"The Edition before us, bringing the subject down to the present day, is well worthy of the distinguished author. The numerous woodcuts which illustrate the text, many of which are new in this edition, enhance greatly its value, which, indeed, we can scarcely over-rate. So familiar is his work to the Profession of Great Britain and Ireland, and so brilliant is the reputation of its author, that anything we could say in its favour would simply be a waste of words."—*Glasgow Med.
