LIQUOR SEDANS (P., D. & Co.) was introduced to the medical profession in the year 1888, and, notwithstanding the many additions to materia medica that have been made since that date, it still holds a foremost place as a proved remedy for pelvic congestions and inflammations requiring tonic-sedative and anti-spasmodic treatment.

LIQUOR SEDANS is of special value in the treatment of menorrhagia, metrorrhagia, dysmenorrhœa, endometritis, perimetritis, and ovaritis; it is also prescribed in the treatment of subinvolution and in cases of impending abortion.

The dose of Liquor Sedans is from 1/2 to 1 teaspoonful in hot water, three or four times a day; in cases attended with severe pain it may be given every one or two hours.
