER RUSPINI'S STYPTIC. Speaking of Hæmoptysis, Dr. Chambers says, "Give 5j. of Ruspini's Styptic every three hours;" Sir B. C. Brodie also, "Apply Ruspini's Styptic;" Mr. Guthrie, "If the Bleeding be obstinate, you may suppress it by Ruspini's Styptic;" Dr. Johnson, "This Styptic possesses extraordinary powers in arresting Hæmorrhage;" Professor Mayo, "Of all the Styptics with which I am acquainted, Ruspini's is the most efficacious;" together with numerous other eminent recommendations.

It is Prepared and Sold, Wholesale and Retail, at the Dépôt, J. Collins, 54, Piccadilly; to be had also at the Wholesale Houses, and Retail at all the Drug-gists in the Kingdom.

THE EASTERN BRANCH of the PROVINCIAL MEDICAL and SURGICAL ASSOCIATION will hold its Annual General Meeting at Ipswich, Suffolk, on Friday, the 17th of June instant.
