Lancet.—"By great care, and by the use of an amazing amount of material, he has accomplished what many readers have been waiting for, giving us a complete account of the diagnosis, prognosis, and treatment of heart diseases by modern methods in association with all the invaluable teaching bequeathed to us by the older masters of clinical observation."

Dublin Medical Journal.—"It is probably destined to take the place in the library of the present day physician that was occupied some twenty or more years ago by Sir W. Broadbent's well-known work."

Midland Medical Review.—"It is impossible to enumerate the many excellencies of this book."

Angina Pectoris.

Walter Verdon, F.R.C.S.

In this work, proof is given that the Angina Pectoris springs, not from the heart but from the stomach, and herein is outlined a rational method of successful treatment.

The Rt. Hon. Sir CLIFFORD ALLBUTT, K.C.B.
—"I see much of great interest in your beautifully printed work. . . . In my own work I was hankering after some accommodation between your view and my own."

Sir JAMES MACKENZIE, F.R.S.—"A storehouse of facts and observations of the greatest value. . . .
A classic."
